Said amendments having been printed as required by the Constitution.

On the question,

Will the Senate concur in the same?

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I am aware that these amendments can and probably will be adopted, but I don't feel that I ought to let the occasion go by without objecting to the bill, which I consider a very bad one. This bill changes the present law as to registrars. Under the present system there is a bi-partisan board, two members of the registrar boards are composed of the majority and two of the minority parties. The purpose of this is to have the board equally divided between the two or more factions or parties, and has a tendency to keep the elections cleaner and to reduce false registrations, if such is attempted. This amendment cuts down the registrar boards to three, making two majority and one minority. It makes a minority board instead of a bipartisan board, which is to my mind a distinct step backward. This board further fixes the minority party not by the last election, but by the last presidential election. Now, in election boards the important feature is, there should be opposition to anything wrong done by the majority. The best persons to protest against any acts of the majority which are unfair are those who are most active against the majority. It does not necessarily follow at all that the minority party in the last presidential election is the party to resist the majority. Gentlemen, I consider this bill a very bad bill, and distinctly worse than the old, and that it should not pass.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate concur in the amendments?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING WIDOW AND CHILDREN OF JOSEPH ZAMBO TO BRING SUIT AGAINST THE COMMONWEALTH.

Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MORGAN offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Whereas, During the period of the suppression of the strike in South Bethlehem in 1910, one Joseph Zambo, a peaceable citizen, not a striker, and in no wise involved in riotous or illegal conduct, but while inside a house engaged in a proper occupation, was shot and instantly killed by a bullet accidently fired from a State policeman's revolver passing through the closed door; and

Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo, when so killed, had committed no wrong and had done absolutely nothing to incite said revolver shot from said State policeman; and

Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo was a poor man and left surviving him, residing in South Bethlehem, a widow, Mary Zambo, and two minor children, Joseph Zambo, Jr., and Stephen Zambo, one of the age of three years and the other of the age of five months, whose sole support was said Joseph Zambo, and who are accordingly now in destitute circumstances; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, by virtue of the power vested in it by Section eleven, Article first, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, does hereby authorize and allow Mary Zambo, in behalf of herself and her two minor children, Joseph and Stephen Zambo, to bring suit or suits against, and to recover from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, either in law or in equity, in the courts of common pleas of Dauphin county, such sum or sums of money as may be justly and properly due them, through the loss and deprivation of their husband and father, said Joseph Zambo, by his negligent and improper killing by a State trooper at South Bethlehem in the fore part of the year 1910. Said suit or suits to be subject to the same rules of pleading and evidence as other suits brought in said court are subject.

Mr. MORGAN. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended in order to consider the resolution at this time.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question.

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION.

THANKING MRS. SAMUEL G. DIXON FOR THE DONATION TO THE COMMONWEALTH OF THE UNION CHAPEL AT MONT ALTO SANATORIUM AS A PLACE OF WORSHIP FOR THE TUBERCULOSIS PATIENTS.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MARTIN offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the members of the Legislature, as the representatives of the people of the State and especially as the representatives of the tuberculous poor, do hereby express to Mrs. Samuel G. Dixon the high sense of appreciation that they feel for the generous donation, by means of which there has been erected on the grounds of the Pennsylvania State South Mountain Sanatorium at Mont Alto, a beautiful Union Chapel, as a place of worship for the tuberculous patients of the sanatorium and their attendants.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be instructed to have engrossed and sent to Mrs. Dixon a copy of these resolutions.

Mr. MARTIN. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended in order to consider the resolution at this time.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representtatives for concurrence.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 1154 (House No. 636), on second reading, entitled:

An act to protect the lives and limbs of miners from the dangers resulting from incompetent miners working in the bituminous coal mines of this Commonwealth and to provide for the examination of persons seeking employment as miners in the bituminous region and to prevent the employment of incompetent persons as miners in bituminous coal mines and providing penalties for a violation of the same be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

Mr. JAMISON. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, I object to that motion. That bill has already been before the committee two or three times.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair informs the Senator from Washington that the motion has already been disposed of.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, before voting on this bill on second reading I want to say a few words in explanation of my vote, which will be against the bill. Probably no legislation in recent years has come before the Senate and House of Representatives as important as the bill which we have before us to-night. It is legislation that is affecting the entire Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in all its various ramifications. The bill that we have before us, Mr. President, is a bill which we in the Senate have had little time to consider. It is a bill affecting twenty-nine different classes of corporations, as set forth in article one of the bill. These corporations have vast powers, are diversified in their objects, and this bill should be considered with the greatest care. Personally, I have received no requests except from one source to support this bill, and I have received numerous requests to go very carefully into the bill before voting for it. I want to say to you that not a labor organization or a laboring man in my district has asked for this bill. They are too busy at the present time trying to find employment. No manufacturer in my district has asked me to support this bill, because in the present state of the public finances and public welfare the manufacturer is trying to find a market for his goods and employment for his men, and they do not believe that the time is ripe when a drastic bill such as this should be passed. And then I go to the public press of my city to find whether there is any public demand for this. I take up first the organ of my friends, the Democracy, the Philadelphia Record, and I find when this bill was introduced and debated the following editorial, which I would like to read, showing how they regard this bill.

Statements are made that in deference to the legal argument against the Public Utilities bill, and in order to allay public resentment it will be amended in some respects before passage this week. Of a scheme of legislation so mischievous from its first to its last section the only satisfactory amendment is to strike out the enacting clause. In utter obliviousness of the Department of Internal Affairs, ordained by the Constitution of Pennsylvania, with express provision that the Secretary shall administer all laws relating to corporations, this bill aims to emasculate the department by erecting an extra-constitutional commission outside of it, on one hand to duplicate and on the other to destroy its functions. It proposes to snatch from the responsible official elected by the people for a term of years his constitutional powers, and bestow them upon an irresponsible, hydra-headed department appointed by the Governor. In this respect alone the bill is an insult to the able and patriotic jurists, living and dead, who framed the Constitution, and an outrage upon the people of Pennsylvania, who have ordained it.

As if this were not vicious enough, besides erecting headquarters of this department at Harrisburg, with its commissioners, attorneys and a numerous retinue of employes, "branches" are to be established in Philadelphia, Pittsburg and other cities, with like trains of salary-eaters and sinecurists, all to hold their places under tenure of the infamous spoils system. Not only the headquarters, but every one of these branches would become nests for breeding vexatious lawsuits against the business companies of the Commonwealth. When the department employes should find time idle on their hands they would only have to get busy with espionage and prosecutions.

It has been seen that all that is not fraught with mischief in this legislation is useless save for rioting in spoils and spreading political corruption over the Commonwealth. If the bill were enacted to-morrow it could not wrest from the courts their ample jurisdiction over the business companies of the State under the Constitution and existing laws. The wise provisions of the Constitution and laws enacted to enforce them afford all necessary and legitimate means of bringing to book delinquent corporations. If any of these corporations are violating the laws the blame rests with the officials who possess adequate means of prosecuting them and yet are eager for this Public Utilities bill.

It has been shown that while the proposed department would be futile for any good end it makes provision for a comprehensive system of espionage, blackmail and political corruption. From its widespread "branches" would pour the drops as poisonous to political life as are the exhalations of the Upas tree to animal existence. The people of Pennsylvania would be reduced to the milkiness of credulity if they should conceive that this bill is inspired by the desire of promoting public utilities when every section betrays the design of serving the lowest partisan ends. But unfortunately there is too much reason to believe that the most abhorrent features of this omnivorous scheme of spoils-mongery and political corruption are what make it most attractive to the Machine Legislature.

I then turned, Mr. President to the Evening Bulletin, an independent Republican paper published in the city of Philadelphia. I am quoting from these papers because in the limited time given to the Senate with all the vast work we have had it has not been possible to consider the bill with the care we should, and I now quote from these papers which have given more careful consideration to the terms of the act.

It is reported that Governor Tener and some of his official advisers have set their hearts on the passage of the Public Service or Utilities bill as the foremost "administration measure" of this session of the Legislature, and that they expect to see it in his hands not later than the first or the second week in May.

As a matter of fact this extraordinary bill has not even been formally or openly considered by the committee to which it has been referred, nor has there even been a public hearing given to the citizens who object to its sweeping innovations in authorizing the Commonwealth to regulate about ten times as much business or commerce as any commission could possibly look after with even a regiment of inquisitors or inspectors to enforce its findings.

In its present form this Tener-Bell bill, as it is now known, is altogether out of the question as a wise or practical measure; a simple amendment to the Railway Commission act of 1907 is really all that is needed to meet the legitimate requirements of the situation, and if the members of the Legislature shall do their own thinking on the subject, it can hardly be expected of them that they will pass the existing bill. As a matter of fact, the time between this and the 25th of May, the day of final adjournment, is altogether too short to enable them to give it intelligent attention and to despatch the mass of other business that is now before them.

Either the Tener-Bell bill, which should have been introduced in January in order that there might be time enough to study it, should go over until the next session, or a simple tension of the powers of the Railway Commissioners should be acted.

I quote another editorial from the Buletin:

The introduction in the Legislature of a bill either for increasing e power of the present State Railway Commission, or for en-rging its scope so that it may be actually what it is now, in form terms, a Public Service or Utilities Commission, has been ex-cted during the past two months or more, or since Governor ener's recommendation on the suoject in his inaugural address. But the bill that has finally made its appearance in the House es far beyond what was expected by almost anybody outside the circle of the Governor and his official and political advisers, d has probably surprised the Legislature quite as much as it will e public.

The increase of the number of commissioners to five—the present dy being abolished—and the addition, or rather the creation, a large amount of regulating and investigating machinery of professional and clerical nature, would make this proposed depart-ent a highly extensive one in point of salaries and patronage. ut the power which it would have, under the terms of the bill, normous; it probably equals, if it does not exceed, any grant of uthority that any Legislature in the Union has made to a board commission as regards railroads and other public utilities. d in fact its provisions cover every form of incorporated industry Pennsylvania that bears a general relation to the public.

Not only public trasportation or communication, but other sorts service—gas, water, electrical, telephone, telegraph, ferries, tunnels, wage, elevators, inclined planes, turnpikes, even storage warehouses are included in the twenty-nine classifications of the kinds of business at are to come under the supervision and regulation of the Com-ission in most of the details of their functions. The bill covers xty-two pages, and so elastic are its terms in defining the classes business which are codified, that it even goes to the extent including all other "corporations or persons engaged for pro- in any other quasi-public business within this State."

That piece of phraseology is alone sufficient to indicate the inclusive veep of this extraordinary measure, affecting as it does not only rporations, but persons, and also any sort of business that may e construed under the term "quasi-public."

It is hardly conceivable that its authors expect to press it for assage in its present form, despite the fact that it is hailed as "Tener administration measure;" for it comes pretty near, if it oes not actually reach, the domain of State Socialism; and neither e Senate nor the House, it is to be presumed, will be likely to ccept "orders" for the passage of so radical a bill in its encroachments n the rights of industrial liberty.

But perhaps the most surprising and peculiar fact, for the moment, bout its introduction is, that it should have been incubated under the spicies of an administration fathered by Boies Penrose and George . Oliver, with John C. Bell as its legal sponsor, as well as the puta-ve framer of most of the provisions in this corporation muzzler.

I quote from the Press:

Pennsylvania is now flanked on two sides, New York and New Jersey, y States which have passed acts similar to that on public utilities nder consideration at Harrisburg. All Pennsylvania corporations ngaged in any public service in New York and New Jersey operate in ose States under laws which place all their rates, the character and dequacy of their service and their whole action on these matters, so ar as it relates to service within these States, under the orders of e New York Public Service Commission and the New Jersey Public tilities Commission.

The New York commissions, one for New York City and the other or the rest of the State, have jurisdiction over railroads, street car nes, gas, electric, telegraph, telephone, express and all other com-anies which touch these classes of corporations. The New Jersey ct covers "any steam railroad, street railway, traction railway, canal, xpress, subway, pipe line, gas, electric light, heat, power, water, oil, ewer, telephone and telegraph system, plant or equipment for public se, under privileges granted, or hereafter to be granted, by New ersey or by any political subdivision thereof."

This will apply to every Pennsylvania corporation in these classes perating in New Jersey. Whatever this State may do or not do for its tizens and corporations, the latter are in their New Jersey operation lready under the control of a New Jersey Commission of three members, eceiving $7,500 in New York, the five members of the Public Service ommission receive $15,000 a year each.

In both States, over all the array of public utilities under their uthority, these commissions can decide what rates for rail, trolley, as, electricity, power, telephone or telegraph are "reasonable" on all usiness within the State. They can decide on safety appliances, re-uire more trains of a common carrier fix the standard of gas or ectricity or require mains and wires to be laid needed to meet public onvenience. These commissions in New York and New Jersey can act n complaint or on their own initiative. They can require reports on ny subject and investigate any operation. They can value the property f all these corporations and require uniform accounts. They can ass on the issue of new shares or bonds and forbid or permit them. ny merger or reorganization of any public service corporation is ubject to the decision of the one commission in New Jersey and the wo in New York, one for Greater New York and the other for the tate.

Whether it is wise or not to give this power over all public utility orporations to a State Commission, New York and New Jersey have both done it, New York in 1907 and New Jersey in the act just passed. In both States the orders of these commissions stand, pending an appeal to the courts from the action of the commission, and stand there unless the courts grant a stay in particular cases. The courts are limited to deciding whether, on the evidence, the order made was reasonable and within the jurisdiction of the commission. The measure before the Legislature at Harrisburg provides for a dobule review, by recourse to the Courts in Equity and by proceedings in the Dauphin County Courts. Both New York and New Jersey have gone farther than the legislation proposed in this State, and it is for the Legislature to decide if like action is needed here. One thing is certain, fair, reasonable regulation is required in this State, and should be enacted; but in establishng such regulation, the rights of corporations should be considered and their development provided for.

I quote from the Ledger:

The school code which has now reached its last legislative stage has been under consideration for four years. Prepared by an expert commission and then submitted to general discussion, it occupied the attention of the General Assembly and its committees through several weeks of the session of 1909, and was finally passed, with many amend-ments, to be vetoed by the Governor, with general approval, on the ground of insufficient consideration. It then went beak to the com-mission, to be studied and revised in detail for two years more. All the various interests concerned were consulted and the whole subject was given the utmost publicity. When the General Assembly met again this year the proposed code was already generally familiar and its provisions have been under almost constant discussion from the begin-ning of the session until now.

The time given to this important measure is by no means too great although it is really little more than an adjustment of laws and regu-lations already in operation and involves no radical innovation upon existing customs. Even now its supporters will admit that the code is far form perfect but perfection in legislation, even upon a single subject, is hardly attainable, and it can at least be claimed for the present bill that its imperfections are not due to carelessness or haste. Those who were disappointed in the failure of the code two years ago feel satisfied that the reforms desired have been advanced and not regarded by this more mature deliberation, which has assured its cordial acceptance. Those who complain of legislative slowness are care-less guardians of the public welfare. The prolonged consideration of the school code is in itself a credit to the General Assembly and to the Commonwealth.

With this as an example of the right way of dealing with important public subjects, contrast the sudden determination of Governor Tener to get up a public utilities bill on a few hours' notice and jam it through the Assembly at the fag end of a busy session. Of course, he will not succeed; but the proposition shows such reckless disregard of legislative responsibility as to raise a question either of the Governor's under-standing or of his sincerity.

If it has taken four years to adjust the laws already regulating the public schools, which have been always under public control, how is it conceivably possible to construct, in a few weeks, a complete system for the minute official regulation of all the corporate enterprises, in com-merce and industry, by which the citizens of Pennsylvania have built up the wealth and prosperity of the Commonwealth? The school code, over which men of experience and judgment have been working all these years, is a trivial thing compared with the Governor's comprehensive plan of controlling all the public utilities of the State, through five men of his selection, which he is asking the Assembly to accept on his own demand and on the sole professional authority of his Attorney General.

It may be true that Governor Wilson, of New Jersey, imposed a public utilities bill upon an unwilling Legislature but even he allowed some time for its consideration, and the circumstances do not make Governor Wison a safe model for Governor Tener's emulation. New Jersey, at his instigation, has embarked upon a number of "ad-vanced" experiments, which may or may not prove as popular in opera-tion as in agitation; but Pennsylvania may be well content to wait and watch them for a while and so gain the advantage of New Jersey's experience. Governor Tener himself has not yet established that com-manding personal authority that would justify the Commonwealth in intrusting its entire authority over all public activities unreservedly in his hands, whether as a compliment to him or to buld up a mighty political power.

The immediate reasons why this ambitious measure ought not to be passed are so many and so plain that it is hardly necesasry even to discuss the more abstract questions that call aloud for deliberation. All public corporations, and especially the railroads, which are the very arteries of the State's prosperity, are all but paralyzed by the multiplic-ity of regulations to which they are already subjected. The relations of State regulation with the paramount authority of Congress over commerce are everywhere uncertain and confused. Something like a workable system has been in gradual evolution through judicial interpretation, but this is of all times the most unsuitable to plunge into new if not revolutionary experiments, even though they were authorized by our own State Constitution, and even though the lawyers and theorists who devised them were wise beyond all other men who have attempted such legislation hitherto.

There are billions of capital invested in public service corporations in Pennsylvania, and thousands of expert men are engaged in their administration. What Governor Tener is proposing is nothing less than that he shall have power to select five men to take charge of the whole business, in everything except providing the capital, and to tell these expert men how to run it. The power that would thus be put into the Governor's hand would exceed that exercised over business by any European State. Even if five men could be found so universally inspired as to be capable of exercising such responsibility, what is there in the history of Pennsylvania politics to justify confidence that they would be selected and that human frailty would never lead them to abuse the trust. Yet this is what Governor Tener, with his own official character yet to establish before the public, has the wonderful assurance to propose and a committee of the House of Representatives has had the complacency actually to consider it. It is reassuring to know that the General Assembly has not lost its powers of deliberation.

I quote from the Inquirer:

Governor Tener is consistent in his advocacy of the passage of a suitable bill dealing with the public utilities and corporations of a public character. When he was a candidate he had most pronounced views on this question, and it is to his credit that he has not changed them. Against a strong pressure from corporations he has stood steadfast. He has submitted a bill, drawn by Attorney General Bell, and he asks the Legislature to put it through.

Pennsylvania has a Railroad Commission which did well enough as a starter. It has been efficient within its very limited scope. It can hold hearings and make recommendations, but its authority does not extend beyond the giving of advice. It has proved the necessity for establishing a more powerful board. Other States have commissions that really stand for something tangible. The New Jersey Legislature has just adopted a measure which is drastic in the extreme when compared with the unsatisfactory thing which we have on our statute books. The Tener-Bell bill is not a bit more far-reaching than this New Jersey law.

We do not pretend to say that the proposed law for Pennsylvania is a perfect production. Very possibly in some respects it may go beyond conservative or safe limits. But there is the making of a good law in it. After all, the danger in almost any commission enactment lies in the manner in which it is enforced. A commission devoted to duty, as is the Interstate Commerce Commission, could take the proposed Pennsylvania law and operate it for the good of the State and without injustice to corporations. If the question is raised that the Governor's appointments might not reach the desirable standard, the answer is that the Governor seems to have his heart on this legislation, and there is no reason to suspect that he would not make a name for his administration by creating a commission of which he and the Commonwealth could be proud.

In some substantial form that bill ought to be affirmatively considered. We are far behind the times in respect to the control of public corporations. It won't do for the Legislature to thrust this measure aside with the light remark, "Oh, that is too drastic." If it is too drastic, then amend it. But don't let us have to go another two years with nothing more powerful than a mere advisory board. Let us make some advance, at least.

They all realize the necessity of a bublic utility bill. There is no question about that. We need a public utilities bill in the State of Pennsylvania, but with all our manufacturing interests with the entire people to be protected, should we not take time in geting up a utilities bill as we did the School Code. If we would take half the time we did with that measure we would be giving no more attention than is right and just to both sides of this controversy. We gave four years to that School Code and it is by no means perfect, but it is a good basis to work on in the future and we should take this act up carefuly and conscientiously in the next two years and get a bill that will be just and fair to both sides, a bill that would protect the common people, but at the same time would not destroy the great corporate interests of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I am in accord with the Governor in carying out the policies of the Republican party in regard to the utilities bill. I do not find in the platform of the Republican party and I canot find in the platform of the Democratic party any thing which would require us after two or three weeks consideration to pass a bill which affects these vast interests throughout the State of Pennsylvania. Without going into this bill on account of the late hour, I want to say to you that I believe the bill is unjust in delegating the unlimited powers that it does to an appointive commission—powers that should be lodged in General Assembly. It is too drastic and far-reaching in taking out of the hands of the stockholders and directors details and management that should be left to the corporation itself. We are asked to give five men in the State of Pennsylvania almost the entire direction of twenty-nine different kinds of corporations. Where is there a single man in the length and breadth of this magnificient Commonwealth who is at present fitted for this great important work. Would it not result in every town of this great Commonwealth that any dissatisfied stockholder and every man who imagined he had a grievance against a corporation, lodging with this commission complaints which would harrass and tie it up? Are not the powers of our courts great enough at the present time to consider these questions? I think, Mr. President, this is a most important question. I am for a public utilities bill but I am not for a public utilities bill considered in the short time we have had to investigate and amend this present measure. I think it is a subject that should be approached with the utmost care. It is a subject that ou to be considered from all angles of view, and I am not s isfied to lodge the great interests of the State of Penns vania in this commission with the unlimited powers th are given under this bill, because I do not believe it is go for the people or good for the corporate interests of t State. My own opinion is that there should be a comm sion appointed by the Governor and that this commissi should come before the next Legislature with a carefu prepared bill upon this subject. This Legislature has be a busy one and we have had our minds employed w these subjects. The next Legislature would have three s jects to consider on most important matters. They w have the report of the Revenue Commission, the report the Election Commission, and they should have a utilit bill which should be fair to all sides. We should not pa this bill to-night without more careful consideration th we have had in the limited time given us.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. KEYSER a Mr. WEINGARTNER.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, what is the purpose of t yeas and nays?

The PRESIDENT. To see whether the Senate will pa the bill on second reading.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, while I feel that the ne papers create sentiment, I do not believe that they kn everything. The Senator from Philadelphia has been ta ing about this bill applying to corporations. Is that c rect?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelph Mr. Tustin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelp said the bill applied to corporations. Is that true?

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, would the gentleman fr Elk like to have them enumerated?

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, does the bill apply to a body besides corporations?

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, it winds up with "all oth corporations or persons engaged for profit in another qu public business within this State or empowered to so to

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, it means persons outside corporations.

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, so it says.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I am certainly in favor some public utilities bill. Whether this bill in its entir would suit me I am not ready to say, but I would like know why the committee to which this bill was refer had not ample time to consider this bill, and if it was drastic to so amend it so that the Legislature of Pe sylvania at this session could act upon it. I am not rea to refer this bill to a commission. I think we have b already too much of commission government in Penns vania.

The PRESIDENT. The proposition is, will the Sen agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, you gave the gentlem who has just spoken ample latitude. If you don't wa to hear me I will sit down. I would like to interrogate t Senator from Philadelphia.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelph Mr. Tustin, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, the Senator from Phi delphia, Mr. Tustin, mentioned that this subject should referred to a commission.

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, I stated that was my dividual view upon that subject.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, as I said before I am favor of a bill of some kind and I do not agree with t Senator from Philadelphia that the committee to wh this bill was referred did not have ample time to consi the bill fully and I think they have had ample time to c sider the bill fully if they wanted to. I think there wa preconcerted idea upon the part of some gentlemen to ch off action upon this subject at this session of the Legis ture. I am very sorry that this disposition exists in t Senate of Pennsylvania to do so. The House passed t bill, perhaps very hastily, passed it by a large majority a I think the committee to whom it was referred in the S should have given it ample consideration and should ve brought it up to-night in such a shape that we would ready to vote upon it.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair would inform the Senator m Berks that the bill has been in the Senate only seven s, but four of which have been legislative days.

Mr. POWELL. Mr. President, I was not aware that this was to be voted upon on second reading and I would e to present the following figures that have been sub-ted to me by people in the coal region which would w the necessity for this bill.

SENATE MESSAGES.

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 600:

An act regulating drivers and operators of all vehicles and persons riding or leading animals on the public highways requiring the display of lights upon vehicles and prescribing penalties for violation of the same with information that the Senate has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 4, line 1, strike out the the figure "3" and insert the figure "4."

Line 2, strike out "$5.00" and word "five;" insert "$1.00" and word "one."

Line 3, strike out "$10.00" and word "ten," insert word "five" and figures "$5.00."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments of the Senate?

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Jefferson, Mr. North.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, this is the same bill that we have had before us on several occasions. It was before three or four different committees and was postponed indefinitely in three of them and finally sent to the Committee on Law and Order, reported out, amended in the House and passed on third reading. The Senate has amended this bill. As we understand this bill, section 2 was stricken out on second reading. I want to say that if an act of this kind becomes a law in Pennsylvania it seems to me that it would be the most burdensome legislation that has been enacted during this session or during any other session. I hope the members of this House will give it due consideration.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I understand that this bill has been amended in the Senate and I desire to say that conditions have changed since we have rapidly moving vehicles on our public thoroughfares. Under the law, a speed limit is allowed, and any one who has had any experience with these fast moving vehicles knows the necessity there is for some laws concerning the carrying of lights, and to prevent collision with vehicles, either those moving in the same direction or when moving in an opposite direction. I repeat that any one who has had experience of this kind, and has given the matter any serious consideration, that the matter of having proper light upon vehicles is a protection and an insurance against accident or collision to any one who is in either vehicle against the danger of collision. Another reason in favor of supporting this bill as it now stands is that in a good many boroughs and first class townships the necessity for a regulation of this kind has been recognized, because there are local ordinances providing for protection of this character. Nobody has made any objection to such ordinances, and the experience of those who are familiar with them concurs in the idea of the safeguarding and protection that such regulations offer for the man in the slower moving vehicle as well as for the man who is in the rapidly moving conveyance. Don't let us take a narrow and contracted view of this measure. Don't let us for a moment be misled with the idea that this bill is in the interest of the automobile driver. While it is of benefit to him in preventing collision, it is of more advantage to the slow moving vehicle. I trust that this bill will receive the support of the House in its present shape.

Mr. KUHNS. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill seems to be in a very peculiar position and there is a great state of affairs. Is it not a fact, gentlemen, that this bill was first handled by the Committee on Roads and thrown out? Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, that this same bill was picked up and given to another committee and they threw it out? Is it not also a fact this bill was amended on the floor of this House and that it didn't amount to anything? Did we not kill this bill a half a dozen times? Is it now to come back from the Senate and have we, gentlemen, all changed our minds? Is this the way we do business here? Are we men sometimes, or are we men all the time? Can you gentlemen not be satisfied if you have your ordinances in the cities and in the boroughs and then in the first class townships? We have spent time enough on this bill, and we have work enough to do to-day without spending any more time on it, and I move you that we do not concur in the amendments of the Senate, the same motion that the gentleman has already made, and that we proceed with our regular calendar.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I trust that you will not concur in this amendment made by the Senate, because, as has already been said here, this bill was twice—or bills similar to this one—was twice in the Committee on Roads and was disposed of there. Later on one of the same kind went to the Committee on Counties and Townships, and finally another bill, or this one which we have here, was sent to the Committee on Law and Order, and was then reported from that committee and then acted on in the House and was amended, striking out this very same amendment that has been put in by the Senate. I am not going to say anything about the merits of this bill, but I am sure that it would work a hardship on the people who live in the country districts. For instance, a man may go into town and expect to get home before dark and if he was delayed by some cause or another and could not reach his home before dark he would be compelled to buy a light, and according to the provisions of this bill an ordinary lantern would not answer the purpose, because it says "it must throw light one hundred feet in front and one hundred feet behind." I think this would be working an unnecessary hardship. If amended so as to apply to the boroughs or townships of the first class, I should not have any objections to it, but certainly the people in the rural districts don't want this bill, and I trust that you will vote to non-concur in the amendments.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Section 8, line 5, after the word "clerks" strike out "at an expense not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars ($1500) per annum" and insert "subject to the action of the salary board as provided by law"

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna, Mr. Hobbs.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the members of the House to the fact that this bill was amended in the House to make the assessors elective rather than appointive, and after it was acted upon in the Senate we find that it was amended to its original form with some variations. This bill as it now stands authorizes the county commissioners to appoint nine assessors at large in counties containing more than two hundred thousand and less than three hundred and twenty-five thousand inhabitants. It seems to me that to give the county commissioners the supreme power without constituting the board of revision gives that body a privilege of fixing valuations to suit themselves regardless of the wishes of the people. I don't believe that it is good policy to get away from the people. Let the voters of these counties—and there are only three counties which are affected—Lackawanna, Schuylkill and Westmoreland; let the people have a voice in this election and selection of their assessors so that they may be fairly represented. This bill as it now stands ignores the rights of the people, and owing to the conditions, especially in Lackwanna county, the people have been unjustly and unfairly dealt with by the members of the county commission. Therefore, gentlemen, believeing that it is to the interests of all the people of this House and every county in the State to establish the principle or maintain the principle to give the people a voice in the selection of their officials, and I hope that this amendment will not be concurred in.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, this bill affects three counties, and Westmoreland is one of them. When this bill was taken over to the Senate from the House we agreed to do it because we expected if it would be amended that it would be amended to suit us. It does not suit us now. It provides for appointing by the county commissioners. The total cost of assessing in Westmoreland county under this bill would be about twenty-eight thousand dollars. I saw the county commissioners last Saturday, and I was told that in Westmoreland county the cost to assess property would be increased almost three times, as the present cost is ten thousand dollars. If we were sure that this would make a better assessment and that the property would be valued better than it is at the present time we would be glad to go along, but we have no reason at all for believeing that it will.

Mr. BRENNAN. Mr. Speaker, as a member from Schuylkill county I wish to say to the members on the floor of this House that I haven't learned from any of my constituents that they wanted any change of this kind to take the electing of the assessors away from the people. On the contrary, they are opposed to it as a whole. There are a few in my county, I presume, that are anxious for a bill of this kind to pass. By the passage of this bill it will increase the expense to twenty-four thousand dollars, and I am opposed to the measure from the fact that my constituents are not desirous of having this bill, and I will ask the members of this House to relieve us from an imposition of this kind.

On the quesetion recurring,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

SENATE MESSAGE.

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY THE SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 2:

An act fixing the time when the term of office of judges of the supreme and superior common pleas and orphans' court learned in the law shall commence and the time of the nomination and election of successors to judges of the common pleas and orphans' courts whose commissions expire in odd numbered years

House Bill No. 547:

An act to amend section two of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act regulating the sale of milk and its fluid derivatives in cities of the first class providing for the licensing of those engaged in that business and providing penalties for the violation thereof" by providing for the revocation of the licenses of second offenders against the requirements of the Board of Health or against the laws or ordinances regulating or relating to milk or its fluid derivatives in such cities with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

BILL ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1369 (Senate No. 379) as follows:

An act authorizing the Battlefield Commission of the Third Division Ninth Corps Army of the Potomac to purchase additional ground and authorizing the preparation and publication of a history of the proceedings incident to the erection and dedication of the monument at Petersburg Virginia including a history of the Pennsylvania regiments in said Division and making an appropriation therefor

Whereas In accordance with the provisions of an Act of Assembly approved the thirteenth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and seven and a supplementary Act of Assembly approved the twenty-second day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine provision was made for the erection of a monument at Petersburg Virginia to commemorate the services of the men of the First and Second Brigades of the Third Division Ninth Corps Army of the Potomac composed of certain regiments of Pennsylvania infantry and

Whereas A commission was provided for and charged with the duty of erecting and dedicating said monument and an appropriation was made for defraying the expenses incident to said erecting and dedication and

Whereas The said monument was unveiled and dedicated on the nineteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine in the presence of the President of the United States the Governor of this Commonwealth the Governor of Virginia the Governor of the surviving veterans of said regiments and a great concourse of people and

Whereas Out of the moneys appropriated for the erection and dedication of said monument there remained in the hands of said commission the sum of five hundred twenty-seven dollars and sixty-three cents ($527.63) of which the sum of three thousand three hundred dollars has been returned to the State Treasury thus leaving in the hands of said commission an unexpended balance of one thousand three hundred and twenty-seven dollars and sixty-three cents and

Whereas To afford a better view of said monument to visitors and to render it more accessible it is highly expedient that a small piece of ground immediately adjacent to that upon which said monument is erected be purchased and

Whereas It is eminently fitting and proper that the proceedings of said commission with an account of the dedication the addresses then and there delivered and a history of said regiments be published

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the said Battlefield Commission of the Third Division Ninth Corps Army of the Potomac be and hereby authorized and directed to use the said unexpended balance of one thousand three hundred twenty-seven dollars and sixty-three cents or so much thereof as may be necessary in the purchase of a small piece of ground immediately adjacent to the ground upon which said monument is erected taking title to same in the name of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to prepare a history of the proceedings of said commission and of the said dedication such history to contain illustrations showing views of said monument and other views of the ceremonies of unveiling and dedication together with portraits of the President of said Governors and of others connected with said ceremonies Such history of the proceedings shall also contain a brief history of said regiments

That upon the completion of the manuscript of said history of such proceedings and dedication it shall be delivered to the Superintendent of Public Printing and Binding who shall at the expense of the Commonwealth provide for the printing and binding of the same in book form not to exceed two thousand five hundred copies Upon the completion of the work the said Superintendent of Public Printing and Binding shall deliver said books to the said Battlefield Commission for distribution

Ten of said copies shall be for the use of the Governor five each for the Lieutenant Governor and the heads of the various departments and the remainder shall be for the use of the surviving veterans of said regiments and such public libraries of this Commonwealth as the commission may determine

Section 2 The sum of one thousand dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary is hereby specifically appropriated for the following purposes namely For editing revising compiling proof-reading copying classifying and indexing said history the sum of five hundred dollars and for printing and binding the same the sum of five hundred dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered. To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up Senate Bill No. 159 (House No. 1280) from page 1 of to-day's calendar, appropriation bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1280 (Senate No. 159), as follows:

An act to provide within the following boundaries namely On the west by the present eastern line of Capitol Park on the north by the southern line of North street on the east by the western line of the right of way of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and on the south by the northern line of Walnut street for the extension of Capitol Park in the city of Harrisburg and for the acquiring taking and condemnation of the real estate in connection therewith and within said boundaries and for the demolition of the buildings and structures thereon and making an appropriation therefor and also for the expenses and cost in connection therewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker,

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Tunis.

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker, I realize that I should take up as little of your time as possible, and when I say that I will take up but little of your time I intend to do so, and mean it in all earnestness. Every man here knows what this bill provides for; it is known as the Capitol Park Extention Bill. In the sessions of 1905, 1907 and 1909 this bill was before this House, and in 1911 it passed the Senate by an almost unanimous vote, and at no time any more than 6 or 7 votes were cast against it in the Senate. In the session of 1909 this bill, the very first time on consideration, lacked but two votes of passing, and the second time it was called up it was passed by a very substantial majority during the closing hours of the session, and it was sent to the Executive, Governor Stuart, and lay in his hands for thirty days, and on the last day he had to exercise the right of veto, in the last hour, in the last half hour he vetoed the bill, and in vetoing it he declared "I veto this bill the most reluctantly of any piece of legislation that I have ever vetoed, and I only veto it because I fear the revenue is not obtainable." It has been the idea of a great many of the members of this House that this is a project presented for the benefit of this city. I want to say to you gentlemen that if I were a man of a selfish nature I would possibly be one of the last ones to advocate the passage of this bill, because it wipes out what I would term the largest political asset that I hold in Harrisburg. It wipes out a section of this city in which there were but thirty-one votes cast against me both times that I ran for the Legislature. This bill is not proposed selfishly, or for the benefit of Harrisburg as a city. Harrisburg does not need it. This Commonwealth of Pennsylvania needs it. The Executive seat of this State needs it. Harrisburg has expended in a little over eight years over two million dollars for public parks. Seven hundred and forty-eight acres of Harrisburg is to-day the park system of Harrisburg.

I say to you gentlemen that this is for you; it is for our people; it is for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and not for the people of Harrisburg alone. I pass through this Capitol Park four times every day, and the persons who occupy what there is of this park now are ninety-five per cent. visitors. I know that Harrisburg people don't use it as a park; this park is used almost entirely by the people from all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Some years ago, in the remembrance of many of you, this site was offered for one hundred and thirty thousand dollars. The plot of ground upon which this building stands to-day cannot be bought for seven millions of dollars, and to clear your minds as to this particular appropriation, this carries with it $100.000 for the first year and $100.000 for the second year, and $400,000 for subsequent years up to $2.000,000. This will not work any hardship on this State. This plot covers a space of 28 acres of ground. In order that you may fully understand how the values were arrived at, I wish to say that a little over two years ago former Governor Stuart created a board of appraisers of three men, consisting of a real estate expert, accompanied by a builder and another real estate man, and they made a minute examination of every property in this district, as to ground value, property value and business value, and to that they added twenty-five per cent. to be added to that value, and the aggregate was but $1,800.-000. While they thought they were low, they had the Board of Tax Revision to verify it from their file, and they made a statement of the assessed valuation of this district, and it was less than nine hundred thousand dollars—or less than one-half their appraisement. If anybody wants to be fair these figures are self-evident. You all know that any man who owns property in that district could not hope to get double its assessment, and if they were paid double the assessment in that district, this amount called for in this appropriation would cover the entire amount. I say that on my word of honor, and I can prove it with facts and figures compiled by the Board of Appraisement appointed by former Governor Stuart.

The object of this is not to beautify my home town; it is to beautify the Capitol City of this great Commonwealth, and if there is one man in this House to-day that can show me one feature that can be honestly brought against this bill, or can show why the State should not take it or why they should not have taken it ten years ago instead of now, I should like to hear from him. Gentlemen, I thank you very kindly. (Prolonged applause.)

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I dislike very much to take issue with the gentleman from Dauphin and his colleague, as they have been very pleasant with all of us. This is a proposition that does not affect this one county alone. As has been said, this bill was here in 1905, in 1907, in 1909 and is now again before us. It has been turned down by the three previous legislatures. Were they not as competent to judge as we are? Were they not, in fact, more so when the project was in its infancy.

Mr. TUNIS. Will the gentleman permit me to interrogate him?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Certainly.

Mr. TUNIS. What three legislatures turned down this proposition?

Mr. ROCKWELL. The legislatures of 1905, 1907 and 1909.

Mr. TUNIS. In 1909 it was passed by the Legislature and reluctantly vetoed by Governor Stuart in the last hour remaining for him to veto it, as I have before stated.

Mr. ROCKWELL. My contention is that the Governor constitutes part of the Legislature; no bill can be passed unless approved by the Governor. This reminds me of the old woman, after she had been married for some time and made some complaint, some one asked her why she married the man, and she replied, "He asked me to marry him time and time again, until I finally married him to get rid of him," and it may be that we will have to pass this bill finally to get rid of it. If it keeps on coming up for a great many more terms, the money it is costing to take care of it, the printing of these bills, will equal the amount involved in this proposed purchase. Why is this bill here. It seems to me that it is an unreasonable proposition? Why is it an unreasonable proposition? Because it is to take nine city blocks lying eastwardly from the Capitol, away down to the street below here comprising practically twenty-six acres of land, consisting of a portion of built-up property. To remove all of that property at the expense of the State and putting it into a park—that is why it is an unreasonable proposition. Suppose you people who are familiar with the New York State Capitol at Albany were told that there was a proposition on foot to take twenty-six acres of the built-up property around the State Capitol at Albany to put that into a State park, what would you say to that? My idea would be that if the State really attempted to do that, that they would have money to burn. To me it seems like a needless expense. We have around this Capitol now, as far as I have been able to learn, a larger tract of property than any State capitol that I know of. The gentleman who has spoken before me has said that it ought to be larger to accommodate visitors. I have been here now off and on for two years, and there are times when the conditions may be different, but I have never seen any time but when our park as it is now would accommodate several hundred or several thousand more than those who were already in it. It seems to me that if this proposition should go through and should finally pass, and should be approved by the Governor, that then we ought to go west to the Susquehanna River, so that it would be going out to an equal extent in the west as it is in the east. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will be in sight of the park and of the Capitol buildings, and then there would be a beautiful view of the river, and besides the wild ducks could see the Capitol from the river, and the people going up and down the river on steamboats could have a beautiful view of the Capitol. They say it is only going to cost $200,000 for the first two years. This proposition is just like the instalment plan. A man comes around to sell you something on the instalment plan. Lots of people buy things because the day of payment is put off. If this bill goes through this State will be spending at least that much, and I don't believe from my experience with building operations, the moving of buildings, the grading and the putting of the grounds into proper shape for a park, $2,000,000 will be nowhere near covering the expense. It would cost, in my judgment, nearer four million dollars. Then, think of your appropriation proposition. We have been having hundreds of institutions coming here and asking for appropriations, and many and many of them have been cut by the appropriations committee in order to keep within the revenue, and if this thing goes through in two years from now you will have no money to appropriate for your hospitals, or even less than you have now. The gentleman says that this bill has been before the House three times, and that it is now here again and that the people want it. I will take issue with him on this point. None of the people of the State have sent petitions to any member of this House to vote for this bill. Supposing that the referendum were in vogue in this State, and that after we pass this bill that this matter be submitted to the people of your district, how would they vote on it? I believe that seventy-five per cent. of the people throughout the State of Pennsylvania would vote against this proposition. The gentleman says this State needs it. I don't remember any argument that was advanced why the State needs it. If we should pass this bill we would have to spend thousands of dollars on the Capitol to make it appear as good on the east side as on the west side. I understand that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company wants it; possibly they do, but it seems to me that the members ought to vote it down.

Mr. CARROLL. Mr. Speaker, I belonged to the sessions of the Legislature in 1907 and also in 1909, and in both of those sessions I voted against this bill, and I want to say to you gentlemen that when I voted against the bill I didn't follow by best judgment. I was against the bill because I believed that many of the people in my district were opposed to it. After the session of 1909, when I started in the campaign for 1911, I ran against an intelligent and conservative fellow who would naturally be supposed to be against the Capitol Park extension, or against any other form of public improvement, and I began to tell the gentleman about some of the bills that I had voted for or voted against, and among those that I had said I had voted against was the Capitol Park extension bill. He then said: "If I had been a member of the Legislature I think I would have voted for the Capitol Park extension." I didn't take that argument any further in the campaign. I think we all understand that it is not absolutely necessary to have the Capitol Park extended. It is possible that this State can get along with the park that it has for a long time to come, and we are not compelled to do this. The time will come when the State will need more ground for its public buildings. I am very sure, too, that there is not a member of this House but that takes pride in these buildings and in this park. Most of the people in my district I am sure have not visited this Capitol, and it would not at all be likely that we would find the initiative from them. We come here from time to time, and we are pleased to know that there is progress, and we can see the need of the State Capitol and we know what this Commonwealth needs and we also know what the commonwealths of the different States of this nation have. The initiative for public improvement ought to come through the members of the Legislature. How can the people who have never been in Harrisburg know anything of the needs of Harrisburg, or how can they be able to direct us in regard to how we are to vote on this matter? There is another reason: I understand that it is the general idea that the people of this State have only one idea as to value, and that is the dollar value; but I know and I want to say that there are some other people who think that the æsthetic value is just as important today as the dollar value. There are people in this State to-day who appreciate the æsthetic value more than the dollar value on the Capitol Park extension, and there are plenty of people who don't look alone upon the cold, hard dollar proposition. I want to say also that the farmers are not against it as a body, and among those are many of those also who have not been here and have not had an opportunity to see it. You talk to farmers and to business men and to a working man who has a nice home, provided for the comfort of himself and his family and for the happiness of his family and perhaps has a bank account, and many of them are in favor of improvements, while others may say we can get along with the Capitol Park as it is. I want to say to you in conclusion that it does seem to me that this State of Pennsylvania is able to afford the money for the extension of this Capitol Park, and there are very many good reasons why we should pass this bill. There is no spot I love more than the great State of Pennsylvania, and I hope the time will come when Capitol Hill will be the grandest temple hall in this nation.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, if I wanted to buy a farm this morning—I didn't because I haven't the money, but if I did the first question I would ask is, or would be, what is your price? If I were to go to buy this Capitol Park I would want to know what the people are willing to take for it. We are asked to appropriate a lump sum; we guess it will reach, but if it does not reach we will go back for more appropriations. I would be glad to vote for this appropriation if there were not so many more important propositions to vote for. And before I would vote for a proposition of this kind I would want to know what this ground could be bought for. You would not do anything else and would not do anything of this kind in any other way in your private business. You are willing to vote for an act of this kind, but in your own private business you would not do it that way. And I will repeat that I would be glad to vote for this proposition if there were not so many other more important things to be voted for. I want to congratulate this House on their courage when it comes to a vote for appropriation bills and on their thoroughness when it comes to voting for revenue measures. You haven't passed a single bill here at this session that looks to the furnishing of the money. I wonder that you have not come in with an amendment to the Constitution authorizing the issue of bonds to buy this park, that some day our children's children may have the happy privilege of paying for it. When our schools are taken care of as they should be, and the most solemn obligation rests upon this State to provide education to our children absolutely free of cost in order to fit them for citizenship, then we can take up measures of this kind.

Mr. SHREVE. Mr. Speaker, it is not often that I occupy the time of this House, but I feel that this matter before us has so much merit that I would consider myself remiss in my duty if as a member of this legislative body I did not express my opinion on the floor of this House on this question. In the heart of every true Pennsylvanian is implanted a sacred love for the spot that gave him birth. It has been my privilege to visit nearly all the capitols of the Old World, and I want to say to you that in the Old World they have learned many years ago that there was something else in life besides seeking for the almighty dolla There was also some aspiration to live in some other co dition beside living between four walls. The people of Pen sylvania are beginning to appreciate the æsthetic side our lives, and all over this Commonwealth, in every valle on every hill, the people are clamoring and insisting th the State of Pennsylvania shall surround this beautif building with a fitting and appropriate beauty such as deserves. We have the most beautiful Capitol of any Sta in the Union. We have a splendid citizenship; we have t money, and we are in a position to have what we want this respect. This is a State-wide proposition; it is not Dauphin County proposition. This is a proposition th every man and every woman in this State is interested I want to assure you that you have no conception of th sentiment and of the feeling that is coming up from t people. They are proud of their State and of their Capit and they insist that this improvement shall be made. trust that every member on the floor of this House w vote to support this proposition.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, there is one questi bearing on this subject that I have not as yet heard this discussion, and it is a very important question. A sat factory answer to that question will very largely determi what my vote shall be upon this bill. I would like to terrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, M Tunis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUNIS. Yes, sir.

Mr. DEARDEN. I would like to ask the gentleman fr Dauphin whether or not the estimated revenues for t coming two years will provide the funds necessary to a swer the requirements of this bill?

Mr. TUNIS. Yes, sir; beyond any reasonable doubt.

Mr. DEARDEN. Mr. Speaker, there is another questi that I would like to ask: Has any provision been made the Appropriations Committee or by a special body otherwise for the fund that will be required.

Mr. TUNIS. I don't understand the question.

Mr. DEARDEN. Briefly, has the Appropriations Co mittee made provisions for what will be required for t coming two years?

Mr. TUNIS. That has been provided for.

Mr. DEARDEN. That is all I want to know.

Mr. SPEER. Mr. Speaker, I remember some years a when I used to come to the House I would have to wa through muddy streets in the city of Harrisburg. I can n note the great change that has been brought about throu the enterprise of the aesthetic citizens of this city and t aesthetic tastes of its residents. They have added, at th own expense, very materially to our comfort, and we co now to a beautiful city, with paved streets and with all t comforts, and it has been done without any aid from t State. I have passed through a great portion of our Sta and I have witnessed with pleasure the magnificent hon in our State. I have looked upon it with great pleasu I have seen them in their beauty; in their pleasant s roundings. They have an educational tendency that spea for the happiness and the prosperity of our State. I ha seen the great educational institutions where we are placi our children, and the great feature is the surroundings such places as that. The very beautiful effect of it all s peals to us, and especially in public and educational insti tions, as a fitting place in which to educate our children have been pleased with the generosity of this great State ours with regard to our charitable insitutions. I have be delighted with how well they have been provided for a how we lavish money upon these worthy institutions w which we have been trying to do all we can to lift up t fallen and to take care of the weak. We have be spending our money in this way to enable unfortunate p sons proper care and we are proud of our State. Now come to a point where we are supposed to be doing som thing for ourselves, our State and for our people at lar for all the people—to beautify the Capitol of this Sta Everybody must feel like encouraging the aesthetic ta of the people of our Commonwealth, and we want to be tify our home, our State Capitol. We want to add mite. We want to make this city a city that we can w be proud of. We want to make our Capitol a most be tiful capitol, indeed, in its surroundings—the most beauti capitol in the United States and the most beautiful bui

g in the State. I cannot see how anybody could find y reasonable fault or make any serious objection to ending some of our money to make this place so beauti- l that it will have an educational tendency and an aes- etic feature for everyone visiting this place. People are ming from other States, and when they come here let us e to it that they shall look at something beautiful and at they will carry away something that will do them good their own homes and in their own State. I believe that is a matter of economy on the part of the State. The time ill come, I do not know how soon, but the time will come hen we will be compelled to extend our building; when e will not have room for the executive business and the gislative business of this great State of ours. It seems to e that now is the time to purchase this property when it n be secured at a price that will not be exorbitant. I am ing to vote for this bill and I am sure you may think it range, because I have constantly voted against all salary ising, especially the salary raising of this House, but I n't feel that in this act we are at all wasting the people's oney. I am convinced that we are making a good invest- ent.

Mr. MAGEE. Mr. Speaker, I want to add my voice and te to have the State of Pennsylvania do what she ought do to place a decent surrounding about this beautiful pitol building. I want them to take the rear of this ilding off the streets and spread the ground around it. want to do that that this building may have a proper ap- arance. The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is proud of is building, in spite of the trouble we have had in its erec- on. The people of this Commonwealth have one of the ost magnificent public buildings in the world, and it cer- inly does occupy a fitting site. Furthermore, there will e a time, and not far distant, when this building will need largement. I don't think that the estimates that have en put upon the land that we wish to get is too high. don't think that the cost will be too great to this great mmonwealth: it is but a bagatelle. I do think it w ... t a bagatelle and we can afford it. The gentleman from niata spoke about wanting more money to spend on edu- ting our citizens. It is hardly one-third of a century ago, the early 70's, when we made a new Constitution, and we ovided what some people thought was a great sum for the gislature to provide when we placed a million dollars at e disposal of the public for public education. What have e to-day in our School bill. Fifteen million dollars for ucation! I say to you gentlemen that we have erected this eat building and I think the State ought to take this nd and beautify it and make room for the addition that ill have to be put on this building in the not very far dis- nt future.

Mr. RIDER. Mr. Speaker, I have been in favor of this ll all along, but I don't know how I can see my way ear in voting for it as things now stand. This State has bligations now. This State owes money to every town- ip in the State for road purposes on the bill which was ssed in 1905 and later on in 1907. Every township in is State has gone on and spent its money with the hope getting it back from the State, and to-day our bill lies er in the Senate and has not passed out. I want to te for this bill, but I would prefer to see it postponed til our obligations are paid and then let us make new bts. I would like to make a motion that this bill be stponed for the present.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I think I will go as r as any member of this House for the purpose of making blic improvements. If we will look at this question actically or from the aesthetic standpoint, as I appreciate l that has been said, including that the State can afford e money for a fine park, and I would like to see that rk, but I believe that the State ought to have what the ntleman from Juniata has stated, which is along my line thought. There is not a business man in this House who s any business experience who would go and tell a party, I will take that property from you," and not know what e value was. That is the real question we are here to nsider. We are here to consider not only the aesthetic de, but the business side of this question. If my friends re are going to be guided by what has been their ex- rience in life, they will have to look at it in a business- e way. I have sat with road juries on the question of king up condemned land. And by this I wish to bring out the fact that we should not be guided by the values fixed by assessors. In one case where I sat as a road juror the assessor of the district was one of the witnesses in favor of the party that was claiming the damages. He testified that he believed that the damages to the property were $28,000. I asked him whether he thought it was worth that. He said he thought it was, because he had assessed it for $28,000. I suppose the members of this body will think I am technical. I would like to say that I believe that the State ought to have that land over there, but experience teaches me that we ought to secure it from a standpoint of business.

I am inclined to take little stock in the evidence that has been presented here in regard to the ultimate cost of this proposition. I fully realize that none of these figures that have been obtained and presented are binding, but I also realize that the value of that property will rise, most likely double. We want that park, but should we go about it in this way to get it? Should we not appropriate a small amount of money and feel our way and present it in a more businesslike manner to the next Legislature? We are the business representatives of the State. Are we going to act like business men in this matter, or are we going to be carried away by an argument on æsthetics without getting down to the root of this question? When you can lay down the exact figures of what the reasonable cost of this property will be then we will have something to go on. If I felt confident that this proposition will not eventually cost over $3,000,000 I would vote for it. The gentleman from Juniata congratulates the House for voting on appropriations; he also pays his respects on the question of voting for revenue. For that reason I think that at this time we should not pass this bill in the shape it is in. You know, and I know, that this bill authorizes somebody to begin this proposition, and in two years it will take at least two hundred thousand dollars of the State's money. It will cost more than that and we will have to appropriate the balance. That is the experience. We want to get this park, but we want to get it in a practical, sensible way and at an appropriate price. Is not that the right way to go about it? I would be only too glad that every man should vote on improving this beautiful Capitol in its surroundings, and enlarge and make more beautiful the Capitol Park. It will be a splendid thing for those who travel through here to see our magnificent Capitol and our magnificent park, but in order to get it it should be done in an economical, businesslike way, and this bill does not do it that way.

Mr. WILLIAM WARD, Jr. Mr. Speaker, following the thought suggested by my colleague from Delaware, Mr. Baldwin, I don't see how in the world the State of Pennsylvania is going to obtain a price on any property until they get a right to buy. That is the authority that we are now getting to price the land, as we undoubtedly will want it for park purposes. As I understand it, the gentlemen who have been holding this matter under consideration have seen the Board of Assessors, and they have taken the estimated values from the assessor's list and to that they have added twenty-five per cent. for other contingencies, and they have full confidence that this will be the approximate expense.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I am anxious to vote for this bill, but it appears to me that there are some questions relating to it that should be explained. It appears to me to be a proper measure, and with that in mind I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Tunis, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TUNIS. Yes, sir.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, will Mr. Tunis be kind enough, for the information of the House, to state to the House how, under the provisions of this bill, the appropriation is to be controlled so that the money may not be wasted and so that we may not find ourselves in the position that has been stated by the gentleman from Delaware of expending a certain amount of money and then being oblized to expend an unreasonable amount in addition in order to save what has already been expended.

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker, that is to be regulated by a commission of three to be appointed by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, to serve without compensation. This bill also provides for every other contingency of this kind, and I would stake my life that this entire proposition will be completed within the $2,000,000 specified in the bill. I have not seen any one to disagree on this subject who have considered this proposition and know what they are talking about.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, by authority of the Governor a commission of three is appointed who are to administer the proceeds. Must they be approved by the Governor and the Attorney General?

Mr. TUNIS. I cannot say that they must be approved in that way, but the appropriations, all the appropriations, are regulated by the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. In the extension of the park what becomes of the present highway?

Mr. TUNIS. Mr. Speaker, a certain provision is made to the Central Pennsylvania Traction Company whereby this company relinquishes its right to its franchise on the street.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 684 (Senate No. 138), entitled:

An act regulating the sale of food when sold by weight measure or count regulating the marking or labeling of the containers of food and providing punishment for violation of this act

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, you may be factious in voting down this piece of legislation. Gentlemen of the House, I appreciate that one of the greatest bunches that has ever come into a legislative body has come into this body to vote down this righteous piece of legislation. I want to say that this bill which is before you now has been introduced in the Senate by a young Senator who sat with us last session and who has withstood the forces of every political power in the State of Pennsylvania because he thought his bill was right, and I glory in being able to stand with him to-day to vote for Senate Bill No. 138, which compels the merchants to be honest against the powers that are attemping to kill it. You men may vote this bill down if you see fit. I will vote for it. I think this bill is an honest bill. This bill was heard in the Judiciary Special Committee. There we met the opponents of the bill. They came with their complaints; they asked that they be allowed certain amendments. The members of that committee presented their amendments to the sponsor of this bill and he accepted their amendments, and they went away from Harrisburg with the understanding that the bill having been amended to their liking they would support it, but on the contrary after having come forward with their pretenses that they wanted to be honest and that they wanted honest weights, after they came before the committee and stood before the committee as desiring reasonable and honest weights, they go behind cover and pull every political wire they can to get you men to kill this Senate bill. This is a righteous bill. This bill has been passed by the State of New Jersey. It has been proclaimed by the press to be one of the leading measures that was passed by the progressive Legislature. Can we afford to vote against this bill? It is a measure that there can be no complaint against unless it is that the grocers and sellers of food products are afraid to come out in the open and be honest. It merely asks that the merchants, when they sell their commodities, to put upon it the stamp of honesty. When they said that putting the weights upon the food products would be unfair, because the weights were changeable, caused by the atmospheric conditions, the sponsor of this bill allowed to be inserted the famous reasonable clause, and even though this complaint was disposed of they have flooded this Legislature with telegrams and letters protesting against that against which they did not dare to come out in the open and show themselves in honest argument before this legislative committee. I ask that this bill will receive the support of the members of this Legislature and pass on third reading.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. I think I called the attenion of the House the other day to the fact that if you wanted a doctor you would not go to a shoemaker. From this bill it would appear that the member who drew it was not a practical business man. I agree with the gentleman from Philadelphia that there does exist certain conditions to be remedied. I will read the first section of the bill: "That all articles of food shall be sold according to the lawful standard of weight and measure or numerical count." There is not a business man in this House with experience of handling the products of farms who does not know that there are any number of instances where it would be impossible to sell foodstuffs by a set measure. Whole orchards are sold to a man in bulk. A man with an orchard of peaches sometimes sells to a man the whole orchard. You buy a bunch of beets and radishes and so on and a bunch of scullions and if you did not sell them by weight you would be liable to a fine of one hundred dollars. I judge the members of this House can think this out for themselves. My friend from Philadelphia is certainly mistaken when he thinks this House is influenced against this bill because they want to protect the seller of the food product. This House does not want to do anything of the kind, but a large number of the members are practical business men and can see where it applies to their business and places an unnecessary hardship upon the trade. This bill is almost foolish to my mind. Under this law every time there is a violation you are liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars and in that the bill appears to me as almost foolish. There are many features of this bill which are reasonable and if when the bill was drawn up the sponsor had been counseled along those lines the members of this House could have voted for it. But as it stands to-day it will paralyze business and will not fit the business conditions.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. This bill is not a bill of the ridiculous nature as spoken of by the gentleman from Delaware. The question of scullions does not apply to this bill, but it does apply in a sense to protect the consumer from the wholesaler and his powerful business as a trust, insisting that the weights that are given by the scales at the time of the taking of the weights shall be the honest weight. When a man charges a wholesaler for twenty pounds when he is shipping but eighteen pounds then the wholesaler charges the retailer upon the same standard and the retailer the consumer. It is not the purpose of this bill to punish the farmer who sells his honest bundle of onions, but to prosecute the merchant who takes from the consumer money for foodstuffs that he does not get. This bill is a bill to protect the very men who are used to protest against it in this House. It not only protects the consumer, but it protects the retail merchant who has no desire to be dishonest, but who is forced into that position by the action of the wholesaler and the wholesaler by the action of the manufacturer. If this bill becomes an act there will be no question of adjusting the differences between the wholesaler and the manufacturer, the wholesaler and the retailer, and the retailer and the consumer. The consumer will get that which he pays for, and that is all that the bill requires and that is all that it asks. This bill is one of the most important pieces of legislation that has been before this House, and whether you make it a law in this session or not will not deprive this bill of its force. If it is not a law in 1911 it will be a law in 1913. The force that is back of this bill is the strong hand of honesty. There is no power, Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, that can withstand such force. You men may vote upon this bill as you see fit, but I ask you to vote upon it conscientiously and voting that way there can be but one result, and that is the passage of the bill.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. J. R. K. Scott, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Yes, sir.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I am going to read the first section and I want to know whether the gentleman will agree with me that I read it correctly: "That all articles of food shall be sold acording to the lawful standard of weight and measure or numerical count."

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. What question are you going to ask me?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Did I read the section rightly?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. I suppose you will count the bundle of onions.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. The speaker lays great stress on onions. I judge from his talk that he is not a farmer.

Mr. FEENEY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it seems to me that this bill is to protect the consumer, in other words, to protect the poor man from the unscrupulous merchants, and what beats me in listening to the remark of my friend Baldwin is the fact that not later than last night he introduced the garnishee bill which provides for the levying against the furniture of our poor people.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say that I introduced that bill.

Mr. FEENEY. You called up the garnishee bill and moved to have it reconsidered, and it was voted down.

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, the impression has sought to be created that those of us who vote against this bill have been "seen" in the sense that the politicians understand it. I rise to say that I have not seen any of the people lobbying for this bill, nor have I been "seen" by them. I have not received any of the telegrams or letters spoken of. I guess my vote is not worth a telegram. If this bill were simply a bill to compel eggs to be sold by weight and not by count, I think you would get all out of it that there is in it. You are required to mark each package with the weight of the contents in it, and in the second section you are required to say that you do not know whether there is that in it or not. You read the bill and you will find that that is what it says. The gentleman from Delaware is exactly right. You cannot sell eggs by weight.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Juniata.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Juniata, Mr. Ailman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. AILMAN. I will.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. I desire to ask the gentleman whether it is his thought that under this act eggs would have to be sold by weight?

Mr. AILMAN. Yes, sir.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. How do you interpret the numerical count?

Mr. AILMAN. The bill provides that they are to be sold by numerical count when they cannot be conveniently weighed, and if I sold a dozen of eggs I would be liable to a fine. That is exactly the way the bill reads. If the gentleman who draughted this bill does not mean that, the English language is flexible enough to put it in right shape.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 23 In any township of the Commonwealth wherein the owners of the majority of the assessed valuation of real estate therein shall desire any principal road or highway being and lying in their said township to be improved and maintained as a State-aid highway they may petition the supervisors or commissioners of their said township for said improvement to be made and require them to petition the county commissioners of the county to make application to the State Highway Department for the aid and co-operation of the State in the improvement and maintenance of said highway whereupon the duty of the county commissioners in the premises shall be the same in form and procedure as in other cases hereinbefore provided

Section 24 In all cases where the township supervisors or commissioners or county commissioners refuse to act upon or unduly delay action on any petition for the improvement and maintenance of any road or highway as a State-aid highway any citizen taxpayer of the township or county may by petition present the facts of the matter to the Court of Quarter Sessions requesting the court to order such action thereon as the case may require and if after due hearing had before said court it shall appear that the truth of the matters alleged in the petition are sustained the court shall make an order directing the township supervisors or commissioners or county commissioners as the case may be to forthwith act upon said application or applications for State-aid and that the said application or petition for the improvement be forthwith forwarded to the State Highway Department

Section 25 If within thirty days after the receipt of any petition for highway improvement in any township under the provisions of this Act a petition signed by the owners of a majority of the assessed valuation of real estate in said township is received by the county commissioners of the county in which said township is located protesting against said proposed expenditure upon the part of the township then the county commissioners shall take no action on said petition for improvement but shall return the same to the township supervisors or commissioners from whom it was received

Section 26 Whenever the county commissioners of any county shall represent by petition to the State Highway Commissioner that any principal highway in said county outside the corporate limits of any city is not in a satisfactory condition for comfortable and easy travel at all seasons of the year and ought to be reconstructed as a State-aid highway it shall be the duty of the State Highway Commissioner or any assistant directed so to do to examine such highway and if in the judgment of the State Highway Commissioner said representation is well founded he shall determine what changes should be made in said existing highway what portion of it shall be improved and in what manner and shall make the necessary survey prepare accurate plans and make detailed estimate of the expense of the work which in his opinion should be done and report the same to the county commissioners of the county and the supervisors or commissioners of the township or townships in which said highway may lie If the said county commissioners and township supervisors or commissioners then decide that it is advisable to go on with the work they the said county commissioners and township supervisors or commissioners shall enter into the agreement with the State Highway Department hereinbefore specified Provided however said improvement shall not be commenced until the funds at the disposal of the State Highway Department for such purpose shall be sufficient to meet the cost and expense of the improvement desired

Section 27 The State-aid authorized by the provisions of this Act in the construction of State-aid highways shall be ratably apportioned among the several counties of the Commonwealth by the State Highway Commissioner according to the mileage of township and county roads in the respective counties and the said amounts or apportionments shall remain in the State Treasury until applied for in accordance with the provisions of this Act Provided however that if in any case the amounts or apportionments so apportioned shall not be applied for before the first day of March in each year the same shall thereupon be ratably allotted to such county or counties as have made application requiring the expenditure of sums in the improvement of State-aid highways greater than the amount of their apportionment

Section 28 All highways improved as State-aid highways shall conform to the provisions of this Act and the rules and regulations of the State Highway Department as provided in case of State highways Provided That no section of State-aid highways improved under this Act shall be less than one-half mile in length nor shall the improved portion thereof be less than twelve feet in width

Section 29 The work of maintaining and repairing all State-aid highways improved under the provisions of this act or which shall have been previously reconstructed by State aid shall be done by the State Highway Department and fifty (50) per centum of the cost thereof shall be paid by the several townships wherein such roads may lie or by the county when such roads have been improved upon the petition of such county without the co-operation of the township

Section 30 Where a portion of a highway traversing one or more townships and for the improvement and maintenance of which as a State-aid highway according to the provisions of this act application has been made by said township or townships shall lie within the limits of or traverse any borough or boroughs or any incorporated town or towns and where the failure of said borough or boroughs or incorporated town or towns to improve the said highway would leave a break or unimproved section in a continuous improved highway it shall be lawful for the county commissioners of the county in which said highway is located to enter into an agreement with said borough or boroughs or incorporated town or towns to bear a portion of the expenses of said improvement of the highway within the limits of the said borough or town in the same manner as herein provided for the co-operation between the counties and townships Provided That an improved road shall have been previously constructed in an adjoining township borough or town to the lines of the borough or town making application or petition for such improvement the State Highway Commissioner is authorized to bear a portion of the expense of said improvement of said highway within said borough or town limits but in no case shall the portion of said expense to be borne by the State exceed fifty (50) per centum of the total expense of said improvement boroughs or incorporated towns shall only receive aid from the State as aforesaid in cases where failure to receive such aid would prevent a continuous improvement of an important State-aid highway Provided That any borough or incorporated town which is willing to pay one-half the cost of constructing any such road hereinbefore mentioned may make application direct to the State Highway Department All improvements made in borough or town highways as herein provided shall be of a character similar to that specified for the township or townships through which the highway to be improved passes in reaching said borough or town Provided however that the council of any borough or boroughs or incorporated town or towns through which such highway passes shall before its construction by proper ordinance enter into an agreement with the State Highway Commissioner for the payment of said borough's or town's share of the cost of construction and of the subsequent maintenance of such portion of said State-aid highway as lies within the limits of said borough or town similar to that required elsewhere in this Act of the commissioners or supervisors of townships

Section 31 Any county township borough or incorporated town may through its commissioners or supervisors or council bid for the construction or improvement of such portion of any State-aid highway undertaken under the provisions of this Act as may lie within its limits and any county township borough or incorporated town submitting such bid shall have the same consideration and shall be governed by the same rules and regulations of the department as in the case of other bidders and if awarded the contract shall fulfill the same and be subject to the same conditions and regulations as herein provided for other contractors

Section 32 Where any person or corporation shall sustain damage by the taking of land to alter the location of any State-aid highway which may be improved under this act and the county commissioners and township supervisors or commissioners and parties so injured cannot agree on the amount or damage sustained such persons or corporations may present their petition to the court of quarter sessions for the appointment of viewers to ascertain and assess such damages and the form and procedure therein shall be governed by existing laws relating to the assessment of damages in opening public highways and such damages when ascertained shall be paid fifty per centum (50) by the State and twenty-five per centum (25) by the county and twenty-five per centum (25) by the township Provided where the land so taken is in connection with the improvement of State-aid highway which is being done upon the petition of township or county alone and not jointly by the township and county then fifty per centum (50) of the damages sustained shall be paid by the county or township

Section 33 The total cost of the improvement and maintenance of the State-aid highways constructed under the provisions of this Act as provided by the terms of the contract or otherwise as herein provided when properly certified by the State Highway Commissioner shall be audited by the Auditor General and when audited and allowed shall be paid out of moneys specifically appropriated for this purpose by warrants drawn therefor by the Auditor General upon the State Treasurer The share of the county shall be paid as provided by its contract and otherwise by the provisions of this Act to the State Treasurer by the county treasurer upon the warrant of the county commissioners in such sum or sums as shall be certified by the State Highway Commissioner from time to time during the performance of the work or contract or as provided by the contract and otherwise by the provisions hereof after the same shall be completed The share of the township or townships or of any borough or boroughs or of any incorporated town or towns shall be paid to the State Treasurer by the township supervisors or commissioners or by the borough treasurer or by the town treasurer as the case may be in the manner and form as in the case of counties and as other debts of said townships or boroughs are paid when and as demanded by certificate of the State Highway Commissioner during the performance of the work or contract or in like manner after the same shall be completed Upon the completion of any State-aid highway improvement or upon the ascertainment of any additional improvement cost or of any maintenance expense incurred thereon thereafter by the State Highway Department the State Highway Commissioner shall certify the same to the State Treasurer and to the county commissioners and township supervisors or borough or town authorities as the case may be the respective shares of said cost or expense for which the county township borough or incorporated town is liable If the said shares or amounts so certified by the State Highway Commissioner of the cost and expense of the improvement or of the subsequent maintenance thereof as provided by contract and the provisions of this act of the county township borough or incorporated town or all or either of them shall not be paid to the State Treasurer within thirty days after being certified then the said shares of the county township borough or incorporated town either or all of them remaining unpaid shall be charged by the State Treasurer against any funds of said county township borough or incorporated town which may be in the hands of the State Treasurer or which may thereafter come into his hands excepting school funds and may also be recovered by action at law or equity as any other debts of such counties townships boroughs or incorporated towns are by law recoverable The amounts paid under this act to the State Treasurer by the counties townships boroughs and towns shall be placed by him to the credit of the proper funds for highway construction or maintenance and shall immediately be available for the use of the State Highway Department for construction or maintenance as the case may be and the State Highway Commissioner is hereby authorized and empowered to apportion the said amounts thus paid into the State Treasury by the counties townships boroughs and incorporated towns among the several counties as hereinbefore provided for the State Highway Commissioner may make partial payments to any contractor performing any highway improvement under this act as the same progresses upon estimate made by the State Highway Department but not more than ninety per centum (90 per centum) of the estimate of work done or of the contract price shall be paid in advance of the full and satisfactory completion of said improvement and acceptance of same by the State Highway Commissioner

Section 34 The word highway as used in this Act shall be construed to include any existing causeway or bridge or any new causeway or bridge or any drain or water course which may form part of a road and which has been or might properly be built according to any existing laws by the townships of the Commonwealth A State-aid highway as the term is used in this Act shall be construed to mean only such highway as is improved with the aid and co-operation of the State with county and township or with county or township borough or incorporated town either or severally as the case may be according to the terms and provisions hereof but shall not include any causeway or bridge which should properly be built by the county or by the State under existing laws

Section 7 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I simply desire to call the attention of the House to the fact that this Senate Bill No. 488 which is now before us for consideration carries the same provisions as other bills introduced at the beginning of this session, House Bill Nos. 37 and 144, 145 and 146, a series of bills in relation to factory inspectors, two of which were killed in this House. This bill contains all the obnoxious features of the original bills, and I hope the House will not agree to it on third reading.

Mr. WILLIAM WARD, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I wish to support the gentleman from Allegheny in his opposition to this bill, and I sincerely trust that the House will vote down this measure.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 843 (Senate No. 551), entitled:

An act to regulate the construction maintenance and inspection of buildings used for the exhibition of moving pictures in all cities of the first class providing for the enforcement thereof and fixing penalties for violations of the same

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill contains very different features and only relates to the regulation of exhibiting places in cities of the first class. It is demanded by these people and should be supported.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 834.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 834 (Senate No. 487), entitled:

An act permitting the substitution of other securities for those deposited with the State Treasurer to secure the Commonwealth against relief notes issued by certain banks of this Commonwealth and the furnishing of other security therefor was defeated to-day on final passage be reconsidered.

Mr. J. R. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I have read this bill through with some care and I am wholly unable to find anything in the bill which indicates that it is not fair and right. As we all know the State banks of Pennsylvania years ago used to issue notes which served as money for a great many years and because of the United States tax on these notes they were discontinued. Securities were caused to be deposited with the State Treasurer to secure the payment of these notes. Now there are a number of these notes which have not been redeemed. In all probability they have been either lost or destroyed, but assuming that they have not been either lost or destroyed and may be presented for payment, all this act provides is that any State bank which has securities deposited with the State Treasurer for such notes may go to the State Treasurer and by substituting other securities in their stead he may withdraw these securties when these other securities are approved by the State Board of Revenue Commissioners. It does seem that this is absolutely fair and reasonable, and that there is no apparent reason in this bill why it should not pass.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 872 (Senate No. 265), entitled:

An act authorizing foreign corporations that is to say corporations joint stock companies partnerships limited partnership associations and all associations having any of the powers or privileges of corporations not possessed by individuals or partnerships organized under any laws other than those of this Commonwealth for certain purposes to own real estate in this Commonwealth necessary for their corporate purposes under certain conditions and validating such ownership now or heretofore existing and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 873 (Senate No. 555), entitled:

An act to amend an act entitled "An Act to amend sections four seventeen eighteen nineteen twenty-one twenty-six twenty-nine thirty-three thirty-four and thirty-six of an act entitled 'An Act to establish a Board of Wardens for the port of Philadelphia and for the regulation of pilots and pilotages and for other purposes therein mentioned" approved the twenty-ninth day of March one thousand eight hundred and three and vesting the authority over pilots and pilotages in the bay and river Delaware in the Board of Commissioners of Navigation for the River Delaware and its Navigable Tributaries" approved the eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred and seven and providing for the classification of pilots and regulating the qualifications of pilots and pilot apprentices

On the question?

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this is a bill offered by the port wardens of Philadelphia. The only provision is to divide the classes of the pilots into first, second and third classes. An examination is to be held on the twenty-fifth day of this month, and it is desirous that this bill be made a law in order that the examination may be made with three classes.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 841 (Senate No. 531), entitled:

An act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been reconveyed to them" approved the twenty-sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one as amended by an act approved the sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three "so as to authorize incorporated or unincorporated churches owning burial grounds to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been reconveyed to them as further amended by an act approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five regulating the removal of bodies and the sale of lots providing for the enlargement of the boundaries of grounds owned by incorporated or unincorporated churches cemetery or burial associations or companies by the purchase of other ground and the use of the same for burial purposes any law or ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding passed on final passage.

Mr. WM. WARD, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to state to the House that at the time this bill passed I frankly admit that I thought I was voting on the bill just previous to it. The bill is of great significance to the county in which I live and if any gentleman of the House can explain the provisions of this bill sufficiently I will withdraw my motion.

Mr. CONNELL. Mr. Speaker, I made inquiry concerning this bill from the attorney who drew the bill. He wrote me a letter which I will read to the House. There were three acts, in '91, '93 and '95, rather carelessly drawn, and this act is amendment to these acts simply to simplify them. I received a letter from the attorney who drew up this bill and he has written me a letter explaining this proposed legislation.

This bill simply will allow a cemetery company to purchase ground adjoining its own ground at the present time. This bill will simply permit burial associations to purchase any ground adjoining their ground, and that is the best explanation that I know of.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, the county of Delaware and no doubt a number of others in this State will be affected by this bill, as it is very far reaching, and if I am not out of order, I wish to say that I realize if this bill reaches the Senate it cannot be reconsidered without the consent of the Senate. No doubt it will reach the Senate if we don't take action upon it before adjournment. If I can be assured that I will have time to make an examination, I may, perhaps, have no objection to the bill.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say one word with respect to this bill.

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware is clearly out of order at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair decides that the gentleman's point is not well taken.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, the objections to this bill as I find it is in lines one hundred and twenty and one hundred and twenty-one, where it says "that any law or any ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding and all such laws or ordinances inconsistent herewith are hereby abrogated."

As I understand the effect of the amendment to this bill it would take away from the municipalties the right to control the location of cemeteries by ordinance and would then repeal all the ordinances of the municipalities regarding the location of cemeteries. This does not seem just. It seems to me the municipality ought to be able to control the situation by ordinance. This bill would apply particularly to Delaware county, which is close to Philadelphia, and where there are a great many cemeteries, and there are many interments there from Philadelphia, and the people of Delaware county find it very necessary to control such location by ordinance. It is for this reason that we ask to reconsider the bill.

The SPEAKER. If there is no objection this motion will lie over until this evening under unfinished business.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. McNICHOL asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a bill from committee at this time.

Mr. McNICHOL, from the Committee on Judiciary Local, re-reported as committed House Bill No. 832 (Senate Bill No. 287), entitled:

An act supplementing an act approved the fifteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and three entitled "An Act to provide for the selection of a site and the erection of a State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic to be called the Eastern Pennsylvania State Institution for the Feeble-Minded and Epileptic and making an appropriation therefor" by abolishing the commission therein established providing for the completion of said institution regulating the powers of the board of trustees and repealing the tenth and seventeenth sections thereof

Mr. HECHT asked and obtained unanimous consent to report a bill from committee at this time.

Mr. HECHT, from the Committee on Judiciary Special, re-reported as committed House Bill No. 891 (Senate No. 298), entitled:

An act authorizing and empowering cities and boroughs in their corporate capacity to enact ordinances prescribing such reasonable regulations for the mining of coal beneath said cities and boroughs as may tend to prevent the settling or caving in of the surface

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. MOSES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to and (at 4.45 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned to meet to-night at 8 o'clock.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative, and amendments concurred in,

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 531.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which Senate Bill No. 531, entitled:

An act to amend an act entitled "An Act to authorize incorporated cemetery or burial associations to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey in fee simple such portions of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been reconveyed to them" approved the twenty-sixth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-one as amended by an act approved the sixth day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three" so as to authorize incorporated or unincorporated churches owning burial grounds to purchase other grounds and to sell and convey such portion of their lands not used or conveyed by them for burial purposes or which may have been reconveyed to them" as further amended by an act approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five regulating the removal of bodies and the sale of lots providing for the enlargement of the boundaries of grounds owned by incorporated or unincorporated churches cemetery or burial associations or companies by the purchase of other ground and the use of the same for burial purposes any law or ordinance to the contrary notwithstanding failed on final passage be reconsidered.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Delaware, Mr. R. J. Baldwin.

Mr. R J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to the members of the House that the friends of this measure and some of those who did not concur in this measure are unable to agree and it appears that the question will now have to be put up to the House as to whether or not it shall be indefinitely postponed. There are some parts of the bill which are very objectionable to me, while other parts are not. Under the present law there are powers given to municipalities to regulate the various questions involved with cemeteries when they are in cities or boroughs. Among these powers is the question whether there shall be any more bodies buried within a certain cemetery. If this bill be enacted all of the powers of the borough council or the municipality will be taken away. This is a question of one act of the Legislature repealing an ordinance in any of the boroughs in the State of Pennsylvania. It also says that this borough shall have no municipal authority and cannot hereafter have any authority on questions of that character. I want to say that I strongly and firmly disagree with the friends of this bill and I don't think that we should reconsider the vote, but I do think that we should defeat the bill.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I can only say that I have been over this bill with my colleague. Mr. Baldwin, and I heartily concur with what he says. It would be a very great injustice to the boroughs of this Commonwealth to take away from them the right of improving the burial grounds within their limit. This bill does not permit them to exercise any power of regulation.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Whereupon, a division was called for, 73 gentlemen voting in the affirmative and 46 in the negative, and the motion was agreed to.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. R. J. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. HOFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 882 (Senate Bill No. 519), entitled:

An act to amend section one of an act approved the seventh day of July Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five entitled "An Act relating to the disposition of property of decedents on failure of testamentary devises" by extending its provisions to cases where devises shall be impracticable

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—2.

Baldwin, G. Kinney

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 884 (Senate No. 524), entitled:

An act to authorize county commissioners to erect a bridge for pedestrians only in lieu of a wagon bridge legally authorized when in their judgment such bridge will sufficiently accommodate public travel

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have somebody make an explanation of the purpose of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Matt, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MATT. Mr. Speaker, I will explain this bill. As the law now stands on our statute books the Commissioners have the power to build bridges for wagon purposes, but don't have the power to build bridges for pedestrians. Viewers have acted favorably upon the conditions and the whole county desires it, because this bridge I speak of particularly leads directly from the railway station to the county seat and will make it probably one and a quarter miles closer. The voters desire this bridge and it simply gives them power to act. I hope that every member will support this bill.

Mr. KNIGHT. Mr. Speaker, we have an instance in our county across a creek over which possibly five hundred people cross on foot. When you get this act on our statute books we will be able to construct a bridge for them, which would not be more than right. I hope you will give this bill your support.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

Henry	Holland

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 886 (Senate No. 179), entitled:

An act relating to the exercise of the right of eminent domain

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I hope the gentlemen of the House will not be guided by the title of this bill. What the act is directly I will endeavor to explain. When the right of eminent domain has been exercised, as the law now exists, it shall be properly recorded in the Prothonotary's office and in the office of the Recorder of Deeds. It merely corrects a vacancy which now exists in the law—that proper records be put into the Prothonotary's office. This is absolutely essential.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I heartily concur in what the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Scott, has said. Every lawyer in this House will recognize that where the right of eminent domain is exercised that there is nothing upon the record, and as I understand the purpose of this bill, it is simply to make a record in the case of a title acquired by the right of eminent domain.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The bill was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 887 (Senate No. 299), entitled:

An act providing for the election of councilmen in the several boroughs of this Commonwealth and fixing the time and manner of the organization of the town councils therein

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The bill was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 888 (Senate No. 297), entitled:

An act to amend an act entitled "An Act relating to the settlement of public accounts" approved the eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine by providing that the powers imposed shall be exercised by the concurrent action as a board of all the officers named and that said officers shall act in person and not by deputy

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 889 (Senate No. 430), entitled:

An act amending section three of article one section five of article three sections sixteen seventeen and eighteen of article four section two of article six section one of article seven sections one and three of article eight and sections one and seven of article nine of an act entitled "An Act providing for the incorporation and government of cities of the third class" approved the twenty-third day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker.

The Speaker. The gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Keister.

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker, this is a very lengthy bill, and no doubt the members of this House have not given it the consideration which it deserves. It requires a very few words to explain its provisions. If this bill falls, third class cities in the State of Pennsylvania will be practically put out of business. I will ask the members of the House to give it favorable consideration.

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 887.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 887, on page 4 of to-day's calendar, which was defeated on third reading, be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 896 (Senate No. 214), entitled:

An act to amend an act entitled "An Act to regulate the practice of osteopathy in the State of Pennsylvania to provide for an establishment of a State Board of Osteopathic Examiners to define the powers and duties of the State Board of Osteopathic Examiners to provide for the examining and licensing of osteopaths in this State and to provide penalties for the violation of this act approved the nineteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine providing for the issuing of certificates for license to practice osteopathy"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Ulerich.

Mr. ULERICH. Mr. Speaker, I understand that there is a bill in the hands of the Governor at this time that carries the same provisions as this one. I therefore move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I would like the gentleman from Westmoreland county to give us some authority for that statement.

Mr. ULERICH. I was asked by a physician in regard to this bill and I have my information from him. I have no personal interest in this bill.

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker, I have been asked this same thing, and I wish to say that Dr. Keen and another physician have made the same statement to me and requested to have this bill stricken from the calendar.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The bill was not agred to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 898 (Senate No. 543), entitled:

An act to amend the sixth section of an act entitled "An Act dividing the cities of this State into three classes regulating the passage of ordinances providing for contracts for supplies and work for such cities authorizing the increase of indebtedness and the creation of a sinking fund to redeem the same defining and punishing certain offences in all of said cities and providing for the incorporation and government of cities of the third class" approved the twenty-third day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four providing that it shall be lawful for the councils of any city to pass ordinances defining the competency of workmen or laborers engaged in work for such city under contracts and prescribing the minimum wages to be paid and the maximum hours of employment of workmen or laborers so engaged and validating such existing ordinances

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote on House Bill No. 882, entitled:

An act to amend section one of an act approved the seventh day of July Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five entitled "An Act relating to the disposition of property of decedents on failure of testamentary devises" by extending its provisions to cases where devises shall be impracticable be reconsidered.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion to reconsider?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is on page four of today's calendar and was defeated on final passage. I desire to say that this bill is an amendment to an act in regard to the disposition of the provision in the bill which because of a lack of specific identity or because of an uncertainty of the purposes in the bill. We have in Philaelphia cases that cannot be reached under this provision, and we are practically helpless under it.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The motion was not agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 904 (Senate No. 603), entitled:

An act to provide for counsel fees for garnishee's attorney's taxation of the same as costs and collection and payment thereof in attachment or attachment execution of any nature or kind issued by any justice of the peace magistrate or alderman

On the question.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to this bill. This bill provides simply that in garnishee cases an attorney fee shall be tacked on to the cost in the case. I don't believe that the attorneys in this State need anything of that kind. I think it is a hardship on us farmers.

Mr. WILSON. This House has passed a bill, introduced by myself, the exact duplicate of this one. I know of no vote against it, not even of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen. I desire to say that his explanation of it at this time is not just exactly right. It carries with it a fee of $5 in case of garnisheeing when attachments are served on the third party, and he has to answer in any court of record. It is only fair and I hope that it will go through. There seems to be a disposition in this House to vote on the question without considering it squarely and I hope you will not vote this bill down.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, if this House has already consumed time in considering and voting upon one bill of this kind which now rests in the Senate, that deliberative body where business is transacted with haste, and I move you that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 905 (Senate No. 600), entitled:

A supplement to an Act of Assembly entitled "An Act to authorize co-operation of cities of the third class school districts thereof and incorporated library associations therein for the erection and maintenance of free public libraries" approved the twenty-second day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one (Pamphlet Laws two hundred and ninety) by authorizing school districts of cities of the third class to contract for the maintenance of free non-sectarian public libraries without guaranty therefor by the city and validating contracts heretofore or hereafter to be made without such guaranty

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1244 (Senate No. 620), entitled:

An act regulating the treatment of persons in places of detention awaiting trial

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. WM. CONNER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, this bill provides that all men waiting sentence in any jail in this Commonwealth shall have at least one hour a day. In the county in which I have the honor in part to represent there are eight hundred prisoners, and if you give each man one hour a day how are you going to run the prison. In Philadelphia I understand that they have sixteen hundred prisoners. I would like to know how you are going to give each one of these men an hour a day. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. C. M. C. CAMPBELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1245 (Senate No. 574), entitled:

An act providing for the protection of owners of animals or vehicles and providing penalties for the violation thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill was introduced by Senator Vare at the instance of the Teamsters' Association for the purpose of preventing the drivers from taking the teams, of allowing the teams to stand on the highways, and neglecting the teams, and allowing the wagons loaded with perishable goods to stand, which has caused a loss to the teamsters of thousands of dollars. This bill has been offered by the Teamsters' Association of Philadelphia and is a very meritorious bill, and I hope the members will support it.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES.

Mr. ROBINSON, from the Committee on Appropriations, reported as committed House Bill No. 1373, entitled:

An act to provide for the erection of a monument or memorial on the Battlefield of Antietam, Maryland, to commemorate the services of Knap's Independent Battery E, Pennsylvania Light Artillery on that battlefield, creating a Commission for such purpose and appropriating money therefor.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1247 (Senate No. 316), entitled:

A supplement to an act entitled "An Act to provide for the better government of cities of the first class in this Commonwealth approved the first day of June one thousand eight hundred and eighty-five authorizing and establishing a Board of Recreation for the creation organization care management conduct and supervision of recreation facilities of cities of the first class except as herein provided

On the question,

Will the House agre to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill was also presented by Senator Vare for the purpose of establishing a playgrounds commission that costs nothing. There is no money appropriated to it, and their powers consist merely of establishing or conducting or laying out the parks throughout the city of Philadelphia, which have been bought by the money appropriated by the councils of the city of Philadelphia. In other words, it is the mission of the officials of the city to have supervisors for the present park system in Philadelphia. It is an important piece of legislation and one much desired in Philadelphia.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate, with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 627 (Senate No. 100), on page 12 of to-day's calendar, Senate bills on third reading postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 627 (Senate No. 100), entitled:

An act providing for the appointment by the district attorney in counties having a population of over a million and less than one million five hundred thousand inhabitants of a chief county detective an assistant county detective and special county detective defining their duties fixing their salaries and authorizing the payment of the same together with necessary traveling expenses by the county

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

The SPEAKER. The nays appear to have it.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I call for a division, but before the division is taken I would like to say that the officers provided for in this bill are to be paid by the county. This bill applies only to the county of Allegheny. It involves no expense to any other part of the State. The Allegheny county delegation has caucused upon this bill and believes that the interests of our county require them

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Alter, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALTER. I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if the interests to be subserved by the passage of this bill are actual or political.

Mr. ALTER. Actual. I would not be here advocating a political bill.

The SPEAKER. A division having been called for and 79 gentlemen having voted in the affirmative and 39 in the negative the question is determined in the affirmative and the bill is agreed to on third reading.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time House Bill No. 918, on page one of to-day's calendar, appropriation bill on final passage postponed for the present, entitled:

An act making an appropriation to the American Art Society of Philadelphia for the purpose of encouraging American art

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, the conditions have not changed in the slighest since this bill failed the other day. The society is just as unworthy as it was then and the State needs the money just as much. I hope that this bill will fail.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, The sponsor of this bill, Mr. Shern, who is the leader of the Philadelphia delegation, as you know, is sick and probably will not come back this session. This is a measure he introduced personally and he is personally interested in the officers of this association. I am here as his messenger asking that this appropriation, which has been appropriated for this society for many years, will meet approval here to-night. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the only complaint that was offered by the gentleman from Germantown was that this society was not worth this appropriation. I have made it my business to make a personal investigation with the gentlemen who are connected with this society, and what I informed the House a few days ago that this opposition was principally by a rival society, is conclusive from the information that I have at hand. There is one very strong element that seems to indicate that this is a very worthy institution. That is the fact that for years this appropriation has been given to the American Art Society. The Chairman of the Appropriation Committee, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Woodward, in whom this House has placed its highest confidence, so high that we vote for the appropriation bills that come from his committee and sanctioned by him as chairman without much investigation upon our part, has taken the responsibility and with his own voice has submitted this bill is a proper bill, is a proper appropriation. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House we are not going to fly in the face of that Chairman, fly in the face of the appropriation committee and vote down this appropriation bill of all the vast thousands of dollars, millions of dollars that we have appropriated this session by appropriation bills and the general appropriation bill. I hope we have no greater protest than that given by Mr. S. B. Scott, of Philadelphia, and I hope that you men will waive the opposition against this bill with the integrity of the chairman of the Appropriation Committee and the voice of one in whom we all have confidence, in the voice of the sponsor of this bill, the Hon. Daniel J. Shern.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I am, of course, deeply sympathetic with our colleague who is ill. That, however, cannot make any difference in the merit of this appropriation. If my colleague who has just spoken knows anything worthy of this institution, let him say so. He says this is a worthy association, and I say that it is a private snap. The House can take their choice and say which they prefer to think it is. The fact that the appropriation committee has passed upon this bill should not be taken as final in view of the fact that the Appropriations Committee is burdened with the appropriations of almost one hundred million dollars, and they occasionally might make a mistake, without any reflection upon them, and when this House has other and better information than they have, the House should be absolutely and perfectly free to act on that information. And I think it a very wise thing when we have the opportunity of calling a halt on the Appropriation Committee, because the idea of this House taking absolutely the word of the Appropriation Committee in this matter of appropriating money is uncalled for. I say it is a wise thing to call a halt some time and I hope the House will bear me out in that and occasionally show the committee that its judgment is not absolutely final.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I think this appropriation is a proper one, and I ask the members of this House to vote with the Appropriation Committee in this instance. We visited this institution, and we felt that it was one among the many worthy ones in the State that should receive an appropriation, and we decided to recommend two thousand dollars less than the institution got two years ago, feeling that there would be no objection to that. We understood that there would be some objection, and we felt that if we would make some reduction perhaps that would satisfy them. I ask the members of the House to stand by the committee.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Woodward, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. I will.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Did you personally or through some member of the committee visit this institution.

Mr. WOODWARD. I did not visit it personally, but I have confidence in the sub-committee that did visit the institution. I have confidence in the people that recommended this appropriation, and I think it is entirely just and proper.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Who composed the sub-committee?

Mr. WOODWARD. I cannot recall it at this time. There are over 600 appropriation bills in the hands of the committee and I cannot recall the names of the men on the different sub-committees.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. I challenge anybody in this House to even tell me where this institution is and what it does.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, before voting on this bill I would be glad to know from my friend from Philadelphia whether he is yet prepared to answer the question that was addressed to him when this bill was before the House before, to wit: The explantion relative to the $600 salary that is paid to one of the principal beneficiaries in this institution. I would be glad to know why, if this is a worthy institution, why one so deeply interested charges a salary for his services.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, It seems to me that whoever gets a salary must earn it.

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time Senate Bill No. 354, on page 14 of to-day's calendar, bills on final passage postponed for the present.

Agreeably to order.

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 577 (Senate No. 354), entitled:

A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania

The question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I desire to call your attention to the bill that is now before the House for consideration, Senate Bill 354. It is a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution, permitting, particularly the City of Pittsburgh, to borrow in excess of seven per cent. of the assessed valuation, for the construction of municipal improvements. It is a joint resolution providing for the same rights that were given to the city of Phildelphia. This is a joint resolution allowing the bonded indebtedness to go over the seven per cent. limit and not exceeding ten per cent., for improvements that are self-supporting, and which in the course of five years will take care of themselves.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman from Allegheny would confine this bill to his own county there would be no objection. When the bill for Philadelphia was before the House it succeeded in passing simply and solely for the reason that it was limited to cities of the first class. Now what good reason can be urged that the temptation shall be held out to any municipality in this State to increse its indebtedness for the purpose of public improvements, and why shall we make a break in the provisions of the Constitution of 1874, which limits the indebtedness to 21 per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property. As I understand the terms of this resolution, it has in it the same vicious features as did the Philadelphia resolution, permitting the people by a vote to increase the indebtedness to the amount of 30 per cent. of the assessed valuation of the property. Is it wise to make a break in the direction of permitting an increase in the indebtedness beyond the 21 per cent., that is, seven per cent. for county, seven per cent. for city, and seven per cent. for the school district.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, in reply to my friend from Delaware, I desire to call attention to the fact that the gentleman from Delaware evidently misunderstands the motive of this proposed amendment. This proposed amendment says that the bonded indebtedness shall stand at seven per cent., but when a city or any municipality of this state, after the issuance of these bonds within the seven per cent., the indebtedness can be increased for the purposes of improvement if said idebtedness shall have been assented to by three-fifths of the electors. This is particularly necessary in the western part of the State, and I hope you gentlemen will vote for it.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would call the attention of this House to page two of the bill in lines 31, 32, 33, 34, 35 and 36, which reads as follows:

"Any of the said municipalities or counties may incur indebtedness in excess of seven per centum and not exceeding ten per centum of the assessed valuation of the taxable property therein if said increase of indebtedness shall have been assented to by three-fifths of the electors voting at a public election in such manner as shall be provided by law."

I would ask the gentleman whether that is not unconstitutional, to permit municipalities or counties of the State beyond 30 per cent., even though it is assented to by three-fifths of the electors, and whether that has anything to do whatever with the other provisions of the amendment.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state that my friend has read very accurately and correctly and what he has read is simply an additional argument in favor of the passage of this amendment, because it is an additional precaution, that is, after the assessment has been made, to issue the bond it requires three-fifths of the voters.

Mr. V. G. ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not read it that way, and I submit it to any lawyer in the House if it does not give unlimited power to any municipality or county to incur indebtedness in excess of seven per cent. with the assent of three-fifths of the voters. I respectfully submit that it is a dangerous interference with the Constitution of 1874, which prohibits the indebtedness to be more than 21 per cent., based on the assessed valuation.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I respectfully direct the gentleman's attention to lines 14, 15, 16, and 17 on page one, and also 18 to 23 on page two, if the gentleman will read those lines he will find a full and complete answer to his question.

The question recurring,

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1267 (Senate No. 633), entitled:

An act regulating the use of moving picture machines and the construction and use of booths therefor in cities of the third class in boroughs and in townships in this Commonwealth and providing penalties for violations thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, this is an exact copy of a number of the bills that went down to defeat in the House early in the session. It is one of the moving picture bills and this bill should be defeated on third reading.

Mr. WM. WARD Jr. Mr. Speaker, this bill would work a very great hardship in many of the boroughs and cities. There is no merit in this bill and it should be defeated.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1269 (Senate No. 606), entitled:

An act authorizing the granting of right-of-way over the forestry reserves in this Commonwealth for telegraph and telephone companies and for the transportation and marketing of timber bark gas oil and minerals from adjacent lands and authorizing the Forestry Commission to make such conditions regulations and restrictions as may be necessary for the protection of the interests of the Commonwealth and providing for the payment for said right-of-way

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows viz:

PETITION AGAINST THE PASSAGE OF HOUSE BILL NO. 509.

Mr. HAYS presented the petition of Lone Tree Camp, No. 16, of the Woodman of the World, of West Sunbury, Pa., protesting against the passage of House Bill No. 509 imposing a tax on money collected from members of fraternal societies.

Which was referred to the Committee on Insurances.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. TUSTIN, from the Committee on Judiciary General reported with favorable recommendation the following nominations made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, which were laid upon the table.

MEMBERS BOARD OF REGISTRATION COMMISSIONERS IN AND FOR CITY OF PHILADELPHIA.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Executive Chamber, Harrisburg, January 3, 1911.

To the Honorable, the Senate of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

Gentlemen:—In conformity with law, I have the honor hereby to nominate for the advice and consent of the Senate, the following named gentlemen to be Members of the Board of Registration Commissioners in and for the City of Philadelphia, for the term of three years, to compute from June 15, 1909:

Clinton Rogers Woodruff, Philadelphia.
George G. Pierie, Philadelphia.
J. Henry Scattergood, Philadelphia.
John Cadwalader, Jr., Philadelphia.

EDWIN S. STUART.

REASONS FOR VOTE ON SENATE BILL NO. 506.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following reason for my vote on Senate Bill No. 506, known as the "Kline Bill," and ask that it be spread on the Journal.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. HERBST. Offered the following statement:

This bill involves legislation which should not have been introduced in the light of the campaign pledges made last Fall by the Republican party when it asserted that the Brookes high license law was the best liquor law in the Nation. Some of us belonging to the Democratic party made the same pledge in answer to our local option opponents. Why, then, this stab at one of the cardinal features of the Brookes Law I voted against the bill when it originally passed the Senate by a mere scratch, Senators at that time voting for it who now seem very much opposed to it. These should have known what they were doing then. I voted for the amendments because they make the bill less vicious, but changed my vote when I saw the tactics used to force a majority vote. I am against and will not support it in any form for the following reasons:

1—It is uncalled for on account of party and personal pledges.

2—It would reduce the revenue of the State nearly $1,000,000.

3—It would create a brewery trust, eventually driving out the small brewer.

4—It is unfair and unjust to the retail licensed dealer.

5—I have had no demand, spoken, written, telephone or telegraphic from the brewers of my district.

6—Where licenses are granted the Judges should control them.

E. M. HERBST.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE WIDOW AND CHILDREN OF JOSEPH ZAMBO, TO BRING SUIT AGAINST THE COMMONWEALTH.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, May 23, 1911.

Whereas, During the period of the suppression of the strike in South Bethlehem in one thousand nine hundred and ten, one Joseph Zambo, a peaceable citizen, not a striker, and in no wise involved in riotous or illegal conduct, but while inside a house engaged in a proper occupation, was shot and instantly killed by a bullet accidentaly fired from a State policeman's revolver passing through the closed door; and

Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo, when so killed, had committed no wrong, and had done absolutely nothing to incite said revolver shot from said State policeman; and

Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo was a poor man and left surviving him residing in South Bethlehem a widow, Mary Zambo, and two minor children, Joseph Zambo, Jr., and Stephen Zambo, one of the age of three years and the other of the age of five months, whose sole support was said Joseph Zambo, and who are accordingly now in destitute circumstances; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the House concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, by virtue of the power vested in it by Section eleven of Article first of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, does hereby authorize and allow Mary Zambo, in behalf of herself and her two minor children, Joseph and Stephen Zambo, to bring suit or suits against and to recover from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, either in law or in equity, in the Courts of Common Pleas of Dauphin county, such sum or sums of money as may be justly and properly due them, through the loss and deprivation of their husband and father, said Joseph Zambo, by his negligent and improper killing by a State trooper at South Bethlehem in the fore part of the year one thousand nine hundred and ten. Said suit or suits to be subject to the same rules of pleading and evidence as other suits brought in said court are subject.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. WOLF. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 1160 (House No. 526), on third reading, entitled:

An act regulating the sale of pure spirits of turpentine substitutes and imitations thereof fixing penalties providing for the labelling of the same providing for the examination of samples providing for the enforcement of this act and appropriating moneys for the enforcement of this act for a period of two fiscal years beginning June first Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears objection.

Mr. WOLF. Mr. President, I move that this bill be indefinitely postponed.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I hope the Senate will vote for the indefinite postponement of this bill. My information is that this bill is entirely in the interest of the Turpentine Trust, and as far as my judgment goes the trust has got plenty now without giving it any more.

An act making appropriations to institutions not wholly managed by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania liens on the premises of such institutions for the use of the Commonwealth and providing for the collection thereof

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That all appropriations of money hereafter made by this Commonwealth to any benevolent, charitable, philanthropic, educational or eleemosynary institution, corporation or unincorporated association not wholly supported by this Commonwealth and not under the exclusive control and management of this Commonwealth, for structures, erections or other permanent improvements of any kind shall be a lien as hereinafter set forth on the real estate upon which such structure, erection or other permanent improvement is to be made.

Section 2 It shall be the duty of such institution, corporation or unincorporated association, if it accept such appropriation within sixty days after such appropriation is approved by the Governor to transmit to the Auditor General of this Commonwealth a full and complete description of the real estate and location thereof upon which such erection, structure or other permanent improvement is to be erected, constructed or made.

Section 3 It shall be the duty of said institution, corporation or unincorporated association within sixty days after the approval of such appropriation by the Governor to notify in writing the State Treasurer that it has decided to accept such appropriations, and if it fail so to do it shall be conclusively presumed to have declined the same.

Section 4 Upon the receipt by the State Treasurer of such notice of acceptance he shall forthwith file a copy thereof with the Auditor General of the Commonwealth, and the Auditor General shall forthwith transmit to the Prothonotary of the respective county in which aforesaid real estate may be situate, his certificate setting forth the amount of such appropriation, the location and full description of said real estate, the fact of such acceptance of said appropriation and the date of approval thereof by the Governor.

Section 5 Upon receipt of such certificate by said Prothonotary he shall forthwith enter a note of such certificate in a docket provided and maintained by him for such purpose, at the expense of the respective county, to be known and marked as the "State Appropriation Docket" wherein the Commonwealth shall appear as plaintiff and the respective institution, corporation or unincorporated association as defendant, such notation to contain the locality and brief description of said real estate, amount of said appropriation and date of approval thereof by the Governor and date of the making of said notation, and shall file and keep said certificate as other records are filed and kept. He shall also prepare and maintain proper indexes of said dockets at the expense of the respective county aforesaid, giving the name of the said institution, corporation or unincorporated association, amount of said appropriation and date of entry of said notation in said docket and the number of the volume and page thereof.

Section 6 Such appropriations shall be non-interest bearing liens on said real estate from the date of such entry of said certificates in said dockets and in case of public or private sale of such real estate shall be paid out of the proceeds thereof before any subsequent lien, mortgage, encumbrance or other charge.

Section 7 All such institutions, corporations or unincorporated associations shall have the right to pay the amount of said liens to the State Treasurer at any time in full or in partial payment and it shall be the duty of the State Treasurer to accept the same and to forthwith transmit to the Prothonotary of the respective county aforesaid his certificate that he has received said payment or payments and the date of receiving same, which certificate or certificates shall be forthwith filed and kept by said Prothonotary with the other records in the case and a notation thereof, setting forth the respective dates and amounts of such payments shall be made by him on said dockets and indices in the proper place, and when it appears that the full amount of said appropriation has been repaid as aforesaid to the State Treasurer, said Prothonotary shall mark said lien as satisfied in full upon said dockets and indices at the proper place. The aforesaid defendants shall pay said Prothonotary the sum of Five Dollars for satisfaction of said liens and the sum of fifty cents for each partial payment credited as aforesaid to be taxed as costs and collected when said lien is satisfied as aforesaid.

Section 8 Should at any time before said lien is paid in full and satisfied as aforesaid, the said institution, corporation or unincorporated association fail to utilize said real estate and erections constructions and other permanent improvements aforesaid for the purposes for which said appropriations were made, the Commonwealth at the relation of the Attorney General shall have the right to issue a writ or writs of scire facias on said lien and prosecute the same to final judgment for the unpaid portion thereof, and sell said real estate, erections, constructions, and other improvements aforesaid by writ or writs of levari facias in the same manner and with the same effect as scire facias are issued and lands sold on levari facias on mortgages and without inquisition and condemnation

Section 9 In cases where real estate owned by institutions corporations or unincorporated associations which have received appropriations of money made by the Commonwealth for the structures erections or permanent improvements of any kind and for which the Commonwealth shall have a lien as herein provided shall be sold or taken by eminent domain and other property of equal or greater value be acquired by such institutions corporations or unincorporated associations the Auditor General shall upon the entry of a lien upon such acquired property in favor of the Commonwealth for an amount equal to that theretofore existing released the real estate from the lien to which it was theretofore subject.

HOUSE BILL NO. 608 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was read as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1911.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 608, entitled

An act to regulate the doing of business in this Commonwealth by foreign corporations the registration thereof and service of process thereon and providing punishment and penalties for the violation of its provisions and repealing previous legislation on the subject be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment.

The resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Ordered, that the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE PRINTING OF ADDITIONAL COPIES OF THE ADVANCE SHEET OF THE SCHOOL CODE.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives,
May 19, 1911.

Whereas, There is a great demand for copies of the act known as the "School Code"

Therefore Be it Resolved (if the Senate concur) That the Secretary of the Commonwealth is hereby directed to have printed (25,000) additional copies of the advance sheet of said act to be distributed as follows: Five thousand copies to the Department of Public Instruction, six thousand to the Senate, twelve thousand to the House of Representatives, one thousand to the Legislative Reference Bureau, and one thousand to the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE APPOINTMENT OF COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS IN PENNSYLVANIA.

He also presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on Finance.

In the House of Representatives,
May 24, 1911.

Whereas, His Excellency, the Honorable John K. Tener, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in his inaugural address, delivered at Harrisburg, January 17th, 1911, at the time of his inauguration as Governor of the Commonwealth, said:

"The present Railroad Commission has done well; but, circumscribed as to its limitations, it cannot fulfill the present requirements in the treatment of the relations between the people and the public service corporations. There should be a commission, vested with all possible power, to have the general supervision and control of the corporations and individuals having to do with public utilities, and the present Railroad Commission abolished

"Properly conducted, this public service commission would create a better feeling between the people and the corporations; would keep these companies within their lawful bounds, and compel them to render to the public the reasonable and satisfactory service for which their franchises were granted. It would prevent the building of unnecessary railroads and works, and the issuance of obligations not fully represented by actual value given; it would protect these companies against unfair attacks while, at the same time, the rights of the people would be fully conserved. I recommend the enactment of legisation creating a commission. It is desired by the people, and should be welcomed by all fairly disposed corporations"

An Whereas, House Bill No. 875, entitled

"An act defining public service companies prescribing and defining the duties of public service companies prescribing defining and limiting the powers of public service companies and regulating the creation of such companies creating and establishing a public service commission for the supervision and regulation of public service companies prescribing and defining the powers and duties of such commission and its officers and providing for the salaries and compensation of the members of the commission its officers counsel and employes prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before such commission and upon appeal and judicial review of its orders by the court of common pleas of Dauphin county and giving such court exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals and of all injunctions mandamus or other appropriate proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act and the orders of the commission and to restrain such orders subject to an appeal from all decrees of said court to the Supreme Court prescribing penalties fines and imprisonment for the violation of such orders or of the provisions of this act and repealing the act approved May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and seven providing for the appointment of a Railroad Commission and all other legislation inconsistent with this act"

failed of passage for the reason that certain members of the General Assembly allege lack of sufficient time to properly inform themselves concerning the scope and provisions of such bill.

And Whereas, It is the sense of the General Assembly and of the people of the State generally that a law should be enacted to regulate such public service companies and that a commission should be created for the purpose of inquiring into the practical workings of such public service companies whether or not they are complying with the laws under which they are incorporated and make report to the next General Assembly together with a draft of an Act of Assembly as will best protect the interests of the people of the Commonwealth, and insure to them proper service and accommodation from public service companies, incorporated under the laws of this State, or authorized to do business therein, therefore

Be it Resolved (if the Senate concur), That a commission, consisting of five persons, to be appointed by the Governor of the Commonwealth, be and the same is hereby created, which commission shall be known as the Commission to Investigate Public Service Corporations in Pennsylvania. Each commissioner, at the time of his appointment shall be a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall have resided therein for a period of at leaast one year next preceding his appointment and shall also be a qualified elector therein and not less than twenty-five years of age.

The said commission shall have power and authority to inquire into the general supervision, management regulation and operation of all public service companies doing business in this Commonwealth, or empowered so to do. Said power and authority shall include the power to inquire into the regulation, service, rates, fares, tolls or charges of any and all public service companies, including individual and joint rates, long and short haul charges for the conveyance of passengers and property, interchange of facilities or traffic or other service, the making of repairs, alterations, additions, extensions and improvements in and to such service, the granting of transfers between different lines of common carriers or to or from one part of the system of the same common carrier to another part, the routing of the lines of street railways, under the provisions of the act entitled "An Act authorizing traction or motor power companies and street pasesnger railway companies running, leasing, controlling or operating different lines of street railways to operate all of said lines as a general system, and to lay out such new routes or circuits over the whole or any part of any street or streets occupied by such different companies, and to run cars thereon for such distances and in such directions as will in the opinion of the operation company best accommodate public travel," approved the fifteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five), or otherwise the just and equitable distribution of trains, cars, vehicles and motive power, or other facilities of all common carriers, the granting, construction, operation or discontinuance of switches, sidings and regulation of crossings, the location or abolition of freight and passenger stations, wharves, docks or piers, the use and compensation for cars owned or controlled by persons other than the carrier, the safety, adequacy and sufficiency of the facilities, plant and equipment for the carrying on of their business by said public service companies, the quantity or quality of water, gas, electricity or light, heat or power supplies and generally all acts, matters and things incident to the management and conduct of their business and the performance of their public duties, and their compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, the laws of the land and their charters.

The said commission shall also have power and authority to examine and consider the laws of this Commonwealth relating to public service corporations and revenue and the general working thereof. The said commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas, signed by its chairman, requiring the attendance of persons and the production of books and papers, as in its judgment will assist in the performance of its duties aforesaid. Said commission shall make full report in writing to the General Assembly in 1913 of the result of such examinations or investigations made by it. Also a statement of facts and explanations as will disclose the actual workings and operations of public service companies in their relation to the business and prosperity of the Commonwealth and such suggestions as to the general policy of the Commonwealth or the amendment of its laws or the condition, affairs or conduct of any public service corporations as may seem to it appropriate. Also a draft of a bill to be known as the public service company law, together with the reasons and necessity therefor

The commission shall have a secretary an attorney, and such other officers as will enable it to properly perform the duties authorized and required under the provisions of this resolution. Said secretary, attorneys and employes to receive such reasonable compensations in the judgment of the commission may be necessary. The expenditures of the commission shall be limited to the amount provided therefor in the general appropriation bill, to be passed at this session of the Legislature and shall be paid out of the State Treasury, upon vouchers signed by the chairman of said commission.

The term "public service company," when used in this resolution includes all railroad corporations, canal corporations, street railway corporations, stage line corporations, express corporations, baggage transfer corporations, pipe line corporations, incline plane corporations ferry corporations, common carriers, tunnel corporations, turnpike corporations, plank road corporations ,boulevard corporations, bridge corporations, wharf corporations, grain elevator corporations, telegraph corporations, telephone corporations, natural gas corporations, artificial gas corporations, electric corporations, water corporations, water power corporations, heat corporations refrigerating corporations sewage corporations, as well as all persons engaged for profit in the same kind of business as that of any of the said corporations, and all other corporations or persons engaged for profit in any other quasi-public business within this State or empowered so to do, as well as holding coporations.

HOUSE CONCURS IN RESOLUTION PROVIDING FOR THE UNVEILING OF THE GROUPS OF SCULPTURE PREPARED BY SCULPTOR GEORGE GRAY BARNARD.

He also presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate,
May 23, 1911.

Whereas, The completed groups in marble modeled and prepared by the eminent sculptor, George Gray Barnard, will be set in place on either side of the main entrance to the Capitol at an early date; and

Whereas, The completion and setting in place of these beautiful groups, which are recognized to be among the greatest productions in sculpture of modern times, will be an important event in the history of the Commonwealth, and should be suitably commemorated by unveiling exercises in which the people of the State may participate;

Therefore, Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereby authorized and directed to appoint five members of the General Assembly, who shall, with the Board of Grounds and Buildings, constitute a commission to arrange for the unveiling of the said groups of sculpture.

The commission shall have authority to select a suitable day for holding the unveiling exercises and the acceptance of said groups by the proper officers of the Commonwealth, and also to arrange for such other exercises as may be fitting and proper upon such occasion. Said commission shall have authority to invite, in the name of the Commonwealth, such officials and persons of this and other States to attend the unveiling exercises as in its judgment will fittingly commemorate this important event. The said commission shall allot to the present members of the General Assembly such number of invitations to the unveiling exercises as the conditions and accommodations will warrant.

The reasonable cost and expense of the unveiling exercises as hereinbefore authorized, shall be provided for by inserting an item in the General Appropriation bill.

RESOLUTION PRESCRIBING NUMBER OF COPIES OF APPROPRIATION LAWS.

Mr. GERBERICH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. GERBERICH, from the Committee on Public Printing, reported the following resolution, which was laid upon the table:

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1911.

Whereas, In consequence of the passage of the act entitled "An Act regulating the printing of the laws of this Commonwealth," which provides that the acts containing solely an appropriation shall be printed separately and apart from the volume containing the general laws, the demand for the volume containing said appropriations will be much less than the demand for the volume of the general laws; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the edition of the appropriation laws be limited to three thousand copies, to be bound in cloth, and the same shall be distributed as follows: Five hundred copies to the Senate, one thousand copies to the House of Representatives and the remainder to the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. TUSTIN.

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor to lie on the table one day be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into executive session for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported at to-day's and yesterday's sessions.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. TUSTIN.

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, I move that the name of John Cadwalader as one of the Registration Commissioners for Philadelphia be omitted from the list of nominations to be confirmed.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Elk.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Elk permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, why does the Senator want to omit the name of John Cadwalader?

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, because I am opposed to his confirmation. That settles the whole business.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, this is a Philadelphia concern. These registration commissioners only apply to the city of Philadelphia, and I am very much surprised that my Democratic friends on this side are not in favor of Mr. Cadwalader. This registration commission was appointed by Governor Pennypacker. It was again appointed, the same board, by Governor Stuart, and it was again sent to the Senate by Governor Tener. These four men have been the only registration commissioners we have had in the city of Philadelphia. They have worked together harmoniously. They are men of the highest character and they have given satisfaction, I believe, to ninety-nine per cent. of the citizens of Philadelphia. I know of no newspaper articles which I have seen opposing these men. I have heard no criticisms against these men. Of course there have been criticisms of them, but they have not been substantial or valid. It is said that Mr. Cadwalader is not fair to the poor man. I do not believe that any man can be in public office without having received some criticism, but I know that he is a man of the highest reputation, a conscientious, faithful public servant, and I think it would be a great mistake, I know it would be a great mistake, to take Mr. Cadwalader's name from the list of registration commissioners. I am heartily opposed to this motion.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I come from Philadelphia and I am glad of the opportunity to vote to separate these names for confirmation, because I am opposed to the confirmation of Mr. Cadwalader and continuing him as one of the registrars of the City of Philadelphia and the ground for that opposition is based solely and alone upon the fact that no man who walks into that registration board, or no man who by reason of some dereliction on the part of something that he has not been able to overcome, received the proper treatment at their hands, whereas the people who have been traveling through Europe, who come home almost on the eve of election, have been permitted to register, but the poor man has been denied that right of registration. The treatment of the people who are in Republican politics in Philadelphia by Mr. Cadwalader has been obnoxious and disgraceful, and his absolute partisanship, not as a Democrat, not as a Republican, but as to his own personal ideals, has been offensive not only to the First ward, but from the First to the Forty-seventh ward, and he is not a fit man to sit as an arbiter of the people to be placed on the registration list of the city of Philadelphia.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, just a word more. Mr. Cadwalader has evidently been thought a proper person by three Governors.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I want to take exception to the fact that Mr. Tener sent that name in. That is not a fact. This is a nomination sent in from the time of Governor Stuart.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I must differ because this was one of the list of general nominations made by Governor Stuart and sent in by Governor Tener after he became Governor of Pennsylvania.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, the appointment was made by Governor Stuart and, of course, the nomination was sent over from the Governor's office.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, however that may be, the question is whether he is a proper person to be a member of the Board of Registration Commissioners. There I must differ from the Senator from Philadelphia, and it does seem to me it would be unfair to this man, whose family has the reputation of the highest character in the city of Philadelphia, it is very unfair that he should meet with these charges on the last day of the session without any possible chance to make himself heard and put up a defense against these charges.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I think possibly the greatest grievance against Mr. Cadwalader is that his forefathers were great men. That fact possibly is the reason why the people of Philadelphia from the First to the Forty-seventh ward object to him and I think that in his position in the city of Philadelphia as a Judge—and they are looked upon as Judges—a man, no matter how humble his station in life may be, is entitled to the same consideration from that Board of Registrars that he should receive in any court of justice, and the lowly man, the man whose social standing does not come up to the station of Mr. Cadwalader is the man that receives his blow, and we who are here fighting this man's nomination are fighting him because he does not know the people, he only knows the upper class of people. He is an unfit man for a Judge, because in his position he is a Judge, an unfair Judge, and we are not supporting him for that among other reasons, and I say his downfall is due possibly to the fact that his forefathers were great men, and for that reason he does not understand the common people.

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I just want to say a word in behalf of Mr. Cadwalader. I come from the district of Philadelphia and the complaints that I have heard made on this floor to-night are a surprise to me. I have been associated with the Democratic party for a number of years and I have the first time yet among my Democratic friends to ever hear any complaint of Mr. Cadwalader, and I hope the gentlemen who represent this body here to-night will be wise in their judgment and endorse Mr. Cadwalader. I am speaking now for my Democratic friends who are in Philadelphia. I think he is a man who deserves consideration, due consideration for his past work. He has been faithful to our people, which I know, and the Democratic representatives who are here from our district can verify everything I say and everything that Senator McIlhenny has said.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion that the name of John Cadwalader be omitted?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. McILHENNY and Mr. HEACOCK, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28.

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE APPOINTMENT BY THE GOVERNOR OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE THE METHOD OF INFLICTING THE DEATH PENALTY IN PENNSYLVANIA AND OTHER STATES AND COUNTRIES.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McCONNELL offered the following resolution, which was twice read as follows:

Resolved, by the Senate of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the House of Representatives concur), That the Governor is hereby authorized and directed to appoint a commission to consist of three citizens of this Commonwealth, whose duty it shall be to investigate the method of inflicting the death penalty in this and in other States and countries; to investigate the expediency of selecting a site centrally located and of easy access where all criminals sentenced to death in this Commonwealth may be executed; to select approximately such a site if it shall seem proper to said commission; to investigate the expediency and propriety of making any change in the present method of inflicting the death penalty in this Commonwealth; and to recommend such new method or methods as to the commission shall seem proper.

This commission shall serve without compensation, but the members thereof shall be entitled to their expenses actually and necessarily incurred by them or any of them in the performance of the duties herein prescribed.

This commission shall report in writing to the Governor before the first day of September one thousand nine hundred and twelve; said report shall contain the result of the investigation and examinations made by the commission, and shall also contain such recommendations and suggestions as to the commission shall seem proper or as the Governor may require. The Governor shall transmit said report with any additional suggestions or recommendations to the General Assembly during the session of one thousand nine hundred and thirteen for its consideration.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to suspend Rule 39 in order to consider the resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The resolution was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, before this bill is voted on I would like to say a word.

This bill, introduced by Representative Fitzgerald, of Montgomery county, provides that the trolley companies may be compelled to remove their tracks to the middle of the highway instead of one track on each side of the road, as at present. Under this condition persons traveling on foot must run the risk of being run down by cars on the tracks or automobiles in the center of the road. There are no sidewalks, or is it possible to construct any, as the trolley tracks run close to the side of the road. To my knowledge there have been a number of fatal accidents; Patrick Lee at Melrose, Frank Flack above Noble Station and John Canning at Abington were run down by automobiles while walking in the center of the road, the only place they had to go. If the bill becomes a law the commissioners in any township may compel the trolley companies to move the tracks to the center of the highway and pavements may be constructed along the side. Should the commissioners refuse to order trolley companies to move the tracks, the court of common pleas in the county is authorized to order the change.

Mr. President, when the trolley companies constructed their tracks along the York road it was comparatively a sparsely settled section from what it is now. At that time there were no automobiles and there were no objections to the trolley companies' tracks being placed at the side of the road, as they are at present. Now, after it is settled the way it is, it is absolutely necessary that sidewalks should be constructed there that people can have some place to walk on instead of walking in the middle of the road, where they are liable to be run down and killed.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Heacock, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, what effect would that have on the tracks as they are now? Would it compel the railroad companies to move them if the borough so desired?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, it would. I would like to say that in the borough of Jenkintown the tracks were placed in the center of the York road and in the township of Abington, which is now a first-class township, they are along the side and there is no chance to put sidewalks there.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, will the Senator permit me to interrogate him further?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if they were glad to get the railways there at the time they gave them the privileges.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, they consented to them.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, weren't they public benefactors?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, yes; they are now.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Heacock, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, if there are two tracks in the middle of the road, how are you going to separate the pedestrians from the automobiles?

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, the tracks at the side of the road are T rails. If they were put in the center of the road they would have to be flat rails, as they are in the borough of Jenkintown. The people would have a right to drive over them as they do in the city or borough and there would be that much more road to travel.

Mr. VARE. Mr. President, I do not see how automobiles and cars could travel on the same track in country roads.

Mr. HEACOCK. Mr. President, the automobiles would travel at the side of the tracks wherever they could and there would be room for sidewalks at the side.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

NAYS—2.

DeWitt Herbst

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Senate Bill No. 1240 (House No. 860), entitled:

An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive Judicial and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and eleven and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and eleven known as the general appropriation bill, which has just been distributed to the Senators on their desks.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I move to recommit this bill to the Committee on Appropriations, upon this proposition, gentlemen of the Senate: I was led to believe from the beginning of this session that there would be an increase in the appropriation for the common schools of this State. I find that there is no increase for the common schools of this State. Every other department of this State, the officers and the appropriations for them have been increased. If anything the appropriations to the public school system have been decreased, because the High schools get fifty thousand dollars more. As it stands, the public school system of this State receives $6,250,000 a year instead of $7,250,000, because the high schools of this State, Normal schools and County Superintendents get $1,500,000. I submit to the members of the Senate, it is not dealing with the public school system of this State in a fair way, and the appropriation should be increased, and I move that the bill be recommitted to the committee for amendments in that regard.

I believe, Mr. President, that the revenues of this State are sufficient to increase the appropriation to the common schools. They have been sufficient to increase it for every other institution, private and public and semi-private—everything in the State of Pennsylvania secured an appropriation, an increased appropriation, except the common school system. Therefore, I move that this bill be recommitted for amendment in that regard.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I will state ror the benefit of the members of the Senate that in the consideration of the appropriation for public schools it is obligatory for the chairman of both the House and the Senate Committee to resort to the Department of Public Instruction and from him, as they do to all other departments of this great government of ours, and ask him to submit to us the amount necessary to carry on the public school system in Pennsylvania for the next two years. This we have done through the Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Schaeffer. He not only gave us the amount that is necessary, in acordance with two years ago, but also the amount to take care of all the appropriations under the School Code, and he has submitted them to us and we are acting under his guidance. If he has misrepresented these facts to us it is not our fault. What other course can the chairman of the Appropriations Committee pursue? In every other department the same procedure prevails. If Mr. Snyder, the Senator from Schuylkill, can convince me that this is not taken care of through the sources which we receive it we will be very glad to send this bill back to committee.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, in answer to the Senator from Allegheny, the appropriation for 1909 for the public schools was $15,000,000. The appropriation under this proposed bill for public schools is $15,000,000. The Normal Schools we have in the State of Pennsylvania and the county superintendents receive out of that appropriation $1,500,000. The public schools receive $13,000,000. Under the office of public instruction, if you increase the salaries of assistant superintendents, I admit that they were increased or provided for, but that is a small sum as compared to the increases for other departments of this State, and I say to the Senator from Pittsburg it is not the business of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to go before the Committee on Appropriations and demand and solicit an appropriation to the public school system of the State. It is the business of the Appropriation Committee to see that the public school system of this State gets sufficient money, and that in proportion more than other departments of this State, and it is only fair. The people of this State demand it. They say you give the farmer $1,000,000 for plowed roads, highways, $1,500,000; and the Health department gets three or four or five million dollars, and, on the other hand, reduces the application of the Health Department five hundred thousand dollars. They increased the appropriation for private institutions a million and a half dollars and six weeks ago we were informed there was no money for any other purpose. I thought that this bill for common schools would be increased at least one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, and this evening not a member of this Assembly has had an opportunity to find out what is in this bill, and only by chance this afternoon did I learn that not one cent more had been provided for common school system, yet every other department in this State, county, borough and township expenses have increased. The School Code provides salaries of the teachers with an increase from forty-five to fifty dollars a month and paid out of the appropriations. Not one cent has been provided for that. I submit, members of this Senate, the Superintendent of Public Instruction may not have been persistent with the Appropriations Committee.

I have no fault to find with the Appropriations Committee. They have their troubles and that is their business and we are not here to sympathize with them. Their business is to deliver and to see that the money is properly appropriated. They say there is no one here for that purpose, and yet I am informed every fiscal year there are two or three million dollars in the State Treasury unexpended or unappropriated. I submit at least part of that money should go to the public school system. Look over this calendar and you will find every other department of government of the State has been increased but the common school system, and I submit it should go back to the committee for amendment.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, I don't know anything about this bill. It was placed upon my desk five minutes ago, and I defy anybody to look over this bill in five minutes and then be asked to vote upon a bill of this kind carrying immense appropriations, and I upon general principles object to being forced to vote upon a bill of this kind within five minutes after it is placed upon my desk. I ask in all kindness from the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee that he at least give us a chance to glance over the bill for half an hour.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, this is not the first time that I have heard the honorable gentleman from Berks say to the Senate of Pennsylvania that he has not had an opportunity to look over bills. I want to state for the benefit of the Senator from Berks that this bill has been on the calendar for the last ten days. If he has been negligent in not looking over this it is his fault and not the rest of the people in the Senate of Pennsylvania. That bill with only a few amendments has been on that calendar for the last ten days.

To the Senator from Schuylkill permit me to say that if the committee has not faith and confidence in the heads of departments it is time that those department heads should be changed. I want to say that the Appropriations Committee do not desire to shirk their duty in any way and if any committee has ever been vigilant and awake it has been the Appropriations Committee of the House and Senate at this time, if I am obliged to say it myself.

The head of the Department of Public Instruction is not obliged to go to the Appropriations Committee of the Senate of Pennsylvania and beg for money. I just told the Senator from Schuylkill a few moments ago that we sent to the different department heads and asked them the amount necessary to carry on the different departments for the next two years. If they are in error, do not blame the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee; lay the wrong at the place where it should be laid.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kline, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, with pleasure.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, how much is the balance at the end of the fiscal year of the State of Pennsylvania estimated to be for 1911 after all the appropriations are provided for?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, in answer to that, that is a matter that is beyond my knowledge.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, the balance can be estimated.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, the amount in the Treasury will be impossible to calculate owing to the change in the amount receivable at the State Treasury every year. All we know is the knowledge we obtained from the two fiscal officers, namely, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, also taken up subsequently by the Governor, the amount we can conservatively appropriate the next two years without impairing the money in the State Treasury. That amount this year we are informed was $58,000,000 You nor I nor any one of the fiscal officers can conjecture even the amount that will be in the treasury after these appropriations are made during the two years beginning June first, nineteen hundred and eleven.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I will insist upon my motion.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Kline.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Alleghenhy, Mr. Kline, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HALL. Mr. President, what will be the effect if the motion of the Senator from Schuylkill prevails? Can the bill be passed?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, It is obligatory that this bill should pass to-night or else the general appropriation bill within the next two years will fail. This is the last legislative day.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, I have been a member of the Appropriations Committee for a number of years and this is the first time that I ever knew that recommendations of superintendents of State institutions were taken. I had an experience this afternoon that I doubt if any member of the Appropriations Committee or any member of the Senate has ever had. There was a State institution that asked for a certain appropriation, which was granted. It was to be devoted to the different departments of this institution but the Chairman of the House Committee having a personal grievance emphatically refused to give it any consideration, stating that he could not stand for what the superintendent recommended. The gentleman, who is the Chairman of the House Committee, is the superintendent of a semi-State institution, and his recommendations for his institutions have always been taken and the recommendations of the absolute State institutions has absolutely never been taken. I have been in the habit of going along with everything that has come up on the floor, and I would be only too glad to do that at this time, but when they take personalities into consideration I think we should have at least an opportunity to investigate the contents of this bill.

It is true that it possibly has been on our calendar for ten days, yet possibly not a member here to-night knows what these amendments are, and I defy any member of the Senate to look over this bill in one hour, unless he is familiar with it, and tell me and the other members of the Senate what those amendments are. Therefore, it is necessary to have this bill postponed at least for a while to give us an opportunity to see what is in this bill. I do not care to delay matters. I do not want to refer this back to the Committee particularly, but I would like to have an opportunity to read the bill so that I can vote intelligently and according to the dictates of my conscience.

Mr. TUSTIN. Mr. President, I do not want to reflect upon the work of the Appropriations Committee. I think this is the first Appropriations Committee that we have had for many years who have given us appropriations within anything like the revenues of the State, and I think they are to be congratulated. I believe they have done good hard conscientious work in endeavoring to work this matter out, but I do agree with the Senator from Schuylkill that the time has come that we should increase the appropriations to the common schools of the State, especially for our country districts. In the country districts the minimum salary for a long time has been forty dollars a month. The amount of instruction in the poor district of the State is seven months. That means seven times forty dollars a month or two hundred and eighty dollars per teacher for the entire year. Now that is less than is paid to almost any other profession. It is less than is paid any other business, and the wonder is that our schools in the country can get teachers. For that reason the School Code Commission asks that this be raised from forty to forty-five dollars per month. I have been hoping that the committee would see their way clear to increase the appropriations to the common schools of the State so that our common schools of the country districts could be taken care of, and I do hope, Mr. President, that some way can be found by which the committee can give us the additional appropriation. We have not had an additional appropriation for some two years to the common schools and I believe a million dollars can be added to the common schools of the State, five hundred thousand dollars a year, and still be within the revenue of the Commonwealth.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I feel very highly honored by the remarks of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Tustin, concerning the Appropriations Committee, and I want to say that we have tried our best, for the first time in a number of years, to keep the appropriations within the revenue of the State for the next two years, and if we are going to add more than the department of Public Instruction asks for, going to add here and there several hundred thousand dollars the hospitals and the homes of the State of Pennsylvania will be obliged to cut anywhere from fifteen to thirty-five per cent. Now it is a question whether or not the people who are well and are teaching school throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, whether they should not receive any increase in salary or whether the maimed or wounded and suffering throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are to suffer. That is the whole question in my mind with regards to raising the amount set forth in this appropriation bill.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, not to impose too much talk upon this Senate, I am at a loss to understand where the Appropriations Committee got the various sums that have been added to this bill in the last two days. I am not reflecting upon the ability of this committee, they are trying to do their full duty and this Senate will voice that in every particular, but the Senator from Allegheny has not convinced me that there is not sufficient revenue to increase the school appropriation. The other day there was an appropriation of a million dollars, never thought of, for certain institutions. They provided eighty thousand dollars in the last three days for certain other particulars; they provided fifty thousand dollars for the culture of chestnut trees, provided it for clover seed or the State forests, all within the last three weeks. This revenue could not be taken from the stars nor dug out of the ground at once, it was somewhere within the confines of the Treasury of this State, and this Appropriations Committee found it when the proper press was made. Now then because the Superintendent of Public Instruction may not have known the exact amount of money in the Treasury, there is no reason why this Committee should not have found it. I am a member of that committee, and I submit I have never been able to find out how much money has been appropriated for the various institutions until this very evening by reading this bill, and nobody knows until this session is over how much money is appropriated, but there has been no argument made or any contentions produced here which give any reason to think that there is no money for an increase of the school appropriation of this State. It increased every officer, the head of every department almost in this State, judges salary over fifty thousand dollars a year. That was all unthought of two weeks ago, and this money came from some source. I submit to the members of this Senate that we should not let this bill go through unless there is an increase to the school appropriation of this State. It is unfair to the people of this State, not the farmer alone or the miner, but everybody. I am not talking for anybody in particular but I am talking for the interest of every school-child in this State.

High Schools have received four hundred and fifty thousand dollars, fifty thousand dollars more than they did heretofore, the common schools received nothing. I submit, this money is somewhere and we do not need to borrow it either, but it can be provided for if the proper method is taken. I ask the members of this Senate to refer this back to the Committee and get the money.

Mr. HERBST. Mr. President, the Chairman of the Appropriations Committee has slurringly remarked that this is not the first time I have said I had not time to read a bill. I wish to say that this is the case, but I have not voted quite as often as he has under the direction of other people, maybe. I wish the Senator to understand that I did read the original bill. I glanced over the original bill, but I defy any man in five minutes to look over this bill to find out what the amendments are. I merely asked an ordinary courtesy that a little time be given to glance over this bill before it is called up for a vote. I am not here to offer captious opposition to the general appropriation bill, but every gentleman in the Senate has a right to glance over this bill before a vote is taken upon it.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I do not want to take up any more time but I wish to answer the gentleman from Schuylkill that I told him the only people from whom he can receive the amounts available for the next two years are the Auditor General and the State Treasurer, and in answer to the Senator from Schuylkill that sixty or seventy or eightly thousand dollars have been added in the last few days I would also state for his benefit that we tried to do this in a business like way. There were bills in the process of passage and we contemplated the passage of those bills and we found out the amount of money and put it in the general appropriation bill with a privilo that should the bill pass the money is available, otherwise it is not.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, certainly.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. President, this bill since it was recommitted to the Appropriations Committee was amended in line thirteen hundred and thirty-five on page forty-eight and one hundred and fifty thousand dollars more money was given to a public road, the national road in the counties of Fayette, Somerset and Washington. Where did they find this money since this morning.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, in answer to the gentleman from Schuylkill I will state in regard to this road that according to figures given us by the Department of Highways the amount set aside was six hundred thousand dollars. It was an easy matter to cut down the six hundred thousand dollars to three hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

Agreeably to order.

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1240 (House No. 860), as follows:

An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Executive, Judicial and Legislative Departments of the Commonwealth, interest on the public debt and the support of the public schools for the two fiscal years beginning June first one thousand nine hundred and eleven, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and eleven.

Section 11 The incidental expenses for the enforcement of this act shall be paid out of the general fund appropriated for the office of the Commissioner of Banking

Section 12 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 13 This act shall go into effect the first day of December one thousand nine hundred and eleven and upon its approval the Commissioner of Banking shall mail a notice of its passage to each private banker then registered in the office of the Auditor General and it shall apply to all persons Now or hereafter engaging in said business except as provided in section eight of this act

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1194 (House No. 757), entitled:

An act fixing the fees and compensation of the sheriffs in this Commonwealth for the removal and conveying of prisoners to the penitentiary house of correction or reformatories or any insane person or habitual drunkard to a hospital or asylum for the same

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, as I understand this bill the county will now have to pay the cost where the prisoner or prisoners are sent to the penitentiary or house of correction where now either they or their friends must pay the expense. In addition to that this bill provides for three cents mileage which is quite a revenue for the sheriff, and by the purchase of mileage he can get it for two cents; and I do not see why the county should bear this expense, when the law now requires the individual or his friends or relatives to bear the expense. I can't understand the purpose of the act and I would like an explanation if any of the Senators can give it, why this bill should pass at this time.

Mr. JUDSON. Mr. President, as I undertand the situation, I am not the father of the bill, I think the situation in our county is that the sheriff takes the prisoner to the penitentiary or reform school and the bills are sent to the county and the county pays the bill. The trouble is that there are so many different counties that have different fee bills and in some counties the people hardly know which fee bill to use. This bill is to put it in shape so the people and officials will know what the fees are for the performance of duties of that kind.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HOUSE NON-CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO SENATE BILL NO. 800.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House of Representatives has non-concurred in the amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 265, entitled:

An act relating to roads providing for the election and appointment of township supervisors in second class townships defining their powers duties and limitations relating to road tax and the expenditure thereof abolishing the work tax defining certain duties of the clerk of the court fixing the penalties for violation of this act and making an appropriation to carry out its provisions

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I move that the Senate insist upon its amendments non-concurred in by the House and that a committee of conference be appointed to confer with a similar committee of the House (if the House shall appoint such committee) to consider the differences existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. Prsident, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That Messrs. Sproul, Thomson and Kline be such committee on the part of the Senate.

AMENDMENT TO HOUSE BILL NO. 608 RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR.

He also presented for concurrence bill of the House of Representatives as follows:

House Bill No. 608, entitled:

An act to regulate the doing of business in this Commonwealth by foreign corporations the registration thereof and service of process thereon and providing punishment and penalties for the violation of its provisions and repealing previous legislation on the subject said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment.

The vote had on final passage and third reading on said bill were reconsidered in the House and the bill amended in which amendments the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

The amendments were twice read as follows:

By striking out in section four the words "contracts of bailments contracts of pledge and;" also in line thirty-three by striking out the words "contracts of bailments contracts of pledge and;" also in line thirty-nine by striking out the words "contracts of bailments contracts of pledge and"

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, Senate Bill No. 1243, on third reading, entitled:

An act declaring all employes of public service and utility companies associations or persons engaged in business in this Commonwealth for the purposes of this act to be public servants and providing for the adjustment and settlement of disputes and differences between such employes and their employers resulting in strikes or lockouts by Boards of Arbitration and creating and regulating such boards

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 1244 (House No. 353), entitled:

An act to promote the safety of travelers and employes upon railroads by compelling common carriers by railroad to properly man their trains

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend the bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. NULTY. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, I move that the vote by which this bill passed second reading be reconsidered.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

A division was called for and seventeen Senators voting in the affirmative and twenty-five in the negative it was not agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SONES. Mr. President, the reason I wished to amend was for the purpose of taking care of narrow guage or purely industrial roads. There are a number of these roads conducted purely for industrial purposes. There is no exception in the bill to take care of them. If it were a bill providing for purely trunk line roads I would be in favor of the bill, but in justice to the people who have narrow guage roads I am opposed to the bill and therefore would like to have it defeated on final passage.

Mr. WILBERT. Mr. President, there could not be any change in this bill to make it constitutional between a narrow guage and broad guage; therefore it is necessary to act on the bill in its present form to make it constitutional.

Shall the bill pass finally?

CONSIDERATION OF REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL NO. 378.

Mr. KLINE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to consider at this time the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 378.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The report of the Committee of Conference was read as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned Committee of Conference for the consideration of Senate Bill No. 378, entitled "An Act making an appropriation for the erection of a proper fence or coping and pavement to protect a monument erected near Petersburg, Virginia, by the Association of the Survivors of the Forty-eighth Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, to commemorate the Battle of the Crater, and providing for a Commission and expenses thereof to erect the same," beg leave to submit the following amended bill as their report:

CHARLES H. KLINE,
T. M. KURTZ,
FRANK E. BALDWIN
Committee on the part of the Senate
JAS. F. WOODWARD,
W. F. WHITMAN,
FRANK J. KLUMPP,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

An act making an appropriation for the erection of a proper fence or coping and pavement to protect a monument erected near Peterburg Virginia by the Association of the Survivors of the Forty-eighth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers to commemorate the Battle of the Crater and providing for a Commission and the expenses thereof to erect the same

Whereas The Association of the Survivors of the Forty-eighth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers of the late rebellion erected a monument near Petersburg Virginia to commemorate the Battle of the Crater and

Whereas said monument has been put in place and properly dedicated and is in close proximity to a monument erected by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to commemorate the services of the Pennsylvania soldiers who constituted the third division of the ninth corps of the Army of the Potomac and

Whereas The said monument erected by the said Association of the Survivors of the Forty-eighth Regiment is not properly enclosed and needs a fence or coping and pavement to properly protect it and the Association of the Forty-eighth Regiment being too poor to provide the same therefor

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the sum of four hundred and fifty-eight dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary be and the same is hereby specifically appropriated for the purpose of constructing erecting a suitable fence coping and pavement for the proper protection of the monument erected by the survivors of the Forty-eighth Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers at or near Petersburg Virginia to commemorate the Battle of the Crater

Section 2 That the Governor of Pennsylvania shall appoint three persons who shall serve as a commission and without pay to carry out the purposes of this act Provided however That the actual expenses of the said Commission shall be paid out of the said appropriation

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the same?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

HOUSE ADOPTS REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 313.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives, informing the Senate that the House of Representatives has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 313.

Mr. SHIELDS. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the report of the Committee of Conference on House Bill No. 313.

Mr. KEYSER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

The report was read as follows:

To the members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We, the undersigned, committee of conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering House Bill No. 313, entitled "An Act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith," beg leave to submit the following amended bill as our report:

MOSES SHIELDS,
FRANK E. BALDWIN,
DAVID HUNTER, JR.,
Committee on the part of the Senate.
TIMOTHY PITCHFORD,
GEORGE W. RICHARDS,
JOHN M. FLYNN,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

Definitions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purpose of this act the terms and definitions contained therein shall be as follows

Mine In this act the term "mine" includes the shafts slopes drifts or incline planes connected with excavations penetrating coal stratum or strata which excavations are ventilated by one general air current or divisions thereof and connected by one general system of mine railroads over which coal may be delivered to one or more points outside the mine when such is operated by one operator

Excavations and Workings The term "excavations and workings" includes all the excavated portions of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually being worked also all underground workings and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings and all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in the course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Shaft The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata that is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material or both in connection with the mining of coal

Slope The term "slope" means an incline or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Operator The term "operator" means any firm corporation or individual operating any coal mine or any part thereof

Superintendent The term "superintendent" means the person who shall have on behalf of the operator immediate supervision of one or more mines

Mine Foreman The term "mine foreman" means the person whom the operator or superintendent shall place in charge of the inside workings of the mine and of the persons employed therein

Inspector The term "inspector" means the person commissioned by the Governor to have supervision of mines as hereinafter prescribed

Bituminous Mines The term "bituminous mines" shall include all coal mines in the State not now included in the anthracite boundaries and whenever the term "mine" appears in this act it shall be construed to mean "bituminous coal mine"

Approved Safety Lamp The term "approved safety lamp" shall mean any bonneted safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines

ARTICLE II

Maps and Plans

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of any bituminous coal mine shall make or cause to be made by a competent mining engineer or surveyor an accurate map of the mine on a scale of not less than two hundred feet to the inch which map shall show as follows

First All the openings excavations shafts slopes drifts tunnels planes main entries cross entries and rooms and the name or number of each

Second An accurate delineation of the boundary lines between said mine and all adjoining mines or coal lands and the relation and proximity of the workings of said mine to all adjoining mines or coal lands and if requested by the inspector the blue print in the office at the mines shall show by arrows the direction of the air currents in said mine each split to show in different color in pencil

Third The elevation above or below mean tide at Sandy Hook of the top and bottom of each shaft and slope of all drifts tunnels planes and of the faces of entries as found at each semi-annual survey and in rooms and entries adjacent to boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines at points not more than three hundred feet apart also the number of last survey station and the date of such survey on the entries as they are represented on the map the location of streams rivers lakes dams or any other bodies of water on the surface with their elevations accurately and plainly marked the location and elevation of any body of water dammed in the mine or held back in any portion of the mine giving the true area of said body of water unless inaccessible before the passage of this act the location of all bore holes penetrating the coal strata and the location of all oil and gas wells and oil and gas pipe lines Provided however for the purpose of this paragraph the owner or owners of the oil and gas wells and the oil and gas pipe lines shall furnish at his their or its own expense to the operator of the mine on which said wells are located or lines are constructed a survey showing the location thereof within sixty days after the passage of this act or within a like time after the construction or location of wells and pipe lines hereafter made

Section 2 When the workings of a mine are within three hundred feet of the boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines application shall be made by the operator or the superintendent to the inspector for information as to the proximity of the workings of such adjoining mine or mines and if the workings of such adjoining mine or mines are at their nearest point within three hundred feet of such boundary line the inspector shall so notify the said operator or the said superintendent who shall have such portion of the workings of said adjoining mine or mines surveyed and shown on the map of the mine first mentioned For the purpose of making only the survey herein required the engineer or surveyor of any mine shall have the right of entry into any adjoining mine on the written authority of the inspector

Section 3 A true copy of said map shall be kept in the mine office at the mine for the use of the mine officials and the inspector and for the inspection (in the presence of the superintendent or the mine foreman) of any person working in said mine whenever said person shall fear that any working place is becoming dangerous by reason of its proximity to other workings that may contain dangerous accumulations of water or noxious gases

Section 4 At least once every six months the operator or the superintendent of every mine shall cause to be shown accurately on the original map of said mine and on the copy of the map in the mine office all the excavations made therein during the time that has elapsed since such excavations were last shown thereon

The operator or the superintendent at the request of the inspector in writing shall order that any portion of any mine shall be surveyed and entered on the original map when in the opinion of the inspector such portion of the mine is approaching accumulations of water or noxious gases And whenever any of the workings or excavations of any mine shall be driven to their destination it shall be the duty of the operator or the superintendent to cause the mining engineer or surveyor to check up all his previous work and notes of said mine so that he can certify that the said map shows correctly all the excavations made therein as he is required to do by section six of this article

Section 5 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall furnish the inspector of the district with a true and correct copy of the aforesaid original map of said mine on tracing cloth and at the end of every six months thereafter the inspector shall return said copy to the operator or the superintendent who shall place or cause to be placed thereon all the extensions made and all portions of the mine worked out or abandoned during the preceding six months as provided for in section four of this article and shall forward the map to the inspector within thirty days from the time of receiving it Provided that in lieu of the map on tracing cloth as aforesaid the operator or the superintendent shall have the privilege of furnishing every six months a blue print showing the complete workings of the mine to date When more than one seam of coal is being worked in any mine the inspector shall be provided with a separate copy of the original map on tracing cloth or a blue print of the complete workings of each seam as provided for in this article The copies of the maps of the several mines as hereinbefore required to be furnished to the inspector shall remain in the care of the inspector of the district in which said mines are situated as official records pertaining strictly to the office of said inspector to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall any copy thereof be made or any information therefrom be given to any person without the consent of the operator except as provided for in section two of this article

Section 6 Whenever a mine is worked out or abandoned the operator or the superintendent shall within sixty days thereafter extend the inspector's map to show clearly all the worked-out or abandoned territory with all property and boundary lines and elevations as required in section one of this article

The owner or the operator of the abandoned mine shall also within sixty days after its abandonment send to the Department of Mines a tracing of said complete original map which shall be kept in the Department as a public document The mining engineer or surveyor shall certify that said tracing is a true and correct copy of the original map of said mine and that the original map is a true complete and correct map and survey of all the excavations made in said abandoned mine

Section 7 If the inspector shall have reason to believe that any map of any mine furnished to him in pursuance of the provisions of this article is inaccurate or imperfect he is hereby authorized to have made a survey and a new map of said mine The cost of said survey and map shall be recoverable from the operator as other debts are recoverable by law Provided however that if the map claimed by the inspector to be inaccurate or imperfect shall be found sufficiently accurate to serve the purpose for which it is intended then the Commonwealth shall be liable for the expense incurred in making said survey and map which expense shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General issued upon the presentation of voucher approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines

ARTICLE III

Duties of Mine Superintendent Mine Supplies

Section 1 It shall be the duty of every superintendent on behalf and at the expense of the operator to keep on hand at each mine at all times a sufficient quantity of all materials and supplies required to preserve the health and safety of the employes as ordered by the mine foreman and required by this act If for any reason the superintendent cannot procure the necessary materials or supplies as aforesaid he shall at once notify the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to withdraw the men from the mine or portion of mine until such materials or supplies are received

The superintendent shall at least once every week read examine carefully and countersign all reports entered in the mine record book by the mine foreman and if he finds on such examination that the law is being violated in any particular he shall order the mine foreman to stop said violation forthwith and shall see that his order is complied with

Section 2 The superintendent shall not obstruct the mine foreman or other officials in the fulfillment of any of their duties as required by this act but he shall direct that the mine foreman and all the other employes under him comply with the law in all its provisions especially when his attention is called by the inspector to any violation of the law. At any mine where a superintendent is not employed the duties that are herein prescribed for the superintendent shall devolve upon the mine foreman in addition to his regular duties

Section 3 The superintendent of every mine shall provide a sufficient number of danger signals upon request of the mine foreman which the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall distribute in the mine at places convenient for the use of the fire bosses in the fulfillment of their duties Danger signals in all mines shall be uniform and of a design approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines All danger signals shall be kept in good condition and no defective signal shall be allowed to remain in any mine

Section 4 The superintendent shall keep on hand at the mine a supply of the printed rules and notices and record books required by this act which shall be furnished through the inspector of the district on request of the superintendent in writing The superintendent shall see that said rules and notices and record books are delivered to the proper persons at the mine and that they are properly cared for and he shall also see that the rules and notices are posted in conspicuous places at or near the entrance to the mine and kept in such condition that they will always be legible

Section 5 The superintendent shall not permit the mining of coal within fifty feet of any abandoned mine containing a dangerous accumulation of water until said danger has been removed by driving a passageway to tap and drain off said water as provided for in this act Provided that the thickness of the barrier pillars shall be greater and shall be in proportion of one foot of pillar thickness to each one and one-quarter feet of water-head if in the judgment of the engineer of the property and that of the district inspector it is necessary for the safety of the persons working in the mine

Section 6 The superintendent shall provide a safety catch or other safety device to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of full trips that are being hoisted up slopes and he shall also provide suitable signals to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of all trips hauled in the mines by locomotives of any kind

Section 7 If the mine foreman the assistant mine foreman or the fire boss neglects his duties or incapacitates himself by drunkenness or is incapacitated by any other cause for the proper performance of his duties and information thereof shall be brought to the knowledge of the superintendent it shall be the duty of the superintendent to make a thorough investigation of the case and if he finds evidence to sustain the charge he shall inform the inspector who shall inform the court of common pleas of the county or a judge thereof by petition and said court or judge when the court is not in session shall issue a citation in the name of the Commonwealth to the said mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss to appear at not less than five days' notice upon a day fixed before said court or a judge thereof at which time the court shall proceed to inquire into and investigate the allegations If the court finds the allegations to be true it shall notify the Department of Mines of such finding and instruct said Department to withdraw the certificate of said delinquent Provided however that he shall have the right to appear before the Examining Board and be re-examined and if he can satisfy the Board that he has reformed and passes a satisfactory examination he shall be given another certificate of qualification When the court orders the certificate of a mine foreman an assistant mine foreman or a fire boss to be withdrawn the inspector shall notify the operators of the district of the fact

Section 8 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall within thirty days thereafter send to the inspector notices of the following occurrences

First When a mine has been abandoned or the working thereof discontinued

Second When any work has commenced for the purpose of opening a new mine

Third When the working of a mine is resumed after an abandonment or a discontinuance for a period exceeding two months

Fourth When any change occurs in the name of a mine or in the name of the operator of a mine under the provisions of this act

Mine Foreman and His Duties

Section 1 In order to secure efficient management and proper ventilation of the mines to promote the health and safety of the persons employed therein and to protect and preserve the property connected therewith the operator or the superintendent shall employ a competent and practical mine foreman for every mine where ten or more persons are employed The mine foreman shall have full charge of all the inside workings and of the persons employed therein in order that all the provisions of this act so far as they relate to his duties shall be complied with and the regulations prescribed for each class of workmen under his charge carried out in the strictest manner possible If the mine is generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman must possess a first grade foreman's certificate If the mine is non-gaseous the mine foreman must possess either a first grade foreman's certificate or a second grade mine foreman's certificate

When the mine workings become so extensive that the mine foreman is unable personally to carry out the requirements of this act pertaining to his duties he shall have the right to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall act under his instructions in carrying out the provisions of this act If the mine is generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an aprpoved safety lamp the mine foreman's assistants must possess first grade assistant mine foreman's certificates

In case of the necessary temporary absence of the mine foreman he may deputize his work for the time being to his assistant who shall perform all the duties of the mine foreman

Section 2 The mine foreman shall devote the whole of his time to his duties in the mine when the mine is in operation and shall keep a careful watch over the ventilating apparatus the ventilation airways traveling ways timbering and drainage and shall see that all stoppings along airways are properly built as provided for in section five of article nine of this act

He shall also see that proper cut-throughs are made in the pillars of all rooms and of all entries in accordance with section three of article nine of this act and that they are closed when necessary so that the ventilating current can be conducted in sufficient quantity through the last cut-through to the face of each room and entry by means of check doors He shall not permit any room or entry to be turned in advance of the ventilating current or in advance of the last cut-through in the entry excepting room necks which may with the consent of the inspector be turned by entrymen driving entries

Section 3 The mine foreman or his assistant shall at least once every week measure the air current at or near the main inlet and outlet airway and also in the last cut-through in the last room and in the entry beyond the last room turned in each entry and make a record of said measurements as provided for in section eighteen of this article Said measurements shall be taken on days when the men are at work and for making said measurements an anemometer shall be provided and kept in good condition by the superintendent of the mine

Section 4 In case of accident to a ventilating fan or its machinery whereby the ventilation of the mine would be seriously interrupted the mine foreman shall order the men to withdraw immediately from the mine and he shall not allow them to return to their work until the ventilation has been restored and the mine has been thoroughly examined by him or by an assistant mine foreman or fire boss and reported safe

Section 5 The mine foreman shall notiy the superintendent in writing whenever in his opinion the mine is becoming dangerous through the lack of ample ventilation at the face of entries rooms and other portions of the mine caused by the undue length of entries and airways or from any other cause resulting in the accumulation of gas or coal dust or both in various portions of the mine The superintendent shall then notify the inspector of the report of the mine foreman requesting him to come and make a personal examination and if he finds it is becoming dangerous he shall at once direct the superintendent to proceed to have it put in safe condition and if necessary have an additional opening of ample dimensions sunk from the surface to the interior which opening can be used as an outlet or inlet for the air and also as an escapeway in case of necessity

In all mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall see that when the permanent station of the fire boss is located a mile or more from the entrance to the mine all abandoned finished or unfinished workings in the intervening distance between the permanent station and the entrance to the mine are completly shut off from the main intake or manway headings of the mine by stoppings of masonry concrete or some other incombustible material of sufficient thickness to keep the explosive or noxious gases from coming in contact with the intake air or with the persons employed therein

Section 6 The mine foreman shall direct and see that every working place is properly secured by props or timbers and shall see that no person is directed or permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it safe He shall also see that the workmen are provided with sufficient props cap pieces and timbers of suitable size which shall be delivered at the working faces or as near thereto as they can be conveyed in mine cars when requested by the workmen in accordance with section seven of this article. He shall also see that props are cut square at both ends and as near as practicable to the proper length required or designated for the places where they are to be used

Section 7 Every workman in need of props cap pieces and timbers shall notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman (or any other person delegated by the mine foreman) of the fact at least one day in advance giving the number size and length of props cap pieces and timbers required In case of emergency the timber may be ordered immediately upon the discovery of danger If for any reason the necessary timbers cannot be supplied when required the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman shall instruct the workmen to vacate the place until the timber needed is supplied

The place and manner of leaving the orders for props cap pieces and timbers shall be designated and specified in the rules of the mine

Section 8 The mine foreman shall see that on all animal and mechanical hauling roads holes for shelter shall be cut into the strata not less than two and one-half feet deep and four feet wide and level with the road at least every thirty yards and kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are driven at regular intervals not exceeding ninety feet provided that the entrance to each room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet On all main hauling roads on which hauling is done by machinery shelter holes shall be cut into the strata not less than two and one-half feet deep and at least four feet wide and level with the road and not more than fifteen yards apart and said shelter holes shall be kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are opened at regular intervals not exceeding forty-five feet Provided That the entrance to such room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet All shelter holes shall be made on the same side of the entry All entries driven after the passage of this act shall have a clear space of two and one-half feet from the side of the car to the rib which shall be made and continued throughout on one side of the entry if in the judgment of the inspector the condition of the roof will permit and shall be kept clear of obstruction

No person except officials or repairmen shall be permitted to travel on slopes gravity or incline planes while the cars thereon are in motion

Section 9 The mine foreman shall direct that the coal is properly mined before it is blasted "Properly mined" shall mean that the coal shall be undercut center-cut top-cut or sheared by pick or machine and in any case the undercutting shall be as deep as the holes are laid In mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp when the coal seam is five feet six inches or more in thickness "properly mined shall mean that in all entries less than ten feet wide wherein the coal is undercut it shall also be sheared on one side as deep as the undercutting before any holes are charged and fired or the coal shall be blasted in sections by placing the first holes near the center of the coal seam He shall also direct that the miner set sprags as often as necessary at a distance not exceeding seven feet apart under the breast of undermined or center-mined coal for safety. The mine foreman shall direct at what hours blasting shall be done in the mine and a notice of the time shall be posted at a conspicuous place at the mine and a copy of the notice shall be kept on file at the mine office Provided however that in districts in which it has been the common practice to blast coal from the solid said practice or method may be continued notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein contained

In such portions of a dry and dusty mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary

The mine foreman shall direct and see that as the miners advance in their excavation all dangerous and doubtful pieces of coal slate and rock overhead are taken down or at once carefully secured against falling on the workmen Any workman who neglects to carry out or disobeys the instructions of the mine foreman or his assistant in regard to securing his working place shall be suspended or discharged by the mine foreman and if such negligence or disobedience results in serious injury or loss of life to any person the mine foreman shall give the name of said workman to the inspector for prosecution in accordance with section two article twenty-six of this act

Section 10 The mine foreman shall give prompt attention to the removal of all dangers reportd to him by his ossistants the fire boss or by any other person working in the mine and in case it is impracticable to remove the danger at once he shall notify every person whose safety is menaced thereby to remain away from the portion where the dangerous conditions exist He or his assistant shall once each week travel and examine all the air courses and roads and all the openings that give access to old workings or falls and make a record of the condition of all places where danger has been found with ink in the book provided for that purpose

In all mines the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure a visit to each working place either by himself or by his assistants once each day while the employes are at work and in addition thereto shall give special care oversight and attention to the men drawing pillars particularly when falls are thereby being made. The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman under intructions from the mine foreman shall dire ctthat the holes for blasting be properly placed and shall designate the angle and depth of holes which shall not be deeper than the undercutting centercutting top-cutting or shearing and the maximum quantity of explosives required for each hole and the method of charging and tamping instructions shall be given the men by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss or other authorized person as to when where and how timber shall be placed so as to avoid accidents from falls and also in a general way how to mine coal with safety to themselves and others

At the end of each shift each assistant mine foreman shall make a report in a book provided for that purpose giving the general condition as to safety of the working places visited by him and shall make a note of any unusual occurrence observed by him during the day The mine foreman shall read carefully the daily report of each assistant mine foreman and shall sign the reports with ink not later than the day following

Section 11 The mine foreman shall see that every mine generating explosive gas is kept free of standing gas in all working places and roadways Any accumulating of explosive gas or noxious gases in the worked-outor abandoned portioins of any mine shall be removed as soon as possible after its discovery if it is practicable to remove it No person who may be endangered by the presence of said explosive gas or noxious gases shall be allowed in that portion of the mine until said gases have been removed The mine foreman shall direct and see that all dangerous places and the entrance or entrances to workd-out and abandoned places in all mines are properly fenced off across the openings so that no person can enter and that danger signals are posted upon said fencing to warn persons of the existing danger

Section 12 In any mine where it has been found impracticable to remove explosive gas from the inaccessible top of a fall it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to make this fact known at once in writing to the superintendent who shall immediately report the same to the inspector requesting him to make a prompt personal investigation If the superintendent and the inspector are unable to devise means to have said explosive gas removed within a reasonable time the inspector shall direct that a bore hole or bore holes not less than six inches in diameter be drilled from the surface to a high point on said fall in order to give the gas an opening to escape to the surface

Section 13 In every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp where coal dust is being carried in the air currents in quantities indicating danger the mine foreman shall see that no person is employed to work in the mine until he has given satisfactory proof that he can do the work allotted to him without endangering the lives of his co-employes unless said person is put to work with an experienced miner whose duty it shall be to instruct such inexperienced person how to safely and properly perform his work

Section 14 In such portions of a mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an improved safety lamp and in which locked safety lamps are used the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of competent persons who are able to speak the English language to act as shot firers whose duty shall be to charge tamp and fire all holes properly placed by the miners and to refuse to charge any holes not properly placed No holes shall be fired by any person other than a shot firer They shall use none but incombustible material for tamping which the mine foreman shall see is provided for them at convenient places inside the mine. Under no condition shall the shot firer use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping All such holes shall be fired by an electric apparatus and no person other than the shot firer shall connect the wires of or operate said Apparatus Each shot firer shall keep a record of and report to the mine foreman every hole that he has refused to charge every blown out shot and every hole that has misfired It shall be the duty of shot firers and miners who are permitted by this act to fire their own shots to visit and examine the places where the shots have been fired before leaving the mine to see that there is no fire or any other danger existing

In all mines in which coal is blasted from the solid all holes shall be fired when all the workmen are out of the mine except the shot firers and other persons delegated by the mine foreman to safeguard property

No shot firer or any other person shall fire a shot in any working place and in any mine if his safety lamp can detect explosive gas at the roof In gaseous dusty mines in which locked safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired Provided however That in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with

Section 15 When operations are temporarily suspended in a mine the superintendent and the mine foreman shall see that danger signals are placed across the mine entrances which signals shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter the mine If the circulation of air through the mine be stopped each entrance to said mine shall be fenced off in such a manner as will ordinarily prevent persons from entering said mine and a danger signal shall be displayed upon said fence at each entrance The mine foreman shall see that all danger signals used in the mine are in good condition and if any become defective he shall notify the superintendent

Section 16 The mine foreman shall see that the water is drained out of the working places before the men enter and that the working places are kept as free from water as practicable during working hours

Section 17 In any working place that is being driven within supposedly dangerous proximity to an abandoned mine or portion of an abondoned mine suspected of containing explosive gas or that may contain a dangerous accumulation of water the mine foreman shall see that at least two bore holes shall be maintained not less than twelve feet in advance of the face and on each side of such working place bore holes of the same depth shall be drilled diagonally not more than eight feet apart and any place driven to tap water or gas shall not be more than eight feet wide No water or gas from an abandoned mine or portions of an abandoned mine and no bore hole from the surface shall be tapped until the employes except those engaged at such work are out of the mine and such work shall be done under the immediate instruction and direction of the mine foreman with the use of locked safety lamps

Section 18 The mine foreman shall each day enter plainly and sign with ink in a book provided for that purpose a report of the condition of the mine which report shall clearly state any danger that may have come under his observation during the day or any danger reported to him by his assistants or the fire bosses The report shall also state whether or not there is a proper supply of material on hand for the safe working of the mine and whether or not the requirements of the law are complied with He shall also once each week enter plainly with ink in said book a true report of all air measurements required by this act designating the place the area of each cut-through and entry separately the velocity of the air in each cut-through and entry and the number of men employed in each separate split of air with the date when measurements were taken Said book shall at all times be kept in the mine office at the mine for examination by the inspector and by any person working in the mine in the presence of the mine foreman

The mine foreman shall also each day read carefully and countersign with ink all reports entered in the record book of the fire bosses

Section 19 The mine foreman shall once each week on blank forms provided for that purpose report to the inspector all fatal and serious accidents that have occurred in or about the mines giving the age nationality and occupation of the injured persons together with facts as to the families or dependents affected

Section 20 The mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of fire bosses in order that each mine can be examined in accordance with the provisions of sections one two or three of article five of this act The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall see as often as practicable that the fire boss has left his mark in places examined or reported as examined

Section 21 The mine foreman shall direct and see that safety blocks or some other device are constructed for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into the shaft or slope or running away on slopes and inclines planes and safety switches drop logs or other devices shall be used on all slopes and incline planes and the mine foreman shall see that said safety blocks safety switches or other devices are maintained in good working order

Section 22 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see that locked safety lamps are used when and where required by this act

The transportation of tools in and out of the mine shall be under the direction of the mine foreman or his assistant

Section 23 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to report immediately all violations of this act to the inspector

Section 24 When assistant mine foremen are employed their duty shall be to assist the mine foreman in complying with the provisions of this act and in the absence of the mine foreman they shall perform the duties of the mine foreman and shall be liable to the same penalties as the mine foreman for any violation of this act

ARTICLE V

Duties of Fire Boss Safety Lamps

Section 1 In such portions of a mine wherein explosive gas has been generated within one year before the passage of this act or shall be generated after the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall employ a fire boss or fire bosses whose competency to act as such shall be evidenced by a certificate of qualification from the Department of Mines on the recommendation of the Examining Board as provided for in section six article twenty-four of this act It shall be the duty of the fire boss to examine carefully before each shift enters the mine every working place without exception all places adjacent to live workings every roadway and every unfenced road to abandoned workings and falls in the mines but before proceeding with the examination he shall see that the air current is traveling in its proper course In making the examination he shall use no light other than that enclosed in an approved safety lamp The examination shall begin within three hours prior to the appointed time for each shift to enter the mine The fire boss shall examine for all dangers in all portions of the mine under his charge and after each examination he shall leave at the face and side of every place examined the date of the examination as evidence that he has performed his duty He shall also examine the entrance or entrances to all worked-out and abandoned portions adjacent to the roadways and working places under his charge where explosive gas is likely to accumulate and he shall place a danger signal across the entrance to every working place and every other place where explosive gas is discovered or where immediate danger is found to exist from any other cause and said signal shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter The meaning of all danger signals shall be explained to the non-English speaking employes of the mine in their several languages by the mine foreman assistant mine forman or fire boss through an interpreter

Section 2 A suitable record book shall be kept at the mine office on the surface of every mine wherein fire bosses are employed and immediately after the examination of such mine or any portion thereof by a fire boss whose duty it is to make such examination he shall enter in said book with ink a record of such examination and sign same This record shall show the time taken in making the examination and also clearly state the nature and location of any danger that may have been discovered in any room or entry or other place in the mine and if any danger or dangers have been discovered the fire bosses shall immediately report the location thereof to the mine forman No person shall enter the mine until the fire bosses return to the mine office on the surface or to a station located in the intake entry of the mine (where a record book as provided for in this section shall be kept and signed by the person making the examination) and report to the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman by telephone or otherwise that the mine is in safe condition for the men to enter When a station is located in any mine it shall be the duty of the fire bosses to sign also the report entered in the record book in the mine office on the surface

The record books of the fire bosses shall at all times during working hours be accessible to the inspector and the employes of the mine

Section 3 A second examination by the same or other fire bosses shall be made during working hours of every working place where men are employed

Section 4 The mine foreman and the fire boss shall at or near the main entrance to the mine provide a permanent station with a proper danger signal designated by suitable letters and colors placed thereon In every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp when the working portions are one mile or more from the entrance to the mine or from the bottom of the shaft or slope a permanent station of suitable dimensions may be erected by the mine foreman (provided the location is approved by the inspector) for the use of the fire bosses and in the said station a fire-proof vault of ample strength shall be erected of brick stone or concrete in which the temporary record book of the fire bosses as described in section two of this article shall be kept It shall not be lawful for any person except the mine foreman and in case of necessity such other persons as may be designated by him to pass beyond said permanent station and danger signal until the mine has been examined by a fire boss as provided for in section one of this article and the mine or certain portions thereof reported by him to be safe The fire boss shall not allow any other person or persons to enter or remain in any portion of the mine through which a dangerous accumulation of gas is being passed in the ventilating current from any other part of the mine He shall report at once any violation of this article to the mine foreman

Section 5 Any employe or other person except those hereinbefore provided for who passes by any danger signal into the mine or into any portion of the mine or removes such danger signal before the mine has been examined and reported to be safe or any employe or any other person who passes by any danger signal placed at the entrance to a working place or any other place in the mine or removes such danger signal without permission from the mine foreman the assistant mine foreman or the fire boss shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and it shall be the duty of the mine foreman having knowledge of said violation (whether obtained personally or otherwise) to notify the inspector at once in writing and the inspector shall forthwith enter proceedings against such persons as provided for in section two of article twenty-six of this act

Any mine foreman who fails to notify the inspector forthwith of any violation of the provisions of this article that has been reported to him or has come under his personal observation shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

Section 6 Any fire boss who neglects to comply fully with the provisions of this article relating to his duties or who shall make a false report of the condition of any place in the portion of the mine allotted to him for examination shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be suspended by the mine foreman and his name shall be given to the inspector for prosecution If he is found guilty he shall return his certificate of qualification as fire boss to the Department of Mines Provided however that he may again be an applicant for a certificate as fire boss at any regular examination after the expiration of six months but if he is found guilty of a second offence he shall return his certificate to the Department of Mines and cannot be an applicant for re-examination

Section 7 Nothing in this article shall prevent a first grade mine foreman or a first grade assistant mine foreman from acting as fire boss or a regularly employed fire boss from acting in an emergency as a first grade assistant mine foreman

ARTICLE VI

Shafts Slopes Drifts Openings and Outlets

Section 1 It shall not be lawful for the operator superintendent or mine foreman of any mine to employ any person to work therein unless there are at least two openings or outlets to the surface from every seam of coal actually being worked and available from every entry thereof which openings or outlets shall have distinct means of ingress and egress available at all times for the use of the employes The distance between two shafts shall not be less than two hundred feet and the distance between the openings to the surface of slopes shall not be less than one hundred and fifty feet and the distance between drifts shall not be less than fifty feet Provided that the distances between said openings shall apply only to mines opened after the passage of this act and provided further that the distances specified may be less with the written consent of the inspector The passageways between said two shafts shall at all times be maintained in safe and available condition for the employes to travel therein and the pillars in entries between said shafts shall not be removed without the consent of the inspector in writing to the superintendent

The foregoing requirements shall not apply to the openings of a new mine or to the openings of a new entry of a mine that is being worked for the purpose of making connection between said two outlets as long as not more than twenty persons are employed at any one time in making the connection or driving the second opening nor shall said requirements apply to any mine in which the second opening has been rendered unavailable by reason of the final robbing or removing of pillars as long as not more than twenty persons are employed therein at any one time

Section 2 The cage or cages or other safe means of egress shall be available at all times for the persons employed in any mine that has no second outlet available

Section 3 There shall be around the side at the bottom of every hoisting shaft (and similarly around the side of such shaft at any intermediate point where it intersects any entry) a passageway not less than five feet high and three feet wide in the clear which passageway shall be either cut through the solid strata or constructed of masonry and shall be kept open at all times so as to enable persons to pass around said shaft in going from one side thereof to the other

Section 4 Every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp opened after the passage of this act shall have at least four main entries two of which shall lead from the main opening and two from the second opening into the body of the mine Provided that every new gaseous mine where locked safety lamps are used exclusively projected to open up a large acreage with main entries five thousand feet or more in length shall have at least five main entries two of which shall lead from the main opening and two from the second opening into the body of the mine and the fifth (which may be connected with an opening to the surface or with the intake airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be used exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

Every none-gaseous mine opened after the passage of this act shall have at least two main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine Provided that in every new non-gaseous mine projected to open up a large acreage with main entries five thousand feet or more in length the operator shall either haul the employes into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift or provide at least three main entries one of which shall lead from the main opening and one from the second opening into the body of the mine and one (which may be connected with an opening to the surface or which the intake airway at or near the main intake opening) shall be used exclusively as a traveling way for the employes

Should any mine opened as a non-gaseous mine become a gaseous mine and in every gaseous mine opened prior to the passage of this act where locked safety lamps are used having less than five main entries that have reached five thousand feet or more in length and are to be extended two thousand feet or more the superintendent shall have a new opening of ample dimensions made from the surface if the inspector of the district and two additional inspectors appointed by the Chief of the Department of Mines shall deem such additional opening necessary for the proper ventilation of the mines or the safety of the miners The main entries and the traveling way shall be extended from this opening to the face of the workings The operator may continue to work said mine or mines under the provisions and requirements of this act for a non-gaseous mine until by due diligence the operator can change conditions to meet the provisions and requirements of this paragraph

The intake and return entries shall be kept drained and free from refuse and obstructions of all kinds so that persons may safely travel therein throughout their whole length and have a safe means of egress from the workings in case of emergency Said entries shall be separated by pillars of coal of sufficient strength and shall not be driven more than two hundred feet beyond the last cut-through except for exploratory purposes

When the main entry of a non-gaseous mine or both main entries of a gaseous mine used for intake for air are also used for mechanical haulage a separate traveling way leading into the body of the mine shall be provided for the use of the employes in going to and from their work or the employes shall be hauled into and out of the mine at the beginning and end of each shift

In all mines where the coal seam is less than three and one-half feet in height such traveling way shall be at least four and one-half feet in height in all mines where the coal seam is four feet in height such traveling way shall be at least five feet in height and the width shall not be less than six feet All such traveling ways shall be well drained kept free from refuse of all kinds and free from smoke noxious gases and electric wires unless said wires are so placed and protected as not to endanger life and are kept in safe condition

Section 5 In every slope with workings on both sides an overcast or an undercast not less than five feet wide and five feet high shall be provided as a passageway for the use of the employes to cross from one side of the slope to the other Said overcast or undercast shall connect with available passageways leading to the workings on both sides of said slope The intervening strata between the slope and the overcast or undercast shall be of sufficient strength at all points to insure safety to the emloyes Provided however that if it is impracticable to drive an overcast or an undercast in the solid an overcast or an undercast if substantially built with masonry or other incombustible material will be deemed sufficient

Section 6 In mines opened after the passage of this act if the opening or outlet other than the main opening is a shaft not more than one hundred feet in depth and is used by employes for the purpose of ingress to or egress from the mine it shall be kept available and in safe condition free from steam dangerous gases and all obstructions and shall be fitted with safe and convenient stairways with steps of an average tread of ten inches and a rise of nine inches not less than two feet in width and not to exceed an angle of forty-five degrees with landings not less than twenty-four inches in width and four feet in length at easy and convenient distances These stairways shall be made safe by having hand rails of suitable material placed on one side or on both sides when requested by the inspector and shall be inspected every twenty-four hours by a competent person employed for that purpose Water that may come from the surface or from the strata in the shaft shall be conducted away so that it will not fall on the stairways or on persons while descending or ascending them

Section 7 After the passage of this act when a mine is operated by a shaft more than one hundred feet in depth the persons employed therein shall be lowered and hoisted by means of machinery unless the second opening is a drift or a slope When the employes are lowered into or hoisted from the mine at the main shaft opening the second opening if a shaft shall also be supplied with a stairway constructed in the manner hereinbefore designated in section six of this article or with suitable machinery for safely lowering and hoisting persons in case of an emergency

Section 8 At any mine where one of the openings hereinbefore required is a slope and is used as a means of ingress and egress by the employes and where the angle of descent of said slope exceeds fifteen degrees and its length from the mouth of the opening exceeds one thousand feet the employes shall be lowered into and hoisted from the mine at the beginning and end of each shift at a speed not to exceed six miles per hour and at every such mine where the angle of descent of said slope averages from five to fifteen degrees and where its length exceeds three thousand feet the employes shall be lowered into and hoisted from the mine at the beginning and end of each shift at a speed not to exceed six miles per hour Provided however that when a separate traveling way is provided at any such slope the owner or operator may at his their or its option be exempt from the requirements of this section if the angle of said traveling way does not exceed twenty degrees

ARTICLE VII

Sinking of Shafts

Section 1 The operator superintendent or contractor shall erect over every shaft that is being sunk or shall hereafter be sunk a safe and substantial structure to sustain sheaves or pulleys ropes and loads at a height of not less than twenty feet above the tipping place and the top of such shaft and landing platform shall be arranged in such a manner that no material can fall into the shaft while the bucket is being emptied The said structure shall be erected as soon as substantial foundation is obtained and in no case shall a shaft be sunk to a depth of more than fifty feet without such structure

Section 2 If provisions are made to land the bucket on a truck the said truck and platform shall be so constructed that material cannot fall into the shaft

Section 3 Rock and coal from shafts that are being sunk shall not be raised except in a bucket or on a cage and said bucket or cage must be connected with the rope by a safety hook clevis or other safe attachment The rope shall be fastened to the side of the drum and not less than three coils of rope shall always remain on the drum If said shafts are one hundred feet or more in depth they shall be provided with guides and guide attachments applied in such a manner as to prevent the bucket from swinging while being lowered or hoisted and said guides and guide attachments shall be maintained at a distance of not more than seventy-five feet from the bottom of the shaft

Section 4 It shall be the duty of the person in charge of shaft-sinking for the contractor or company to see that the sides of all shafts are properly secured for safety and that no loose rock or material is allowed to remain on any timber on top or on any timber in the shaft after each blast Where explosive gas is encountered the person in charge shall see that the shaft is examined before each shift and before the men descend after each blast and also that the place is safe In sinking shafts all blasts must be exploded by electric battery Provision must also be made for the proper ventilation of shafts while being sunk

Section 5 An efficient brake shall be attached to every drum of an engine used for sinking shafts and all machinery ropes and chains connected therewith shall be examined once every twelve hours

Section 6 Not more than four persons shall be lowered or hoisted in or on a bucket in any shaft at one time and no person shall ride on a loaded bucket

ARTICLE VIII

Signaling Apparatus Safety Catches Hoisting Machinery Ropes Boilers and Connections

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent shall provide and hereafter maintain in good condition from the top to the bottom of every shaft or slope where persons or material are lowered or hoisted a telephone or metal tube of proper diameter suitably adapted to the free passage of sound through which conversation may be held and understood between persons at the top and the bottom of said shaft or slope and he shall also provide means of signaling from the top to the bottom and from the bottom to the top of said shaft or slope The same provisions shall apply to inside planes whereon coal is lowered and persons have to travel when required by the inspector In all gaseous mines telephone connection shall be made from the surface to the main section of the mile All signaling apparatus and telephone connections shall be kept in good condition and shall be always available for service

The operator or the superintendent shall provide every cage used for lowering or hoisting persons with hand rails at sides or overhead and with chain bar or gate at ends and with a sufficient covering overhead to protect persons thereon and shall also provide for each said cage efficient safety catches which shall be tested once every two months and a record of each test shall be sent to the inspector and to the superintendent and also recorded with ink in a book kept at the mine office for that purpose The ropes shall be securely attached to the sides of the drum of every machine that is used for lowering and hoisting persons or material into and out of the mine and the flanges shall have a clearance of not less than four inches when the whole of the rope is wound on the drum and adequate brakes shall be attached to the drum so that the speed thereof can be controlled when men are being lowered or hoisted An efficient indicator that shall show the position of the cages in the shaft shall be attached to the hoisting apparatus and an efficient safety device that will prevent overwinding shall be attached to every engine used for lowering and hoisting persons

All shafts shall be provided with safety gates controlled by the cage at the top and intermediate landings said gates to be approved by the inspector

Section 2 The main coupling chain attached to the socket of the wire rope of every shaft shall be made of the best quality of iron and shall be tested by weights or otherwise to the satisfaction of the inspector the manner of testing and the result obtained to be entered in a book with ink with the day and date of the inspection and bridle chains of the same quality of iron shall be attached to the main hoisting rope three feet above the socket from the top cross-piece of the cage so that no single chain shall be used for lowering or hoisting persons into or out of the mine

Section 3 In shafts where coal is hoisted and employes lowered into or hoisted from the mine the ropes links and chains shall be of ample strength with a factor of safety of not less than five to one of the maximum load In shafts used exclusively for lowering or hoisting employes and material the factor of safety of ropes links and chains shall not be less than ten to one of the maximum load All such ropes links and chains shall be carefully examined at least once every twenty-four hours by a competent person delegated for that purpose by the superintendent and any defect therein found by which life and limb may be endangered shall be reported at once in writing to the superintendent who shall immediately proceed to remedy the defect and until that is accomplished he shall prohibit any person from being lowered into or hoisted from the mine by the defective apparatus The person making said examination shall keep a daily record of each inspection in ink in a book kept at the mine office for that purpose and he shall send a copy thereof each day to the superintendent

Section 4 All machinery in and about the mines from which any accident would be liable to occur shall be properly fenced off by suitable guard railing

Section 5 No greater number of persons shall be lowered or hoisted at any one time than may be permitted by the inspector and notice of the number so allowed to be lowered or hoisted at any one time shall be kept posted by the operator or the superintendent in conspicuous places at the top and the bottom of the shaft The aforesaid notice shall be signed by the inspector The speed of the cage when lowering or hoisting persons shall not exceed nine hundred feet a minute

Section 6 All boilers used for generating steam in and about the mines shall be kept in good condition and the superintendent shall have them examined and inspected by a duly qualified person once every six months and the report of said inspection shall be posted at the mine office

Section 7 Each boiler shall be provided with a safety valve of sufficient area for the steam to escape and with weights or springs properly adjusted

Section 8 No boiler used for generating steam shall be placed or allowed to remain inside of any mine without the consent of the inspector which shall be given in writing to the superintendent and if the inspector allows said boiler to be placed inside the mine it shall be enclosed in a fire-proof building within fifty feet of the bottom of an upcast shaft which shaft shall not be less than thirty-five square feet in area

Section 9 Every boiler house shall be provided with a sufficient number of steam gauges which shall be properly connected with the boilers to indicate the pressure of steam to the fireman outside foreman or superintendent and another steam gauge shall be attached to the main steam pipe in the engine house so that the hoisting engineer can readily examine it

ARTICLE IX

Ventilation

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall provide and maintain ample means of ventilation to furnish a constant and adequate supply of pure air for the employes In a non-gaseous mine the minimum quantity of air shall not be less than one hundred and fifty cubic feet per minute for each person employed In a mine wherein explosive gas is being generated in such quantities that it can be detected by an approved safety lamp the minimum quantity of air shall not be less than two hundred cubic feet per minute for each person employed therein and as much more in either case as one or more of the inspectors may deem requisite The return air from each split where from seventy to ninety persons are employed shall be conducted by an overcast or an undercast into the return airway which shall lead to the main outlet

The ventilation shall be conducted through the main entries cross entries and to the working faces of all working places in the mine in sufficient quantities to dilute carry off and render harmless the smoke and the noxious and dangerous gases generated therein to such an extent that all working places and traveling roads shall be in a safe and healthy condition for the persons working and traveling therein

No permanent door shall be erected or allowed to remain in the main entry in any mine unless its removal shall be deemed impracticable by the inspector

Section 2 Where five or more persons are employed at any one time in a mine it shall be the duty of the operator or the superintendent to provide ample ventilation in accordance with section one of this article Provided that it shall not be lawful to use a furnace for ventilating any mine wherein explosive gas is being generated

Six months after the passage of this act not more than seventy persons shall be permitted to work in the same continuous air current unless in the judgment of the inspector of the district it is impracticable to comply with this requirement in which case a larger number not exceeding ninety persons may be permitted to work therein

Section 3 The mine foreman shall see that proper cut-throughs are made in all the room pillars at such distances apart as in the judgment of the inspector may be deemed requisite not more than thirty-five nor less than sixteen yards each for the purpose of ventilation

Section 4 The quantity of air passing a given point shall be ascertained by an anemometer the measurements to be taken by the mine foreman once every week at or near the main inlet and outlet airway in the mine and also at the last cut-through in the last room and in the entry beyond the last room turned Said measurements shall be taken on days when the men are at work

Section 5 In all mines all new stoppings in cut-throughs between the main intake and return airways shall be substantially built of masonry concrete or other incombustible material and shall be of ample strength and in mines generating explosive gas all new stoppings and renewals of old stoppings in cross entries shall be built of masonry concrete or other incombustible material Stoppings in cross entries in non-gaseous mines may be built of timber All stoppings shall be kept in good condition so as to keep the air up to the working faces Temporary stoppings shall be erected in cut-throughs in rooms to conduct the ventilation to the face of each room and such stoppings may be constructed of timber or brattice cloth

Section 6 Every ventilating fan at non-gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are indefinitely suspended except when written permission is given by the inspector to stop it The said permission or a copy thereof shall be posted by the mine foreman in a conspicuous place at the entrance or entrances to the mine and shall state the particular hours the fan may be stopped The inspector shall have the power to withdraw or modify such permission at any time and in any manner he may deem best In all cases however the fan shall be started two hours before the time to begin work Every ventilating fan at gaseous mines shall be kept in operation continuously day and night unless operations are definitely suspended Provided that should it at any time become necessary to stop the fan at any mine (gaseous or non-gaseous) on account of accident to part of the machinery connected therewith or by reason of any other unavoidable cause it shall then be the duty of the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman in charge after first having provided for the safety of the persons employed in the mine to order said fan stopped for necessary repairs

Every ventilating fan shall be provided with a recording instrument by which the number of revolutions or the effective ventilating pressure of the fan shall be registered and the registration for each day with the date thereof shall be kept in the office at the mine for future reference for one year

No main or principal ventilating fan shall be placed inside of any mine No auxiliary fan unless driven by electricity or compressed air shall be placed in any mine If the fan be electrically driven the motor shall be placed in the intake airway

Every ventilating furnace in a mine shall be properly attended to and operated by a competent person employed by the mine-foreman for that purpose for two hours before the appointed time to begin work and constantly thereafter during working hours

Section 7 In every mine all air bridges overcasts or undercasts shall be substantially built of masonry concrete or other incombustible material of ample strength or shall be driven through the solid strata It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see that these bridges are properly built and are of ample strength

Section 8 In every mine the doors used for guiding and directing the ventilation shall be so hung and adjusted that they will close of themselves or shall be supplied with springs or pulleys so that they cannot remain open All principal doors shall be so placed that when one door is open another which has the same effect upon the same current shall be closed and remain closed to prevent any stoppage of the air current An attendant shall be employed at each principal door (that is the door that controls the main air current in the entries) through which cars are hauled for the purpose of opening and closing it for the employes and cars to pass in and out from the workings unless a self-acting door approved by the inspector is used A hole for shelter shall be provided at each door to protect the attendant from danger from cars while performing his duties Persons employed for this purpose shall remain at the doors at all times during working hours Provided that the same attendant may attend two doors if his absence from the first door does not endanger the safety of the employes At every door on any incline plane or road whereon haulage is done by machinery an attendant shall always be on duty during working hours and at every door on said plane or road an extra door shall be provided for use in case of necessity Whenever a principal door is placed an extra door shall also be provided to be used in case of necessity

Section 9 No product of petroleum or alcohol or any compound that in the opinion of the inspector will contaminate the air to such an extent as to be injurious to the health of the miner shall be used as motive power in any mine

Section 10 If any person shall construct or cause to be constructed or used or permit to be used from and after the date of the passage of this act any sewer or other method of drainage from any building or dwelling house for the carrying of sewage offal refuse or other offensive matter into any operating mine or any entry way passage or room in any mine (such entry way passage or room being used for ventilating or drainage purposes or for a traveling way) such person shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars and undergo an imprisonment not exceeding one year either or both at the discretion of the court

ARTICLE X

Locked Safety Lamps and Open Lights Defining When Either or Both Can Be Used

Section 1 The use of open lights is prohibited in any entry airway traveling way room or any other working place where explosive gas is being generated in such quantity as can be detected by an approved safety lamp also in pillar workings where a sudden inflow of explosive gas is likely to be encountered and all such places shall be worked exclusively with locked safety lamps The use of open lights is also prohibited in all working places roadways or other portions of the mine through which explosive gas might be carried in the air current in quantities indicating danger Provided however that if the inspector is of the opinion that any mine or any portion of any mine should be operated by the use of locked safety lamps exclusively he shall have the right to petition the Chief of the Department of Mines in writing setting forth such opinion and his reasons therefor Whereupon the said Chief shall forthwith instruct two or more other inspectors to accompany the inspector of the district to make a further thorough examination into the matter in dispute and of all workings of said mine whether in active operation or not The said committee of inspectors shall within seven days of their appointment make a report in writing to the Chief of the Department of Mines and to the superintendent general manager operator or owner of said mine giving the conclusions arrived at with their reasons therefor and the decision of said committee shall be final and conclusive unless the superintendent general manager operator or owner shall within seven days of the receipt thereof appeal from such decision to the Court of Quarter Sessions of the county in which the mine is located Whereupon the court or a judge of said court in chambers shall forthwith appoint four practical reputable and competent persons two of whom shall be recommended by the superintendent general manager operator or owner and the other two by the Chief of the Department of Mines and the four persons thus recommended shall name a fifth person who also must be practical reputable and equally competent and the five persons so named none of whom shall be in the employ of the operator operating company or any of its officers or of the State Department of Mines shall constitute a commission to investigate and report on the matter in dispute Provided however in case any or all of said four persons are not recommended by a writing filed in said court within seven days after the appeal is filed that then the said court shall fill the vacancy or vacancies by the appointment of a practical reputable and competent person or persons and in case the four persons thus chosen shall not agree in writing upon the fifth person of this commission within five days after they have received notice of their appointment then the said court shall appoint the said fifth person on this commission The duty of said commission of five persons shall be under the instruction of the court to forthwith examine said mine or a portion thereof and report under oath within ten days after their appointment the facts as they exist and the conditions pertaining thereto and based upon such conditions and facts the decision of a majority on the matter in dispute and their report and decision shall be final and conclusive unless exceptions thereto shall be filed by the superintendent general manager operator or owner or the Chief of the Department of Mines within seven days of the filing of said commission's report If exceptions are filed the court shall at once hear and upon testimony taken thereon determine them and enter a decree in accordance with such determination Provided that the superintendent general manager operator owner or Chief of the Department of Mines shall thereafter have the right to have the record and proceedings removed to the Supreme Court for review by appeal or writ of error

Section 2 If said court of quarter sessions sustains the decision of the committee of inspectors and said court's decree is not appealed from or if on appeal the supreme court finally sustains the decision of the inspectors then the appellant from said decision of the committee of inspectors shall pay all costs of such proceedings but if the said court of quarter sessions or the supreme court shall not sustain the decision of the committee of inspectors then all costs shall be paid by the Commonwealth Provided however that any and all appeals from any decision made by the committee of inspectors or made by the committee appointed by the court of quarter sessions shall work as a supersedeas to such decision during the pendency of such appeal either to the court of quarter sessions or to the supreme court

Section 3 The use of open lights is strictly prohibited in the return air current of any portion of a mine that is ventilated by the same continuous air current that ventilates any other portion of said mine in which locked safety lamps are used The provisions of this section shall not apply to any mine wherein explosive gas is generated only at the face of active entries

Section 4 If at any time one portion of a mine is worked by the use of locked safety lamps while another portion is worked by the use of open lights the return air from the gaseous portion shall be conducted directly into a return airway leading to the fan or to the outlet Provided that when a portion of a mine is worked by the use of locked safety lamps and other portions are worked by the use of open lights it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to provide a suitable danger station with an attendant on duty at all times during working hours day and night whose duty it shall be to see that the employes from the open light portion are not allowed to enter the locked safety lamp portion unless they are provided with locked safety lamps by said attendant

Section 5 The employes of a gaseous mine or any portion thereof are strictly prohibited from traveling into or out of the mine in the return air current if explosive gas can be detected by an approved safety lamp in said air current

Section 6 When safety lamps are used the position of the lamp station for lighting or relighting shall not be in the return air current

Section 7 Nothing in this article shall interfere with the discretionary powers of inspectors as provided for in article twenty

Section 8 Whenever safety lamps are used in a mine by fire bosses or other persons they shall be so constructed that they may be safely carried against the air current ordinarily prevailing in that portion of the mine in which the lamps are being used

Section 9 All safety lamps used for examining mines or for working therein shall be the property of the operator and shall be in the care of the mine foreman assistant mine foreman fire boss or some other competent person or persons appointed by the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to clean fill trim examine light and deliver them locked and in a safe condition to the men when entering the mine and to receive the lamps from the men when returning from work for which services a charge not exceeding the actual cost of labor and material may be made by the operator At any mine wherein explosive gas was generated within one year before the passage of this act in sufficient quantities to be detected by an approved safety lamp a sufficient number of safety lamps not less than one-fourth of the number of safety lamps in use shall be kept in a convenient place and in good condition for use in case of emergency It shall be the duty of every person who knows that his safety lamp is injured or defective to return it immediately and report such fact to the person authorized to receive and care for said lamp who shall report the matter to the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss as soon as practicable

ARTICLE XI.

Special Rules for the Installation of Electricity

The following rules shall be observed as far as is reasonably practicable in the mines

Definitions

Potential

The terms "Potential" and "Voltage" are synonymous and mean electrical pressure Difference of Potential

The expression "Difference of Potential" means the difference of electrical pressure existing between any two points of an electrical system or between any point of such a system and the earth as determined by a volt meter

Potential of a Circuit

The potential or voltage of a circuit machine or any piece of electrical apparatus is the potential normally existing between the conductors of such circuit or the terminals of such machine or apparatus

(a) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference in potential between any two points of the circuit cannot exceed three hundred volts the supply shall be deemed a low voltage supply

(b) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed three hundred volts but cannot exceed six hundred and fifty volts the supply shall be deemed a medium voltage supply

(c) Where the conditions of the supply of electricity are such that the difference of potential between any two points in the circuit may at any time exceed six hundred and fifty volts the supply shall be deemed a high voltage supply

Grounding

Grounding any part or an electric system shall consist in so connecting such part to the earth that there shall be no difference of potential between them

Explosion or Flame Proof

Explosion or flame proof casings or enclosures are those which when completely filled with a mixture of methane and air and the same exploded are capable of either entirely confining the products of such explosion within the casing or of so discharging them from the casing that they cannot ignite a mixture of methane and air combined in proportions most sensitive to ignition and entirely surrounding the points of discharge and in most intimate proximity therewith

Underground Station

An underground station is herein considered as any place where electrical machinery is permanently installed

General

Capacity Installation Et Cetera

1 All electrical apparatus and conductors shall be sufficient in size and power for the work they may be called upon to do and as hereinafter prescribed efficiently covered or safeguarded and so installed worked and maintained as to reduce danger from accidental shock or fire to the minimum and shall be of such construction and so worked that the rise in temperature caused by ordinary working will not injure the insulating materials

2 For work underground when supplied with current at a voltage higher than medium voltage no transformer shall have a normal capacity of less than five kilowatts nor shall a motor have a normal capacity of less than fifteen brake horse power

Grounding

3 All metallic coverings armoring of cables other than trailing cables and where installed underground the frames and bed plates of generators transformers and motors other than low voltage portable motors shall be efficiently grounded as shall also the neutral wire of three wire continuous current systems

Voltage Restrictions

4 Motors of coal cutting and other portable machines and of electric locomotives shall not be used at a voltage higher than medium voltage

5 No higher voltage than medium voltage shall be used underground except for transmission or for application to transformers or other apparatus in which the whole of the high voltage circuit is stationary

6 In gaseous mines high voltage transmission cables shall be installed in the intake airways only and high voltage motors and transformers shall be installed only in suitable chambers ventilated by the intake air which has not passed through or by a gaseous district

7 All high voltage machines apparatus and lines shall be so marked as to clearly indicate that they are dangerous by the use of the word "Danger" placed at frequent intervals

Ground Detectors

8 All underground systems of distribution that are completely insulated from earth shall be equipped with properly installed ground detectors of suitable design

The condition of such system as indicated by the ground detector shall be noted each day by the person in charge of the underground wiring or by another competent person who shall immediately report to him the occurrence of a ground

Switchboards

9 Main and distribution switch and fuse boards shall be made of incombustible insulating material such as marble or slate free from metallic veins and be fixed in as dry a situation as practicable

Precaution Against Shock

10 Gloves or mats of rubber or other suitable insulating material shall be provided and used by persons so engaged when repairs are made to the live parts of any electrical apparatus or when the live parts of electrical apparatus have to be handled for the purpose of adjustment

Electrician

11 At every mine where electricity is used below ground for power there shall be employed a competent mine electrician who shall have full charge of the electrical apparatus in the mine but shall be subject to the authority of the mine foreman

12 Any person who shall wilfully damage or without authority alter or make connections to any portion of a mine electrical system shall be guilty of a misdemeanor

Restoration from Shock

13 Instructions shall be posted in every generating transforming and motor room and at entrance to the mine containing directions as to the restoration of persons suffering from electric shock and all employes working in connection with electrical apparatus shall be familiar with and know how to carry out these instructions

Plan of Electrical System

14 A plan shall be kept at the mine showing the location of all stationary electrical apparatus in connection with the mine electrical system including permanent cables conductors lights switches and trolley lines The plan shall be of sufficient size to show clearly the position of such apparatus and the scale shall not be less than two hundred feet per inch There shall be stated on the plan the capacity in horse-power of each motor and in kilowatts of each generator or transformer and the nature of its duty Such plans shall be corrected as often as may be necessary to keep them up to date at intervals not exceeding six months

Report of Defective Equipment

15 In the event of a breakdown or of damage or injury to any portion of the electrical equipment in a mine or of overheating or of the appearance of sparks or arcs outside of enclosing casings or in the event of any portion of the equipment not a part of the electrical circuit becoming alive every such occurrence shall be promptly reported to the person in charge of electrical equipment

SECTION TWO

Underground Stations and Transformer Rooms

Switchboards

16 All switches circuit breakers rheostats fuses and instruments used in connection with underground motor-generators rotary converters high voltage motors trans-

formers and low and medium voltage motors of more than fifty horse-power capacity shall be installed upon a suitable switchboard Similar equipment for low and medium voltage motors of fifty horse-power and less may be separately installed if mounted upon insulating bases of slate or equivalent insulating material

17 In underground stations where switchboards are installed there shall be a passageway in front of the switchboard not less than three feet in width and if there are any high voltage connections at the back of the switchboard any passageway behind the switchboard shall not be less than three feet clear

18 The space at the back of the switchboards shall be properly floored accessible from each end and in the case of high voltage switchboards shall be kept locked up but the lock shall allow of the door being opened from the inside without the use of a key The floor at the back of high voltage boards shall be incombustible

19 Where the supply is at a voltage exceeding the limits of medium voltage there shall be no live metal work on the front of the main switchboard within seven feet of the floor or platform and the space provided under rule seventeen of this section shall not be less than four feet in the clear Insulating floors or mats shall be provided for medium voltage boards where live metal work is on the front

Protection of Circuits Leading Underground

20 In every completely insulated feeder circuit in excess of twenty-five kilowatts capacity leading underground and operating at a potential not exceeding the limits of medium voltage there shall be provided above ground a switch on each pole and an automatic overload circuit breaker on at least one pole in the case of direct current circuits and on at least two poles of polyphase alternating current circuits In case of ground return direct current circuits a switch and circuit breaker shall be installed in the undergrounded side of the circuit but may be omitted from the return side Fuses may be substituted for circuit breakers in circuits transmitting twenty-five kilowatts or less Each circuit leading underground shall be provided with a suitable ammeter

21 Every alternating current feeder circuit leading underground and operating at a potential exceeding the limits of medium voltage shall be provided above ground with an oil break switch on each pole such switch or switches to be equipped with an automatic overload trip Each such circuit shall also be provided with a suitable ammeter

Transformer Rooms

22 Transformer rooms shall be of fire-proof construction

23 Where the potential of circuits entering or leaving a transformer exceeds the limits of medium voltage they shall be protected by an oil break switch on each pole each such switch or switches to be equipped with an automatic overload trip

24 Where the potential of circuits entering or leaving a transformer does not exceed the limits of medium voltage they shall be protected by a switch and an automatic circuit breaker on each pole except that fuses may be substituted for the circuit breakers in the case of lighting circuits and in the case of power circuits transmitting twenty-five kilowatts or less

25 All transformers shall be provided with suitable ammeter in either the primary or secondary circuits

Protection of Machine Terminals

26 All terminals on machines over medium voltage underground shall be protected with insulating covers or with metal covers connected to earth

Unauthorized Persons

27 No person other than one authorized by the mine foreman shall enter a station or transformer room or interfere with the working of any apparatus connected therewith

Fire Buckets

28 Fire buckets filled with clean dry sand shall be kept in electrical stations and transformer rooms ready for immediate use in extinguishing fires

SECTION THREE

Transmission Circuits and Conductors

Power and Light Circuits

29 All high pressure wires used inside of the mines shall be in the form of insulated lead-covered or armored conductors subject to insulation tests and with carrying capacity according to the rules of the National Board of Fire Underwriters

Medium or low pressure conductors may be bare except in gaseous portions of mines no bare conductors shall be used in rooms or beyond the last cut-through in intake entries

30 All underground cables and wires other than trailing cables unless provided with grounded metallic covering shall be supported by means of efficient insulators The conductor connecting lamp to the power supply shall in all cases be insulated

Main Circuits

31 Every main circuit coming from generating or transformer stations shall there be provided with switches fuses and circuit breakers as described in section two rules twenty and twenty-one and rules twenty-three to twenty-five inclusive

32 If the transmission lines of low or medium voltage from the generating station are overhead there shall be lightning arresters installed in connection therewith at the generating station If the distance from the generating station to the point where the lines enter the mine is more than five hundred feet an additional arrester shall be installed at this point and in no case shall the arresters be more than one thousand feet apart

33 In any gaseous mine or gaseous portions of a mine the electrical supply shall be brought underground only through such portions of the mine as are ventilated by intake air

Branch Circuits

34 Every branch circuit shall be provided at the point where it leaves the main circuit with a switch of not less than one hundred ampere capacity on each pole

Size of Conductors

35 The size of all conductors shall be determined with regard to the maximum amount of current which they are to carry by reference to the table provided by the National Board of Fire Underwriters which shows maximum current carrying capacities of copper conductors

Grounded Circuits

36 One side of grounded circuits shall be efficiently insulated from earth

Overhead Circuits above Ground

37 Overhead bare wires above ground shall be supported upon insulators which shall be adequate in quality size and design for voltage transmitted

Underground Trolley

38 In underground roads the trolley wires shall be installed as far to one side of the passageway as is practicable and securely supported upon hangers efficiently insulated and placed at such intervals that the sag between points of support shall not exceed three inches The sag between points of support can exceed three inches if the height of the trolley wire above the rail is five feet or more and does not touch the roof when the trolley passes under

39 All other wires except telephone shot firing and signal wires shall be on the same side of the road as the trolley wire

40 At all landings and partings where men are required to regularly work or pass under trolley or other bare power wires which are placed less than six and one-half feet above top of rail a suitable protection shall be provided This protection may consist of channeling the roof placing boards along the wire which shall extend below it or the use of other approved devices that afford protection

41 All branch trolley lines shall be fitted with an automatic trolley switch or section insulator and line switch or some other device that will allow the current to be shut off from such branch headings

42 It is recommended that where air or water pipes parallel the grounded return of power circuits the return be securely bonded to such pipes at frequent intervals to eliminate the possibility of a difference of potential between rail and pipes and to prevent electrolysis of the pipes The rail return shall be of sufficient capacity for the current used independent of the capacity of the pipes On main haulage roads both rails shall be bonded and cross bonds shall be placed at points not to exceed two hundred feet apart

Lighting Circuits

43 Where wires for electric incandescent lamps are connected to the trolley circuit the lug of the trolley hanger to which connection is made shall be drilled to receive the lighting wire and provided with a set screw for securing same in place Lighting wires shall not be wrapped or tied about the stems or studs of trolley hangers The ground connection for lighting wires taken off the trolley circuit must be made to the track circuit

44 Wires for all lighting circuits shall be covered with an insulation adequate for the voltage of the circuit and strung on porcelain or glass insulators unless they are encased in pipes or other metallic covering If separate uncased wires are used they shall be kept at least three inches apart except where they enter the fittings If metallic casings are used they shall be grounded efficiently

Joints in Conductors

45 All joints in conductors shall be mechanically and electrically efficient and wherever it is possible to do so they shall be soldered Wherever the conductors cannot be soldered together suitable screw clamps or connectors shall be used All joints in insulated wire shall after the joint is complete be reinsulated to at least the same extent as the remainder of the wire

Insulation and Covering

46 All high voltage conductors inside of the mines shall be in the form of insulated lead-covered or armored cables subject to approved insulation tests and having carrying capacities in accordance with rule thirty-five section three

47 Where lead-covered or armored cable is used the lead or armor shall be electrically continuous throughout and shall be efficiently grounded

Cables Entering Fittings

48 The exposed ends of cables where they enter fittings of any description shall be so protected and finished off that moisture cannot enter the cable or the insulating material if of an oily or viscous nature leak

49 Where unarmored cables or wires pass through metal frames or into boxes or motor casings the holes shall be substantially bushed with insulating bushings and where necessary with gastight bushings which cannot readily become displaced

Joints in Cables

50 Where cables other than signal cables are joined suitable junction boxes shall be used or the joints shall be soldered and the insulation armoring or lead covering replaced in at least as good condition as it was originally

Power Wires and Cables in Shafts

51 All power wires and cables in hoisting shafts or manway compartments shall be highly insulated and substantially fixed in position

Shaft cables whose conductors or covering are not capable of sustaining their own weight shall be supported at intervals not to exceed twenty-five feet by suitable grips which cannot cause abrasion of the covering or insulation but shall so support the cable that no grip shall carry more than the weight of the cable between any two successive grips Where the cables are not completely boxed in and protected from falling material space shall be left between them and the side of the shaft that they may yield and so lessen a blow given by falling material

Cables in Haulage Roads

52 Where the cables or feed wires other than trolley wires in main haulage roads cannot be kept at least twelve inches from any part of the mine car or locomotive they shall be specially protected by proper guards

53 Cables and wires unless provided with metallic coverings shall not be fixed to walls or timbers by means of uninsulated fastenings

Protection During Blasting Et Cetera

54 When main or other roads are being repaired or blasting is being carried on suitable temporary protection from damage shall be given the cables

Trailing Cables

55 Trailing cables for portable machines shall be specially flexible heavily insulated and protected with extra stout braiding hose pipes or other equally effective covering

56 Each trailing cable in use shall be daily examined by the machine operator for abrasions and other defects and he shall also be required to carefully observe the trailing cable while in use and shall at once report any defect to the person in charge of electrical equipment

57 In the event of the trailing cable in service breaking down or becoming damaged in any way or of its inflicting a shock upon any person it shall be at once put out of service The faulty cable shall not again be used until it has been repaired and tested by a properly authorized person

58 The trailing cable shall be divided at the motor but only for such length as is necessary for making connection to the motor and the cable with its outer covering complete shall be securely clamped to the motor frame in such a manner as to protect the cable from injury and to prevent any mechanical strain being borne by the single ends that make electrical connection to the motor

59 In gaseous portions of mines a fixed terminal box shall be provided at the points where trailing cables are attached at the power supply This terminal box shall be flame-proof and shall contain a switch and fuse on each pole of the circuit The switch shall be so arranged that it can only be operated from without the box when the latter is completely closed and the switch shall also be so constructed that the trailing cables cannot be attached or removed when the switch is closed

SECTION FOUR

Switches Fuses and Circuit Breakers

Operation and Capacity

60 Fuses and automatic circuit breakers shall be so constructed as effectually to interrupt the current on short circuit or when the current through them exceeds a predetermined value Open type fuses shall be provideu with terminals

Circuit breakers shall be adjustable to trip at from fifty per centum to one hundred and fifty per centum of their nominalrated capacity and provided with an indicator which shall show at what current the circuit breaker is set to trip.

61 Fuses shall be stamped or marked or shall have a label attached indicating the maximum current which they are intended to carry Fuses shall only be adjusted or replaced by a competent person authorized by the mine foreman

Feeder Circuit-Breakers

62 Circuit breakers used to protect feeder circuits shall be set to trip when the current exceeds by more than fifty per centum the current carrying capacity of the feeder In case the feeder is subjected to overloads sufficient to trip the circuit breaker but of short duration the circuit breaker may be equipped with a device which will prevent its acting unless the overload persists for a longer period than ten seconds

Feeder Fuses

63 Fuses used to protect feeders shall have a less current rating than the feeder

Bases

64 All switches circuit breakers and fuses shall have incombustible bases

Switches

65 All points at which a circuit other than a signal circuit has to be made or broken shall be provided with proper switches The use of hooks or other makeshifts is prohibited except that connection for gathering locomotives or locomotives and machines used in driving headings or rooms may be made to the trolley by means of suitable hooks switches shall be so installed that they cannot be closed by gravity In any gaseous portion of a mine switches circuit breakers or fuses shall not be of the open type but must be inclosed in explosion-proof casings or break under oil

SECTION FIVE

Motors

Stationary Motors

66 Every stationary motor underground together with its starting resistance shall be protected by a fuse on each pole or circuit-breaking device on at least one pole for direct current and two poles for alternating current motors and by switches arranged to entirely cut off the power from the motor The above devices shall be installed in a convenient position near the motor and every stationary underground motor of one hundred brake horse power or over shall be provided with a suitable meter to indicate the load on the machine

Motors in Gaseous Mines

67 In any gaseous portion of a mine all motors unless placed in such rooms as are separately ventilated with intake air shall have all their current carrying parts also their starters terminals and connections completely enclosed in explposion-proof enclosures made of non-inflammable material These enclosures shall not be opened except by an authorized person and then only when the power is switched off The power shall not be switched on while the enclosures are open

Underground Stationary Motors in Non-Gaseous Mines

68 Motors used for operating fans in non-gaseous mines where they are so situated that they are not under constant supervision of a competent man shall be totally enclosed (not necessarily explosion-proof) unless placed in a chamber or passageway completely lined with incombustible material and the chamber or passageway itself free from combustible material

Detection of Gas

69 In working places where gas is likely to be encountered a safety lamp or other suitable apparatus for the detection of fire damp shall be provided for use with each machine when working and should any indication of fire damp appear on the flame of the safety lamp or other apparatus used for the detection of fire damp the person in charge shall immediately stop the machine cut off the current at the nearest switch and report the matter to the mine foreman

Enclosed Motors

70 All enlosed motors used underground shall be opened and thoroughly inspected by the person in charge of electrical equipment or his assistant at least once a week and where necessary shall then be cleaned and repaired Enclosed switches shall be opened and inspected at least once a month

Electric Coal-Cutting Machines

71 No man shall be placed in charge of a coal-cutting machine in any gaseous portion of a mine who is not a competent person capable of determining the safety of the roof and sides of the working place and detecting the presence of explosive gas

72 In any gaseous portion of a mine a coal-cutting machine shall not be brought within the last break-through next the working face until the machine man shall have made an inspection for gas in the place where the machine is to work unless such examination is then made by some other competent person or appointed for that purpose by the mine forman If any explosive gas is found in the place the machine shall not be taken in

73 No coal-cutting machine shall be continued in operation in a gaseous portion of a mine for a longer period than half an hour without an examination as a made for gas and if gas is found the current shall at once be switched off the machine and the trailing cable shall forthwith be disconnected from the power supply

74 The person finding gas shall at once report the fact to the fire boss or mine foreman and the machine shall not again be started in such place until the fire boss or a person duly be started in such place until the fire boss or a person duly authorized by the mine foreman has examined it and pronounced it safe

75 The person in charge of a coal-cutter or drilling machine shall not leave the machine while it is working and shall before leaving the working place see that the current is cut off from the trailing cables

76 In any gaseous portion of a mine if any electric sparking or arc be produced outside a coal-cutting or other portable motor or by the cables or rails the machine shal be stopped and not be worked again until the defect is repaired and the occurrence shall be reported to an official of the mine

SECTION SIX

Electric Locomotives

Trolley System

77 Electric haulage by locomotives operated from a trolley wire is not permissible in any gaseous portions of mines except upon the intake air fresh from the outside

78 In no case shall the potential used in the trolley systtem be higher than the medium voltage

Storage Battery System

79 Storage battery locomotives shall be used in gaseous mines only when the boxes containing the cells and all electrical parts are enclosed in flame and explosion-proof casings (For regulations covering the installation of the trolley wire see section theee rules thirty-eight to forty-two inclusive)

SECTION SEVEN

Electric Lighting

Arc Lamps

80 Arc lamps shall not be used in gaseous mines except under condtions where the trolley locomotives are allowable

81 If arc lamps are used underground in coal mines they shall be of the enclosed arc type and shall not be use in situations where there is likely to be danger from the presence of coal dust

Incandescent Lamps

82 In all mines the sockets of fixed incandescent lamps shall be of the so-called "weather-proof" type the exterior of which shall be entirely non-metalilc Flexible lamp cord connections are prohibited except for portable lamps as covered by rule eighty-five

83 In any gaseous portions of a mine except where ventilated by fresh intake air incandescent lamps shall be protected by gastight fittings of strong glass except that lamps of two hundred and tewnty volts or higher and not of more than eight candle power and without tips need not be so protected

84 Incandescent lamps shall be so placed that they cannot come in contact wth combustible material

85 Portable incandescent lamps other than battery lamps shall not be used except in connection with the repair and inspection of machines and equipment and then only in non-gaseous portions of mines When so used they shall be protected by a heavy wire cage completely enclosing both lamp and socket and shall be provided with a handle to which both cage and socket are firmly attached and through which the leading-in wires are carried

86 Electric lamps shall be replaced by a competent person only and in gaseous portons of a mine only after an examination for gas has been made with a safety lamp

For other regulations regarding electric lighting circuits see section three rules forty-three to forty-five inclusive

SECTION EIGHT

Shot Firing By Electricity

Shot Firing Circuits

87 Electricity from any grounded circuit shall not be used for firing shots

88 When shot-firing cables or wires are used in the vicinity of power or lighting conductors special precaution shall be taken to prevent the shot-firing cables or wires from coming in contact with the light power or any other circuits

Shot Firers

89 Only competent persons who have the necessary training and skill and who have been properly instructed in the work and duly authorized by the mine foreman shall be allowed to fire shots electrically in any mine

Electric Detonators

90 All electric detonators and leads thereto shall be suitable for the conditions under which the blasting is carried on and shall be of a type approved by the Pittsburg Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines Detonators shall be kept in a dry place and never stored with any other explosive

Portable Firing Machines and Batteries

91 Portable shot firing machines sometimes called generators shall be enclosed in a tightly constructed case when employed in any portion of the mine All contacts when made or broken shall be within the case except that the binding posts for making connections to the firing leads may be outside

92 Primary or secondary batteries used for shot firing shall be provided with a suitable case covered by rule ninety-one The batteries shall be constructed so that if the wires of a detonator or leads should accidentally or otherwise come in contact with the binding posts no current will be discharged They shall be provided with a detachable handle plug or key without which the current cannot be closed or provided with one or more safety contact buttons which are well countersunk or protected by a non-conducting housing The plugs handles or keys shall be detached when not actually in use for firing a shot and shall not under any circumstances pass from the personal custody of the person commissioned to fire the shots while on duty

93 All portable devices for generating or supplying electricity for shot firing when in a mine shall be in charge of the person commissioned to fire the shots

94 No firing machine or battery shall be connected to the shot firing leads until all other steps preparatory to the firing of a shot have been completed and all persons have moved to a place of safety and no person other than the shot firer shall make such connection

Disconnecting of Leads

95 Immediately after the firing of a shot the firing leads shall be disconnected from the supply or source of electricity and no person shall approach a shot which has failed to explode until the firing leads have been so disconnected by the shot firer from the device and an interval of five minutes has elapsed since the last attempt to fire the shot

Tests of Generators and Batteries

96 Frequent tests shall be made of all devices covered by rule ninety-three to insure that their capacity has not been decreased by use or accident

Special Systems

97 The use of special electrical shot firing systems or equipment not covered by the foregoing shall receive the approval of the Pittsburg Testing Station of the Federal Bureau of Mines

SECTION NINE

Electric Signaling

Precautions

98 All proper precautions shall be taken to prevent electric signal and telephone wires from coming into contact with other electric conductors whether insulated or not

Character of Equipment

99 Bells wires insulators contact-makers and other apparatus used in connection with electric signaling underground shall be of suitable design of substantial and reliable construction and erected in such a manner as to reduce the liability of failures or false signals to a minimum

Maximum Potential

100 In any gaseous portion of a mine the potential used for signal purposes shall not exceed twenty-four volts and bare wires shall not be used for signal circuits except in haulage roads

Telephones

101 It is recommended that telephonic communication be established between the outside of the mine and the principal points of operation underground

SECTION TEN

Electric Relighting of Safety Lamps

102 If in any place or portion of a mine in which safety lamps are used they are relighted underground by electricity the mine foreman shall select a suitable station or stations not being in the return airway and where there is not likely to be any accumulation of inflammable gas and no electric relighting apparatus shall be used in any other place All electrical relighting apparatus shall be securely locked and shall not be available for use except by persons authorized by the mine foreman to relight safety lamps and such persons shall examine all safety lamps brought for relighting before they are reissued

ARTICLE XII

Opening for Drainage Et Cetera on Other Lands

Section 1 If any person firm or corporation is or shall hereafter be seized in his or their own right of coal lands or shall hold such lands under lease and shall have opened or shall desire to open a coal mine on said land and it shall not be practicable to drain or ventilate such mines or to comply with the requirements of this act as to ways of ingress and egress or traveling ways by means of openings on lands owned or held under lease by him them or it and the same can be done by means of openings on adjacent lands he they or it may apply by petition to the court of quarter sessions of the proper county after ten days' notice to the owner or owners their agents or attorney setting forth the facts under oath or affirmation particularly describing the place or places where such opening or openings can be made and the pillars of coal or other material necessary for the support of such passageway and the right-of-way necessary to any public road as may be needed in connection with such opening and that he or they cannot agree with the owner or owners of the land as to the amount to be paid for the privilege of making such opening or openings whereupon the said court shall appoint three disinterested and competent citizens of the county to view the ground designated and lay out from the point or points mentioned in such petition a passage or passages not more than eighty feet in area by either drift shaft or slope or by a combination of any of said methods by any practicable and convenient route to the coal of such person firm or corporation preferring in all cases an opening through the coal strata where the same is practicable The said viewers shall at the same time assess the damages to be paid by the petitioner or petitioners to the owner or owners of such lands for the coal or other valuable material to be removed in the excavation and construction of said passage also for such coal or other valuable material necessary to support the said passage as well as for a right of way not exceeding fifteen feet in width from any such opening to any public road to enable persons to gain entrance to the mine through such opening or to provide therefrom upon the surface a water course of suitable dimensions to a natural water stream to enable the operator to discharge the water from said mine if such right-of-way shall be desired by the petitioner or petitioners which damages shall be fully paid before such opening is made The proceedings shall be recorded in the road docket of the proper county and the pay of the viewers shall be the same as in road cases If exceptions be filed they shall be disposed of by the court as speedily as possible and both parties shall have the right to take depositions as in road cases If however the petitioner desires to make such openings or roads or waterways before the final disposition of such exceptions he shall have the right to do so by giving bond to be approved by the court securing the damages as provided by law in the case of lateral railroads

Section 2 It shall be compulsory upon the part of the mine owner or operator to exercise the powers granted by the provisions of the last preceding section for the procuring of a right-of-way on the surface from the opening of a coal mine to a public road or public roads upon the request in writing of fifty miners employed in the mine or mines of such owner or operator Provided however That with such request satisfactory security be deposited with the mine owner or operator by said petitioners (being coal miners) to fully and sufficiently pay all costs damages and expenses caused by such proceedings and in paying for such right of way

Section 3 In any mine or mines or portions thereof wherein water may have been allowed to accumulate in large and dangerous quantities putting in danger the adjoining or adjacent mines and the lives of the miners working therein and when such can be tapped and set free and flow by its own gravity to any point of drainage it shall be lawful for any operator or person having mines so endangered with the approval of the inspector of the district to proceed to remove the said danger by driving a drift or drifts protected by bore holes as provided for by this act and in removing said danger it shall be lawful to drive across property lines if needful

And it shall be unlawful for any person to dam or in any way obstruct the flow of any stream from said mine or portions thereof when so set free on any part of its passage to point of drainage

Section 4 From and after the passage of this act it shall and may be lawful for any person or persons company or companies now or hereafter to be incorporated in this Commonwealth to drive headings and construct entryways tramways and mine tracks with one or more tracks under the surface or partly under and partly over the surface through or over any intervening lands not exceeding one mile in length to or from any coal and connect the same with any entryways headings tramways or railroads belonging to any individual or individuals company or companies now or hereafter to be incorporated in this State and also with any highway or public improvement. Provided That the parties interested shall be subject to the same proceedings required in section one of this article And provided further That no such entryway heading tramway mine track or railroad shall be constructed through or over such intervening lands where the same would injure or interfere with the existing mining operations of any other person or company or where the same would endanger the safety of the employes therein

ARTICLE XIII

Ambulances and Stretchers Rescue Appliances and Emergency Hospitals

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of every mine in which fifty or more persons are employed inside shall provide and keep in good condition at the principal entrance of the mine or at such other place as the superintendent and inspector may determine and designate one ambulance and at least two stretchers for conveying to his place of abode any person that may be injured while in the discharge of his duties and also woolen and waterproof blankets Provided that if the places of abode of ninety per centum of the workmen at any mine are within a radius of one mile from the principal entrance to the mine

an ambulance shall not be required Provided further that where two or more mines are located within one mile of each other or where the ambulance is located within one mile of each mine only one ambulance as aforesaid shall be required if such mines have ready and quick means of communication by telegraph or telephone

Section 2 The ambulance shall be constructed upon good substantial easy springs It shall be covered and closed and shall have windows on the sides or ends and shall be provided with spring mattresses or other comfortable bedding to be placed on roller frames together with sufficient covering and protection for the convenient movement of the injured It shall be of sufficient size to convey at least two injured persons and two attendants at one time and shall be provided with seats for the attendants

The stretchers shall be constructed of such material and in such a manner as to insure ease and comfort in the carriage of the injured persons

At all mines there shall be provided bandages splints and other medical supplies to render first aid and relief to employes who may be injured These supplies shall be kept in a suitable room The room shall be located near the entrance to or inside of the mine and shall be sufficiently large to accommodate the injured employes while they are receiving temporary medical attention

Section 3 Whenever any person employed in or about any mine shall receive such an injury by accident or otherwise as to render him unable to walk to his place of abode the operator or the superintendent shall immediately have said person removed to his place of abode or to a hospital as the case may require

Section 4 If the conditions are such that the person injured can be conveyed to his home or to the hospital more conveniently and more quickly by railroad trolley road or other conveyance such mode of conveyance shall be permitted and no ambulance required but in such cases the conveyance must be under cover and the comfort of the injured person must be provided for

ARTICLE XIV

Wash Houses

Section 1 When the clothing or wearing apparel of the employes in any mine becomes wet by reason of working in wet places therein it shall be the duty of the operator or superintendent of said mine at the request in writing of the inspector who shall make such request upon the petition of any ten employes working in the aforesaid wet places to provide a suitable building convenient to the principal entrances of such mines for the use of the persons employed in wet places therein for the purpose of washing themselves and changing their clothes when entering the mine and returning therefrom The said building shall be maintained in good order and be properly lighted and heated and shall be provided with hot and cold water and facilities for persons to wash Any operator superintendent or inspector who shall neglect or fail to comply with the provisions of this article or any person who shall maliciously injure or destroy or cause to be injured or destroyed the said building or any part thereof or any of the appliances or fittings used therein or do any act tending to the injury or destruction thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor

ARTICLE XV

Inside Stables

Section 1 It shall not be lawful for the superintendent or mine foreman to provide a horse or a mule stable inside of any mine unless space for said stable is excavated in solid strata of rock slate or coal If excavated in the coal seam the wall shall be built of brick stone or concrete not less than twelve inches in thickness and said wall shall be built from the bottom slate to the roof Wood or other combustible material shall be used in the smallest practicable quantity in the construction of the inside of said stable The air current used for the ventilation of said stable shall not be intermixed with the air current used for ventilating any other portion of the mine but shall be conveyed directly to the return air current. No open light shall be permitted in any stable in any mine

No hay or straw shall be taken into any mine unless pressed and made up into compact bales which shall be kept in a storehouse built apart from the stable and in the same manner as the stable Under no circumstances shall the hay be stored in the stable

ARTICLE XVI

Regulations for Powder and Detonators

Resolved, That the President pro tempore draw upon the State Treasurer in favor of each of the above for the amounts set opposite their names.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. McILHENNY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. McILHENNY, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported with favorable recommendation nominations made by His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, at to-day's session, which were laid upon the table.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

By unanimous consent,

A motion was made by Mr. McILHENNY.

That Rule 38, which requires nominations made by the Governor, to lie on the table one day, be dispensed with, and the Senate do now resolve itself into Executive Session for the purpose of acting upon all the nominations reported to-day since the last Executive Session.

Which was agreed to.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. McILHENNY,

That the Senate do advise and consent to the nominations reported.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Baldwin, G. Feeney

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed the same with amendments in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 891 (Senate No. 298), entitled:

An act authorizing and empowering cities and boroughs in their corporate capacity to enact ordinances prescribing such reasonable regulations for the mining of coal beneath said cities and boroughs as may tend to prevent the settling or caving in of the surface

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Allen.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, It does appear to me that the members should know that this legislation has been approved by the Governor, or a bill something akin to this one. Now, it seems to me that this commission ought to be dispensed with or that the boroughs should be allowed to legislate for themselves. One of the two things is certain. It seems to me that this bill ought to be stricken from the calendar, and I so move.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I hope the members in this House will consider the fact that the gentlemen from Lackawanna and Luzerne, both the members and the Senators, have expressed the greatest interest in this bill. They say it is a bill that is essential in order to protect the homes of the residents in the smaller towns of Luzerne and Lackawanna County. There are many men vitally interested in this bill, all their constituents are expecting this bill to pass. It was originally passed out of the committee, then sent back to the committee, and I think it would be a very great discourtesy to strike this bill off the calendar.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

RECONSIDERATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 846.

Mr. HOOVER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Hoover.

Mr. HOOVER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 846, entitled:

An act to amend the second section of an act approved the twenty-fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven entitled "An Act to authorize cities and boroughs to condemn property and rights inside and outside of their limits for the purposes of obtaining and supplying water" by fixing the number of the viewers at three fell on final passage be reconsidered.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. John R. K. Scott.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill which failed upon final passage was on page two of Tuesday's calendar, and is one of the 17 bills that were offered by Senator Tustin reducing the number of viewers to three, which is approved by the Legislative Highway Department, and all the rest were passed and sent to the Governor for his signature. This would be an oddity to let this bill fall.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 1215:

An act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Reform School at Morganza Pennsylvania and granting its managers the authority to raze old buildings

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment, in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend section 1, line 40, by striking out the word "ten" and insert in lieu thereof the word "fifteen ;" also in line 40 strike out "($10,000)" and insert in lieu thereof "($15,000)"

Line 47 by striking out the word "two" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three;" line 48 strike out "sixty-seven—eighty-seven" and insert "seventy-two" "($72,000)"; in line 49 strike out "($67,000) ($87,000)" and insert "(72,000);" in line 52 strike out the word "fifteen" and insert "twenty-five," strike out "($15,000)" and insert "($25,000)"

Strike out all of lines 54, 55 and 56

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House non-concur in said amendments.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

SENATE INSISTS ON NON-CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate insists on its non-concurrence in the amendments made and insisted upon by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill No. 506, entitled:

An act regulating the licensing of brewers and distillers and repealing an act approved the twenty-first day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-seven entitled "An Act providing that the manufacturers who shall pay a certain sum annually into the treasury of the Commonwealth shall sell only malt or brewed liquors of their own manufacture to dealers only who have been licensed by the court"

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House recede from the amendments made by the House to said bill.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. S. B. Scott.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the most important measures that we have had before us this session and it is imperative that the House should thoroughly understand the exact import of the question upon which we are now asked to vote. I would like to have you remember the parliamentary situation of this bill: It was a Senate bill, to which the House made sundry and very important amendments. When these amendments were put before the Senate, the Senate refused to concur, and the bill is now before the House under a motion that the House shall recede from the amendments put into this bill by the House. That is the meaning of the vote. If you recede from your amendments you pass the bill. Therefore every opponent of this bill will vote no, and every friend of the brewers and peddling liquor men will vote aye.

Mr. Speaker, I arise to a question of parliamentary privilege, and state the point that in order to recede from the amendments a majority is necessary, and I make the inquiry, does it require a constitutional majority or a majority of a quorum of the House?

The SPEAKER. A majority of the quorum.

Mr. S. B. SCOTT. I will ask the further question, suppose that the House recedes from the amendments by a majority vote, does the bill pass?

The SPEAKER. Yes, sir. The bill then becomes a law.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the House to one of the amendments that were put into this bill, which changes the amount which the brewers and distillers can sell, and also changes the method of orders. One of the amendments that the House put in was that an order must be in the place. If we recede from these amendments it will open the thing wider than ever it has been before. Most of us understand the trouble that the Senate has had over this bill, and it seems to me that in justice to this House we ought to insist on these amendments and not recede from them.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, I would appreciate it very much if the Chair would again state the proposition exactly that is before the House in order that we may know exactly how we are voting.

The SPEAKER. The vote will be whether or not the House will recede from the amendments non-concurred in by the Senate.

On the question,

Will the House recede from its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. S. B. SCOTT and Mr. ROCKWELL, and were as follows:

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 23, 1911.

Whereas, During the period of the suppression of the strike in South Bethlehem in 1910, one Joseph Zambo, a peaceable citizen, not a striker, and in nowise involved in riotous or illegal conduct, but while inside a house engaged in a proper occupation, was shot and instantly killed by a bullet accidentally fired from a State policeman's revolver passing through the closed door;

And Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo, when so killed, had committed no wrong, and had done absolutely nothing to incite said revolver shot from said State policeman;

And Whereas, Said Joseph Zambo was a poor man and left surviving him residing in South Bethlehem a widow, Mary Zambo, and two minor children Joseph Zambo, Jr., and Stephen, one of the age of three years and the other of the age of five months, whose sole support was said Joseph Zambo, and who are accordingly now in destitute circumstances;

Therefore, Be it Resolved, (if the House concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, by virtue of the power vested in it by Section Eleven of Article First of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, does hereby authorize and allow Mary Zambo, in behalf of herself and her two minor children, Joseph and Stephen Zambo, to bring suit or suits against and to recover from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, either in law or in equity, in the Courts of Common Pleas of Dauphin County, such sum or sums of money as may be justly and properly due them, through the loss and deprivation of their husband and father, said Joseph Zambo, by his negligent and improper killing by a State Trooper at South Bethlehem in the fore part of the year 1910. Said suit or suits to be subject to the same rules of pleading and evidence as other suits brought in said court are subject.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The resolution was twice read.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

THANKING MRS. SAMUEL DIXON FOR DONATION.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 23, 1911.

Thanking Mrs. Samuel G. Dixon for the donation to the Commonwealth of the Union Chapel at Mont Alto Sanatorium as a place of worship for the tuberculosis patients;

Be it Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the members of the Legislature as the representatives of the people of the State and especially as the representatives of the tuberculous poor, do hereby express to Mrs. Samuel G. Dixon the high sense of appreciation that they feel for the generous donation, by means of which there has been erected on the grounds of the Pennsylvania State South Mountain Sanatorium at Mont Alto, a beautiful Union Chapel, as a place of worship for the tuberculous patients of the Sanatorium and their attendants.

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Commonwealth be instructed to have engrossed and sent to Mrs. Dixon a copy of these resolutions.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

The resolution was twice read.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGE.

AMENDED HOUSE BILL RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

House Bill No. 1022:

An act making an appropriation to the trustees of the Cottage State Hospital at Connellsville Fayette county Pennsylvania

With information that the Senate has passed the same with amendment in which the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Section 1 line 4 strike out the words "twenty-one" and insert in lieu thereof the words "twenty-two;" strike out the figures "($21,000)" and insert in lieu thereof the figures "($22,000)"

Strike out all after line 17 and insert the following

For the purpose of building and equipping an X-ray and pathological room the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000) or so much thereof as may be necessary

For the purpose of building and furnishing a sun parlor the sum of five hundrer ($500) or so much thereof as may be necessary

For new instruments two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) or so much thereof as may be necessary

For insurance for two years the sum of two hundred and fifty dollars ($250) or so much thereof as may be necessary

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to call up House Bill No. 892 (Senate No. 20) from the postponed calendar, bills on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 892 (Senate No. 20), as follows:

An act to amend section one of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the removal of judges of the Supreme Superior Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform their judicial functions and duties with half pay for thir unexpired terms and the filling of vacancies caused by such removal" approved May eleventh one thousand nine hundred and one so as to allow them full pay during the balance of their terms of office and under certain conditions half pay during the remainder of their lives

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That sectoin one of an act entitled "An Act to provide for the removal of judges of the Supreme Superior Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts permanently disqualified by reason of physical or mental disability to perform judicial functions and duties with half pay for their unexpired terms and the filling of vacancies caused by such removal" which reads as follows:

"Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the passage of this act whenever a judge of any of the Supreme Superior Common Pleas or Orphans' Courts of this Commonwealth by reason of physical or mental disability appears to be incapacitated for performing his judicial functions and duties and by reason of such disability has not performed such duties for the period of one year the Governor of this Commonwealth shall appoint a commission consisting of three skilful and disinterested physicians from different counties of the State to examine the said judge and if the said commission shall report that the said judge is permanently incapacitated to perform the duties of his office the Governor shall notify the said judge of such finding and if the said judge shall resign within thirty days of such notice he shall receive for the balance of the term for which he was elected during which he shall live one-half of the salary which he would have received if he had not resigned and the vacancy thus created shall be filled in the manner heretofore provided by law in case of vacancies in judicial office" be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after first day of January Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and twelve whenever the Governor is of the opinion based upon satisfactory medical evidence that a judge of the Supreme Superior Common Pleas or Orphans' Courts is by reason of physical or mental disability permanently incapacitated for performing his judicial duties he shall notify said judge of his opinion giving the reasons therefor and if the said judge shall resign within thirty days after such notice and shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and colleagues and to perform duties as special master referee auditor or examiner in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do he shall receive for the balance of the term for which he was elected if he shall so long live the salary he would have received had he remained in active service

Ay judge of the Common Pleas or of the Orphans' Court so resigning who shall have served continuously in judicial office for twenty-five years or more immediately prior to the date of his resignation and shall have reached the age of seventy years or any judge of the Supreme or Superior Court so resigning who shall have served continuously in judicial office for twenty years or more immediately prior to the date of his resignation and who shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and colleagues and to perform duties as special master referee auditor or examiner in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do shall receive during the remainder of his life after the expiration of his said term one-half of the salary which he would have received had he remained in active service

Any judge of the Supreme or of the Superior Court who shall have served continuously in judicial office for twenty years or more and any judge of the Common Pleas or Orphans Court who shall have reached the age of seventy years and who shall have served continuously in judicial office for twenty-five years or more and who shall hold himself in readiness to advise with his successors and colleagues and to perform such duties as special master referee auditor or examiner in such ways as he may be reasonably able to do after his honorable retirement from office by expiration of term resignation or otherwise shall receive during the remainder of his life one-half of the salary which he would have received had he remained in active service

No judge while accepting the benefits of this act shall be entitled to any additional compensation for the performance of any duties assigned to him hereunder and no such judge shall be obliged to accept an assignment of duty from any court other than the court of which he was a member at the time of his retirement

Any judge wishing to take advantage of the provisions of this act may notify the Governor of his desire so to do or the Governor of his own initiative may notify any judge as provided herein

All payments under this act shall be made monthly only upon the certificate of the retired judge that he is not engaged in any remunerative business or employment or if the judge himself is unable to make one upon a certificate to that effect from a competent physician

Any judge or judges who have been retired under the act to which this is an amendment are hereby given all the benefits and advantages and are made subject to the requirement of this act to the same extent and with the same effect as if they had been retired under the provision thereof

Any vacancy created by a retirement under this act prior to the expiration of the current term that the judge is filling at the time of such retirement shall be filled as now provided by law in cases of vacancies in judicial offices

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, it does seem to me that we have done about enough in the way of increasing salaries, especially when it is remembered that when the old soldiers asked for a mere pittance, compared with what this bill amounts to, that this is not one that should appeal to us. Therefore, as long as we are unable, or unwilling to even a very little at least for the men who have done much for this State, I shall be compelled to oppose th bill of pensioning judges.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is n rightly termed by the gentleman from Union when he ca it a pension bill. The object of this bill is simply thi that a judge who has become incapacitated, after many yea of service on the bench, he shall be given lighter duties perform, and this bill is not properly called in any sen a pension bill. All that this bill does is this: it allows judge who has either become so incapacitated during h term of office that he cannot sit upon the bench any long and preside over the Court, to be made a special master. allows a judge who has sat, we will say, for twenty-fi years continuously, on the bench, and immediately befo his term expires, before he has reached the age of seven years, and is unable to proceed with his work, to file an a plication to become a special master of the Court and to r ceive his whole salary during his term, and his half sala after his term expires, with the proviso that he acts in th capacity of a special master before that court. All th bill does is this: it relieves a judge of petty burdens aft years of honest service, after he has become weakene physically, through age, and gives him a lighter service perform, and that is all. It in no wise is a pension bill. in no wise is a bill asking the taxpayers to support a ma who does not earn his living. It merely takes the heav duties from a judge after he has worked honestly for twent five years and gives him lighter duties. Out of the tw hundred and some odd judges that we have in the State Pennsylvania, there will never be more than one or tw judges who will benefit by this act. This is a meritorio measure, and I ask you to support it, and not allow yourse to be prejudiced against it on the charge of it being pension bill, which it absolutely is not.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, one of the most importa arguments in favor of the passage of the increase in th judges salary bill was to provide for them in their old ag and give them a competency to take care of them when the retire. This bill purports to amend a certain law. Ever member of this House must be able to see that this is judges' pension bill. This bill fell by an overwhelming vot the other day, and it seems to me that this House should n reverse its position taken then, but should vote it dow again.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I hope the re marks made by the gentleman from Tioga, which are mi takes, will not influence the House. The men who would ge the benefit of this law will in no wise get the benefit of a increase in salary, or be pensioned. It is simply this, as have stated before: their best time of life is past, but the still have the position into which the public has placed ther and the object is to lighten their burden after having spen their life in the judicial service. They are not the sam as the young judges who get the benefit of the increase raise in salary, and have not had the benefit of the recen increase, which was necessary in our recent act, in order tha our judges might raise their family and live as is becom ing a judge, in a large city, in this present generation That was raised because the cost of living made it neces sary. We have to look around ourselves only to see th importance of this statement and the truth of the fact. W have in Philadelphia a famous judge—Judge Ashman, tha man who virtually established the Orphans' Court of Penn sylvania; that man whose name is famous in the courts That man to-day is down there living on his half pension and when his term of office expires he goes down without dollar and with nothing to look forward to but poverty. W have in our county a Chief Justice who has honored thi State of Pennsylvania and when he passed the age of seven ty we saw that man step from the high post of Chief Justic of this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to the position o Prothonotary of the Court. There is a cry out from th whole land for this bill, and no one should attempt to vot down a measure of this character because of the prejudic against civil pension. There is no civil pension here at all This bill is for the purpose of keeping a man when learned in the law, in active service to the extent that his physica ability will allow him, and this is nothing new. The judge who sits in the United States Court who reaches the age of seventy years is by the law itself entitled to help upon old age. I ask that you vote unanimously in favor of this bill.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate e gentleman from Philadelphia.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be errogated?

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Yes, sir.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the ntleman how much the judges are receiving in Philadelia now, and how much they have been receiving for the t five or ten years.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, since 1903 the lges have been receiving $8,500, now, under the law ich you gentlemen passed almost unanimously they reive eleven thousand dollars.

Mr. DERSHEM. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask whether not the salary that the judges are now receiving, or have ceived during the last five or ten years is sufficient to keep em from the poor house the balance of their lives.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, in reply to my iend from Union I would say that $8,500 is inadequate r any judge in the City of Philadelphia to maintain his me and his family, and to keep them in the position of e that a judge and his wife and children should be, and a judge and his family lived as they should live and as ey expect and would like to live, owing to the character of e position in which they stand in a large city like Philalphia, he cannot save one dollar during his term of ten ars.

Mr. GEORGE A. BALDWIN, Mr. Speaker I desire to ad a telegram.

"Washington, D. C., May 23, 1911.

on. Geo. A. Baldwin,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

I would be glad if you could see your way clear to supert the Judges' Retirement Bill when it comes up for a te in the House of Representatives.

BOIES PENROSE."

Mr. AILMAN. Mr. Speaker, it does seem to me that me acknowledgment should be made to the remarks of the ntleman from Philadelphia who repeated again the woel story of the poverty of the judges of Philadelphia. I ant to say that the poor judge who cannot get along on ,500 a year may be a very good judge, but he's a mighty or business man and he's a mighty poor manager. A man n get along with a good deal less, and in my opinion that any of these men are getting more than they should. If is were a Synod or a conference of ministers, we might t up and talk about doing something for them, owing to e increased cost in living and because they could not be pected to save very much from an income of $800 or ,000 a year. Or if applied to the school teacher who must t along on $300 or $400 a year, and I know some and any wage earners who averaged less than $400 a year. rue, they cannot indulge in the luxuries and they must onomize. The gentleman has said that this is only to take re of the poor superannuated judges in Philadelphia at the esent time and will not affect others. I presume the gentlean from Philadelphia will be here in the course of a ses- on or two to repeal this law and will then say that these dges who are now getting $11,000 shall in the future be neficiaries under this act. When you gentlemen turn wn the kind of propositions before this House looking ter the general welfare of the roads and of that which is neficial throughout our townships, and then come before with a proposition like this, I would like to know how u can face the people of this Commonwealth—those com- an people that we have talked about so much—in the ture. Of all the things that have happened during this ssion, there is one thing for which I am thankful and that that I shall not have the responsibility and duty of writ- the next Republican platform for the Pennsylvania Reblicans. The only thing I could do would be to do what e fellow will do that does write it—glorify the imaginary st, and make great and glorious promises for the days to me, but I want to say that I would not like to say anyng about the present or recent history of the Republican rty.

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1292 (Senate No. 681), entitled:

An act to amend the first section of an act entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act concerning the sale of railroads canals turnpikes bridges and plank roads' approved the eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one extending the provisions of said act to coal iron steel lumber or oil or mining manufacturing transportation and telegraph companies in this Commonwealth" approved the twenty-fifth day of May Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred and seventy-eight as amended by an act entitled "An Act to amend the first section of an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act concerning the sale of railroads canals turnpikes bridges and plank roads' approved the eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one extending the provisions of said act to coal iron streel lumber or oil or mining manufacturing transportation and telegraph companies in this Commonwealth' extending said act so as to embrace all sales made under and by virtue of a power to sell contained in any mortgage or deed of trust without any process or decree of a court in the premises" approved the thirty-first day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven and as further amended by an act entitled "An Act to amend an act entitled 'An Act to amend the first section of an act entitled 'A supplement to an act entitled 'An Act concerning the sale of railroads canals turnpikes bridges and plank roads' approved the eighth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and sixty-one extending the provisions of said act to coal iron steel lumber or oil or mining manufacturing transportation and telegraph companies in this Commonwealth' extending said act so as to embrace all sales made under and by virtue of a power to sell contained in any mortgage or deed of trust without any process or decree of a court in the premises' approved the thirty-first day of May Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven so as to give to sales or conveyances made under and by virtue of any process or decree of a district court of the United States the same force and effect which are by said act given to sales or conveyances made under and by virtue of any process or decree of any court of this State or of the circuit court of the United States" approved the twenty-seventh day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine so that said act shall apply also to sales and conveyances of material rolling stock and property whether located wholly or partly within this State and franchises and whether of a corporation of this State or of this State and any other State or States and shall prescribe the rights and powers of the corporation formed by the purchaser the issuance by it of stock and bonds and the number and election of directors

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. HENRY. Mr. Speaker, I will ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Alter to explain this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Alter, explain this bill?

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, the bill is not my bill, but I was requested by its sponsor, Senator Adams, to briefly explain it, provided there was any request in the House for any explanation. The bill amends what is known as the corporation reorganization. It does not make any very great change in the existing law. We have a law now on the statute books passed in 1861, which has been amended from time to time, by which it is provided that whenever any persons buy at a court sale all the property rights and franchises of any corporation, that then these persons so purchasing the property of any such corporation may organize themselves as a corporation for the same purposes and issue their stocks and bonds and elect their officers and proceed to do business. This bill was introduced because of the situation existing with reference to the Wabash Terminal Railroad in the western part of the State. That railroad is partly in Pennsylvania and partly in other states. Its stock and bonds are outstanding and it is in a wholly insolvent condition. Its bonds are held by a great many people. The desire is to have the right to reorganize under the provisions of this legislation, but the legislation makes no provision in which to effect this reorganization. Where a corporation in this State and other States like this does business, this provision is necessary. This bill was prepared by Mr. John G. Johnson, of Philadelphia, for the purpose of amending this law to carry out the reorganization of this corporation in Pittsburg. It does not make any change except in this one particular. I would like the House to permit me to read this letter.

22nd May, 1911.

James C. Chaplin, Esq.

Dear Sir:—A bill is now in the Legislature, as you know, having for its purpose the permission, in the case of sales of property of railway and other corporations, and reorganization, the issuance of shares of stock of reorganized companies, sufficient in amount to cover not only the shares of stock of such reorganized company previously issued, but its bonded debt, receiver's and other liability.

The plan of re-organization of the Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Railroad Company, which has been largely accepted by the parties interested, it will be impossible to carry out unless the existing legislation is amended sufficiently to cover the purposes set forth in the act now before the Legislature.

It is not the purpose of anybody to put upon the market shares of stock for which there is no equivalent in past stock and debt issuance.

The plan of reorganization will reduce the amount of outlying capitalization; but, reduced as it is, the plan will be impossible unless relief is obtained in the way pointed out by the bill.

A great number of people are interested in this reorganization, and it will certainly be for the benefit of everybody who has any concern in the matter, that an acceptable plan shall be rendered feasible. Nothing whatever can be gained by keeping the affairs in their present disorganized and hopeless condition.

Very truly yours,

JOHN G. JOHNSON.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBINSON. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, it has been said that hard cases make bad laws, and I respectfully submit to the consideration of this House that we should not be hasty in opposing this bill simply to relieve a situation in Allegheny county unless the provisions of the bill are properly considered and approved. Under the terms existing at the time of the preparation of the Public Utilities bill, Mr. Attorney General Bell stated that this proposed bill should receive very-careful and very especial consideration. It will be noted, gentlemen, of the House, that this bill relates to the reorganization of a corporation, the franchises of which have been sold at a judicial sale, and the first feature to which I desire to call special attention is that, under the provisions of this act the franchises and property which was purchased at the judicial sale may not be placed in the hands of a foreign corporation or rather in the hands of a corporation of another State. This bill is intended merely to meet a hard case with reference to the purchase of a franchise of a railroad. Why was not the bill restricted simply to railroad companies? It applies not only to railroad companies, but to gas companies, water companies, coal companies, steel and lumber companies, oil companies, and is intended to incorporate, oil, mine, transportation and a number of other companies. It surely would have been possible to have limited the provisions of this bill simply to railroad companies, and possibly to railroad companies which occupy territory outside of the State of Pennsylvania, but the most serious objection to this bill is that it seems to place no substantial limit upon the stock that may be issued by the reorganized company. I don't think that it is a proper bill, and therefore I urge that it be defeated.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz.:

RESOLUTION.

RECALLING SENATE BILL NO. 37 FROM THE SENATE.

Mr. STEIN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That Senate Bill No. 37, entitled "A joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania," be recalled from the Senate.

The resolution was twice read, considered, and agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT.

Mr. HUNTER. Mr. SPEAKER, I move that House Bill No. 1368 (Senate No. 346), entitled:

An act declaring the liability of railroad companies for loss or damage by fire providing a remedy therefor and relating to evidence thereof be recommitted to the Committee on Railroads.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. VON TACKY. Mr. Speaker, I object to recommitting this bill unless the gentleman will give some good reason why it should be recommitted. It simply takes the law from the farmer, whom I represent, and makes the railroad responsible. I will ask the members to vote down the motion to recommit.

Whereupon,

A division was called for, and less than a majority of a quorum having voted in the affirmative,

The motion was not agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 663.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 663, entitled:

An act amending and supplementing article fourteen of an act entitled "An Act for the government of cities of the second class" approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one as same was amended and supplemented by an act approved the twentieth day of June Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one by abolishing the present select and common councils providing a new body to be known as the council and fixing their terms of office and providing for the selection of members of council prescribing the qualifications of members thereof their powers and duties and fixing their salaries and has appointed Messrs Kline, Adams and McNichol a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives, (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee), on the subject of the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

On motion of Mr. WILLIAM CONNER.

The House insists on its non-concurrence in the amendments to said bill and Ordered, That Messrs Alter, William Conner and R. J. Baldwin be a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (already appointed) in relation to the differences existing between the two houses on said bill.

And that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows; viz:

In the House of Representatives, May 23, 1911.

Concurrent resolution proposing an amendment to Section 3 of Article 8 of the Constitution of Pennsylvania.

Section I. Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania (if the Senate concur), That the following is proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the Eighteenth Article thereof:

Section II. Amend Section 3 of Article 8, which reads as follows: "All judges selected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances require. All the elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd numbered year," so as to read:

Section III. All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto; Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd numbered year; Provided further, That all judges for the courts of the several judicial districts holding office at the present time whose terms of office may end in an odd numbered year shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of January in the next succeeding even numbered year.

ADJOURNMENT.

Mr. TOWNSEND. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 1 o'clock P. M.) the House adjourned until 2.30 this afternoon.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, May 24, 1911.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The House met at 2.30 o'clock.

The Speaker (JOHN F. COX) in the Chair.

RESOLUTION RECALLING HOUSE BILL NO. 608 FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Mr. JOHN R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That House Bill No. 608, entitled An act to regulate the doing of business in this Commonwealth by foreign corporations the registration thereof and service of process thereon and providing punishment and penalties for the violation of its provisions and repealing previous legislation on the subject be recalled from the Governor for the purpose of amendment

The resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 886.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 886 (Senate No. 179), entitled:

An act relating to the exercise of the right of eminent domain

failed on final passage.

Mr. CONRADE. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

SENATE MESSAGE.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE BARNARD STATUES.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented the following extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows, viz:

In the Senate, May 24, 1911.

A concurrent resolution providing for a commission to arrange for the unveiling of the groups of sculpture prepared by the eminent sculptor, George Gray Barnard.

Whereas, The completed groups in marble modeled and prepared by the eminent sculptor, George Gray Barnard, will be set in place on either side of the main entrance to the Capitol at an early date; and

Whereas, The completion and setting in place of these beautiful groups, which are recognized to be among the greatest productions in sculpture of modern times, will be an important event in the history of the Commonwealth, and should be suitably commemorated by unveiling exercises in which the people of the State may participate;

Therefore be it resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), that the Governor of the Commonwealth be and he is hereby authorized and directed to appoint five members of the General Assembly, who shall, with the Board of Grounds and Buildings, constitute a commission to arrange for the unveiling of the said groups of sculpture.

The commission shall have authority to select a suitable day for holding the unveiling exercises and the acceptance of said groups by the proper officers of the Commonwealth, and also to arrange for such other exercises as may be fitting and proper upon such occasion. Said commission shall have authority to invite, in the name of the Commonwealth, such officials and persons of this and other States to attend the unveiling exercises as in its judgment will fittingly commemorate this important event. The said commission shall allot to the present members of the General Assembly such number of invitations to the unveiling exercises as the conditions and accommodations will warrant.

The reasonable cost and expense of the unveiling exercises as hereinbefore authorized, shall be provided for by inserting an item in the General Appropriation bill.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The resolution was twice read.

On the question.

Will the House concur in the resolution.

It was agreed to.

Oordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

SENATE MESSAGES.

APPOINTMENT OF CONFERENCE COMMITTEE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1215.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed, that the Senate has insisted upon its amendments, non-concurred in by the House of Representatives, to House Bill No. 1215, entitled:

An act making an appropriation to the Pennsylvania Reform School at Morganza Pennsylvania and granting its managers the authority to raze old buildings and has appointed Messrs. Kurtz, Baldwin and Wilbert a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House of Representatives shall appoint such committee), on the subject of the difference existing between the two houses in relation to said bill.

On motion of Mr. WOODWARD.

The House insists on its non-concurrence in the amendments to said bill and Ordered, That Messrs. Woodward, Klumpp and Whitman be a committee of conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (already appointed) in relation to the differences existing between the two houses on said bill.

And that the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

Mr. RONEY in the Chair.

AMENDED HOUSE BILLS RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bill from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows, viz:

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

CONGRATULATIONS TO MR. REYBURN.

The SPEAKER. The Chair calls upon the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Keeley, to escort to the bar of the House the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Reyburn.

Mr. KEELEY. Mr. Speaker, I beg to present Mr. Reyburn.

The SPEAKER. It is a matter of very great pleasure to the members of the Philadelphia delegation of this House that the Honorable W. S. Reyburn has risen on the legislative ladder, and it is a matter of great gratification to see the Honorable W. S. Reyburn a member of the National House of Representatives. Knowing him as we do, without following any stereotyped forms, it is enough to say that we are all truly glad to have sat in this House with him. In this work we have learned to love and respect him, and I ask the members of this House to agree in my remarks by a vote of approval.

Mr. GANS. Mr. Reyburn, the Speaker and the members of this House, as a mark of gratification for your success, present you with this bouquet.

Mr REYBURN. Mr. Speaker and fellow members of this House, when I say this is a day that will long remain in my memory I am expressing it very mildly. I am at a loss to tell you gentlemen how much I appreciate the honor you have bestowed on me to-day. In my experience here in the House I have had two exhibitions of the kindly feeling of the members of this House. One was the other day when the members of this House, by a unanimous vote, passed a bill which I had the honor of presenting, and the other by your exhibition of good will this afternoon. It is with a great deal of regret that I am here this afternoon to bid you all good-bye. I leave this House with the kindliest feelings for every member in it. I think I may say that every man in this House has been on the most friendly relations with me. Irrespective of our party affiliations, we have never permitted that to interfere with our kindly relations, either on the floor of this chamber or in our intercourse outside. I have been chosen by the people of the second district of Pennsylvania to represent them in the Congress of the United States. I shall use my utmost endeavor to serve my constituents and the people of Pennsylvania with credit. In my two terms' experience in this House I have given the best service that there is in me. I have endeavored to carefully consider every measure of importance that has come out of the committee, and have acted according to my own idea of fairness. Gentlemen, I want to once again say good-bye to you and wish you Godspeed, the best of health and happiness and success in life to every member of this House.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I desire at this time to call up the resolution No. 3, offered by Mr. Shern.

The SPEAKER. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

Proposing an amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the following amendment to section twenty-six of article five of the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:

That section twenty-six of article five, which reads as follows: "Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation and the organization, jurisdiction, and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform; and the General Assembly is hereby prohibited from creating other courts to exercise the powers vested by this Constitution in the judges of the Courts of Common Pleas and Orphans' Courts," be amended so that the same shall read as follows:

Section 26. All laws relating to courts shall be general and of uniform operation, and the organization, jurisdiction and powers of all courts of the same class or grade, so far as regulated by law, and the force and effect of the process and judgments of such courts, shall be uniform; but, notwithstanding any provisions of this Constitution, the General Assembly shall have full power to establish new courts, from time to time, as the same may be needed in any city or county, and to prescribe the powers and jurisdiction thereof, and to increase the number of judges in any courts now existing or hereafter created, or to reorganize the same or to vest in other courts the jurisdiction theretofore exercised by courts not of record, and to abolish the same wherever it may be deemed necessary for the orderly and efficient administration of justice.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was not agreed to.

Mr. KEISTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO PRINTING APPROPRIATION LAWS.

Whereas, In consequence of the passage of the act, entitled "An Act regulating the printing of the laws of this Commonwealth," which provides that the acts containing solely an appropriation shall be printed separately and apart from the volume containing the general laws, the demand for the volume containing said appropriations will be much less than the demand for the volume of the general laws; therefore, be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That the edition of the appropriation laws be limited to three thousand copies, to be bound in cloth, and the same shall be distributed as follows: Five hundred copies to the Senate, one thousand copies to the House of Representatives and the remainder to the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

The resolution was twice read, considered and agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for its concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 1334 (Senate No. 741), entitled:

An act to repeal an act approved the eighteenth day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine entitled "An Act to further amend paragraphs four and five of section one of an act entitled 'An Act relating to and authorizing changes of venue in civil causes' approved the thirtieth day of March Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five by providing that such change of venue shall only be made when it shall appear to the court that local prejudice exists and that a fair and impartial trial cannot be had"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. SHREVE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be dropped from the calendar.

Mr. FREEMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up at this time from the third reading postponed calendar House Bill No. 778 (Senate No. 394) on page 8 of to-day's calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 778 (Senate No. 394), entitled:

An act to amend section eleven of an act entitled "An Act relating to corporations and to estates held for corporate religious and charitable uses" approved the twenty-sixth day of April Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five

The question, recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, this bill provides that when bequests are made to any charitable institution that the will can be attested by a person who is interested in the estate, but not interested in the charitable institution receiving the bequest. It still retains that provision of the present law that the will must be made thirty days prior to the death. When a man makes a will he does not go about in the community and tell every one about it, but he makes it a personal matter. If a man were to leave a hundred thousand dollars to some charitable institution and the remainder of the estate to some relative, the relative probably would know about it. We hold that an interested witness under this new law would have to be a person interested in the charitable institution. I take it, gentlemen, that this is a very meritorious measure.

Mr. V. GILPIN ROBISON. Mr. Speaker, this matter was very fully discussed when it was before the House before, and there has been no good reason urged why a will executed a calendar month before the death of the man should not be witnessed by two absolutely disinterested witnesses and why this act, which has been in force since 1855, should be disturbed. Upon this matter there have been decisions of the courts, and I see no reason why the law should be changed.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I agree entirely with the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Roney. I do not see why, if the witnesses are not interested in the charitable institution, which is to be a beneficiary under the will, I do not see why in that case there can be any harm from their being interested in the estate. Such a provision under the present law cannot be, and witnesses interested in the estate would make that interest adverse to the charity. I can see no good reason why this should not pass.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1335 (Senate No. 687), entitled:

An act relating to the creation of a speedy method for the collection of taxes on real estate in townships boroughs counties and cities requiring the furnishing upon application of bills for all such taxes by the county treasurers or other persons duly authorized to collect the same and providing a penalty for the refusal or failure so to do

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL DROPPED FROM CALENDAR.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, the title of this bill says it is an act to provide for the creation of a speedy method for collecting taxes. If you will read the bill it simply provides that if you want to know what your taxes are you can go to the county treasurer, and he will send a two-cent stamp to the collector, and he will send back a bill of what your taxes are. If the collector does not send back the bill he is liable to a fine. I therefore move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. SCHAD. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1336 (Senate No. 756), entitled:

An act to amend section two of an act entitled "A supplement to an act to authorize the erection of a poor house by the township of Wilkes-Barre in the county of Luzerne" approved the tenth day of June one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three authorizing the judges of the court of quarter sessions of said Luzerne county to appoit an additional director of the poor for boroughs of over eighteen thousand population when such boroughs have been incorporated out of a part of any township or townships being a part of the Central Poor District of Luzerne county

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1340 (Senate No. 596), entitled:

An act providing for the liquidation distribution of assets and dissolution of corporations under the supervision of the Commissioner of Banking and repealing all acts of Assembly supplied hereby or inconsistent herewith

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, the law as it stands today on our statute books in relation to this matter is all right, and I therefore move that this bill be stricken from the calendar.

Mr. HOOVER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. J. R. K. SCOTT. Mr. Speaker, I hope that this measure will prevail. It is a bill in which the Governor is interested. It was sent back to the committee and amended, and is one of the most important pieces of legislation that the Governor has advocated. I hope it will be passed.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE ON HOUSE BILL NO. 1286.

Mr. ALBERT DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I move to reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 1286 (Senate No. 349) on page three of to-day's calendar, entitled:

An act providing that all public school teachers who have taught for ten consecutive years shall be elected to a permanent position and providing regulations and specifying reasons for their discharge from such positions failed on third reading.

Mr. HOBBS. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ALBERT DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to say to the members of this House that if any bill should pass this House this bill should. It provides that any public teacher who has taught ten years shall have a permanent position, thus taking the position away from the influence of politics.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The Speaker announced that the nays appeared to have it. A division having been called for, and less than the majority of a quorum voting in the affirmative,

The motion was not agreed to.

Mr. FREY in the Chair.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1368 (Senate No. 346), entitled:

An act declaring the liability of railroad companies for loss or damage by fire providing a remedy therefor and relating to evidence thereof

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

POINT OF ORDER.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point.

Mr. SCHOFIELD. House Bill No. 901, containing the same provisions as this act, was defeated on final passage last Thursday, therefore this bill cannot be considered at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to know whether or not this is in substance the same bill that was defeated by this House.

Mr. TOWNSEND. I would say, Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, that the bill now under consideration is an exact copy of House Bill No. 901, which was defeated on final passage last Thursday.

The SPEAKER. The Chair decides that the point of order raised by the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Schofield, is well taken.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1370 (Senate No. 363), entitled:

An act regulating apprentices making it unlawful for any person or persons to employ an apprentice without first having obtained the consent of the apprentice's parents or legal guardians and an indenture or agreement in writing in accordance with the provisions of this act that apprentices so indentured shall serve not less than three (3) nor more than five (5) years' apprenticeship making it compulsory that employers taking an apprentice shall provide a way for such apprentice to be taught in reading writing spelling arithmetic and also in some of the technical branches of the trade or craft providing that all indentures shall be recorded in the office of the recorder of deeds in the county where the employer resides and providing penalties for the violation of the provisions of this act

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Less than the majority required by the Consitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER VOTE.

Mr. KEISTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the vote by which House Bill No. 842 (Senate No. 489), on page 2 of yesterday's calendar, entitled:

An act for the safety of persons from fire or panic in certain buildings in cities of the third class in boroughs and in townships of this Commonwealth by providing proper exits fire escapes fire extinguishers and other preventives of fire by vesting jurisdiction for the enforcement of this act in the Department of Factory Inspection and by providing proper penalties for any violation of the same fell on third reading be reconsidered.

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. ROCKWELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to explain this bill. It is a moving picture bill, and provides for the size of the booths to be constructed. It is a protection to the people, and the head of the department told me that if this bill had been a law at the time of the Boyertown disaster it would not have occurred.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I had hoped that this corpse would remain buried when it was first buried in the early part of the session. This bill was brought over from the Senate. I had hopes that it would remain buried. It provides things that are almost impossible to comply with. I am of the opinion that if the department will carry out in the strictest sense the laws now in force that they will have all that they can do.

Mr. WM. WARD, JR. Mr. Speaker, this is evidently the last chance of the people back of these bills to get it through. I don't want this bill, and I know the House doesn't. We of the smaller cities do not want this bill, and we appeal to you of the larger cities to aid us. We have always gone along with you.

The question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion:

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EHRHARDT and Mr. R. P. HUNTER, and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. ALTER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection. The resolution will be read by the Clerk.

The Clerk then read the resolution as follows:

PROVIDING FOR THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO BE KNOWN AS THE COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS.

In the House of Representatives, May 24, 1911.

Whereas, His Excellency, the Honorable John K. Tener, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in his inaugural address, delivered at Harrisburg, January 17th, 1911, at the time of his inauguration as Governor of the Commonwealth, said:

"The present Railroad Commission has done well; but, circumscribed as to its limitations, it cannot fulfill the present requirements in the treatment of the relations between the people and the public service corporations. There should be a commission, vested with all possible power, to have the general supervision and control of the corporations and individuals having to do with public utilities, and the present Railroad Commission abolished.

"Properly conducted, this public service commission would create a better feeling between the people and the corporations; would keep those companies within their lawful bounds, and compel them to render to the public the reasonable and satisfactory service for which their franchises were granted. It would prevent the building of unnecessary railroads and works, and the issuance of obligations not fully represented by actual value given; it would protect these companies against unfair attacks, while, at the same time, the rights of the people would be fully conserved. I recommend the enactment of legislation creating a commission. It is desired by the people, and should be welcomed by all fairly disposed corporations"

And Whereas, House Bill No. 875, entitled

"An act defining public service companies prescribing and defining and limiting the powers of public service companies and regulating the creation of such companies creating and establishing a public service commission for the supervision and regulation of public service companies prescribing and defining the powers and duties of such commission and its officers and providing for the salaries and compensation of the members of the commission its officers counsel and employes prescribing and regulating the practice and procedure before such commission and upon appeal and judicial review of its orders by the court of common pleas of Dauphin county and giving such court exclusive jurisdiction of such appeals and of all injunctions mandamus or other appropriate proceedings to enforce the provisions of this act and the orders of the commission and to restrain such orders subject to an appeal from all decrees of said court to the supreme court prescribing penalties fines and imprisonment for the violation of such orders or of the provisions of this act and repealing the act approved May thrrty-first one thousand nine hundred and seven providing for the appointment of a Railroad Commission and other legislation inconsistent with this act"

failed of passage for the reason that certain members of the General Assembly allege lack of sufficient time to properly inform themselves concerning the scope and provisions of such bill

And Whereas, It is the sense of the General Assembly and of the people of the State generally that a law should be enacted to regulate such public service companies and that a commission should be created for the purpose of inquiring into the practical workings of such public service companies and that a commission should be created for the purpose of inquiring into the practical workings of such public service companies, whether or not they are complying with the laws under which they are incorporated and make report to the next General Assembly together with a draft of an act of Assembly as will best protect the interests of the people of the Commonwealth, and insure to them proper service and accommodation from public service companies, incorporated under the laws of this State, or authorized to do business therein, therefore

Be it resolved (if the Senate concur), That a commission, consisting of five persons, to be appointed by the Governor of the Commonwealth be and the same is hereby created, which Commission shall be known as the Commission to Investigate Public Service Corporations in Pennsylvania. Each commissioner, at the time of his appointment, shall be a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and shall have resided therein for a period of at least one year next preceding his appointment, and shall also be a qualified elector therein and not less than twenty-five years of age.

The said Commission shall have power and authority to inquire into the general supervision, management, regulation and operation of all public service companies doing business in this Commonwealth, or empowered so to do. Said power and authority shall include the power to inquire into the regulation, service, rates, fares, tolls or charges of any and all public service companies, including individual and joint rates, long and short haul charges for the conveyance of passengers and property, interchange of facilities or traffic or other service, the making of repairs, alterations, additions, extensions and improvements in and to such service, the granting of transfers between different lines of common carriers, or to or from one part of the system of the same common carrier to another part, the routing of the lines of street railways, under the provisions of the act entitled "An Act authorizing traction or motor power companies and street passenger railway companies running, leasing, controlling or operating different lines of street railways to operate all of said lines as a general system, and to lay out such new routes or circuits over the whole or any part of any street or streets, occupied by such different companies, and to run cars thereon for such distances and in such directions as will in the opinion of the operating company best accommodate public travel," approved the fifteenth day of May, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five), or otherwise the just and equitable distribution of trains, cars, vehicles, and motive power, or other facilities of all common carriers, the granting, construction, operation or discontinuance of switches, sidings and regulation of crossings, the location or abolition of freight and passenger stations, wharves, docks or piers, the use and compensation for cars owned or controlled by persons other than the carrier, the safety, adequacy and sufficiency of the facilities, plant and equipment for the carrying on of their business by said public service companies, the quantity or quality of water, gas, electricity or light, heat, or power supplies and generally all acts, matters and things incident to the management and conduct of their business and the performance of their public duties and their compliance with the provisions of the Constitution, the laws of the land, and their charters.

The said Commission shall also have power and authority to examine and consider the laws of this Commonwealth relating to public service corporations and revenue, and the general working thereof. The said Commission shall have the power to issue subpoenas, signed by its chairman, requiring the attendance of persons and the production of books and papers, as in its judgment will assist in the performance of its duties as aforesaid. Said Commission shall make full report in writing to the General Assembly in 1913, of the result of such examinations or investigations made by it. Also a statement of facts and explanations as will disclose the actual workings and operations of public service companies in their relation to the business and prosperity of the Commonwealth, and such suggestions as to the general policy of the Commonwealth or the amendment of its laws, or the condition, affairs or conduct of any public service corporations as may seem to it appropriate. Also a draft of a bill to be known as the public service company law, together with the reasons and necessity therefor.

The Commission shall have a secretary, an attorney, and such other officers as will enable it to properly perform the duties authorized and required under the provisions of this resolution. Said secretary, attorney and employes to receive such reasonable compensation as in the judgment of the Commission may be necessary. The expenditures of the Commission shall be limited to the amount provided therefor in the general appropriation bill to be passed at this session of the Legislature and shall be paid out of the State Treasury upon vouchers signed by the chairman of said Commission

The term "public service company," when used in this resolution, includes all railroad corporations, canal corporations, street railway corporations, stage line corporations, express corporations, baggage transfer corporations, pipe line corporations, incline plane corporations, ferry corporations, common carrier tunnel corporations, turnpike corporations, plank road corporations, boulevard corporations, bridge corporations, wharf corporations, grain elevator corporations, telegraph corporations, telephone corporations, natural gas corporations, artificial gas corporations, electric corporations, water corporations, water power corporations, heat corporations, refrigerating corporations, sewage corporations, as well as all persons engaged for profit in the same kind of business as that of any of the said corporations, and all other corporations or persons engaged for profit in any other quasi-public business within this State, or empowered so to do, as well as holding corporations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. KEISTER in the chair.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Mr. ALLEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Bill No. 685 (Senate No. 453) bills on final passage, on page nine of to-day's calendar.

JOHN M. FLYNN,
Committee on the part of the House of Representatives.

An act to provide for the health and safety of persons employed in and about the bituminous coal mines of Pennsylvania and for the protection and preservation of property connected therewith

Definitions

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That for the purpose of this act the terms and definitions contained therein shall be as follows

Mine In this act the term "mine" includes the shafts slopes drifts or incline planes connected with excavations penetrating coal stratum or strata which excavations are ventilated by one general air current or divisions thereof and connected by one general system of mine railroads over which coal may be delivered to one or more points outside the mine when such is operated by one operator

Excavations and Workings The term "excavations and workings" includes all the excavated portions of a mine those abandoned as well as the places actually being worked also all underground workings and shafts tunnels and other ways and openings and all such shafts slopes tunnels and other openings in the course of being sunk or driven together with all roads appliances machinery and material connected with the same below the surface

Shaft The term "shaft" means a vertical opening through the strata that is or may be used for the purpose of ventilation or drainage or for hoisting men or material or both in connection with the mining of coal

Slope The term "slope" means an incline or opening used for the same purpose as a shaft

Operator The term "operator" means any firm corporation or individual operating any coal mine or any part thereof

Superintendent The term "superintendent" means the person who shall have on behalf of the operator immediate supervision of one or more mines

Mine Foreman The term "mine foreman" means the person whom the operator or superintendent shall place in charge of the inside workings of the mine and of the persons employed therein

Inspector The term "inspector" means the person commissioned by the Governor to have supervision of mines as hereinafter prescribed

Bituminous Mines The term "bituminous mines" shall include all coal mines in the State not now included in the anthracite boundaries and whenever the term "mine" appears in this act it shall be construed to mean "bituminous coal mine"

Approved Safety Lamp The term "approved safety lamp" shall mean any bonneted safety lamp approved by the Department of Mines

Maps and Plans

Section 1 The operator or the superintendent of any bituminous coal mine shall make or cause to be made by a competent mining engineer or surveyor an accurate map of the mine on a scale of not less than two hundred feet to the inch which map shall show as follows

First All the openings excavations shafts slopes drifts tunnels planes main entries cross entries and rooms and the name or number of each

Second An accurate delineation of the boundary lines between said mine and all adjoining mines or coal lands and the relation and proximity of the workings of said mine to all adjoining mines or coal lands and if requested by the inspector the blue print in the office at the mines shall show by arrows the direction of the air currents in said mine each split to show in different color in pencil

Third The elevation above or below mean tide at Sandy Hook of the top and bottom of each shaft and slope of all drifts tunnels planes and of the faces of entries as found at each semi-annual survey and in rooms and entries adjacent to boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines at points not more than three hundred feet apart also the number of last survey station and the date of such survey on the entries as they are represented on the map the location of streams rivers lakes dams or any other bodies of water on the surface with their elevations accurately and plainly marked the location and elevation of any body of water dammed in the mine or held back in any portion of the mine giving the true area of said body of water unless inaccessible before the passage of this act the location of all bore holes penetrating the coal strata and the location of all oil and gas wells and oil and gas pipe lines Provided however for the purpose of this paragraph the owner or owners of the oil and gas wells and the oil and gas pipe lines shall furnish at his their or its own expense to the operator of the mine on which said wells are located or lines are constructed a survey showing the location thereof within sixty days after the passage of this act or within a like time after the construction or location of wells and pipe lines hereafter made

Section 2 When the workings of a mine are within three hundred feet of the boundary lines between such mine and any adjoining mine or mines application shall be made by the operator or the superintendent to the inspector for information as to the proximity of the workings of such adjoining mine or mines and if the workings of such adjoining mine or mines are at their nearest point within three hundred feet of such boundary line the inspector shall so notify the said operator or the said superintendent who shall have such portion of the workings of said adjoining mine or mines surveyed and shown on the map of the mine first mentioned For the purpose of making only the survey herein required the engineer or surveyor of any mine shall have the right of entry into any adjoining mine on the written authority of the inspector

Section 3 A true copy of said map shall be kept in the mine office at the mine for the use of the mine officials and the inspector and for the inspection (in the presence of the superintendent or the mine foreman) of any person working in said mine whenever said person shall fear that any working place is becoming dangerous by reason of its proximity to other workings that may contain dangerous accumulations of water or noxious gases

Section 4 At least once every six months the operator or the superintendent of every mine shall cause to be shown accurately on the original map of said mine and on the copy of the map in the mine office all the excavations made therein during the time that has elapsed since such excavations were last shown thereon

The operator or the superintendent at the request of the inspector in writing shall order that any portion of any mine shall be surveyed and entered on the original map when in the opinion of the inspector such portion of the mine is approaching accumulations of water or noxious gases And whenever any of the workings or excavations of any mine shall be driven to their destination it shall be the duty of the operator or the superintendent to cause the mining engineer or surveyor to check up all his previous work and notes of said mine so that he can certify that the said map shows correctly all the excavations made therein as he is required to do by section six of this article

Section 5 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall furnish the inspector of the district with a true and correct copy of the aforesaid original map of said mine on tracing cloth and at the end of every six months thereafter the inspector shall return said copy to the operator or the superintendent who shall place or cause to be placed thereon all the extensions made and all portions of the mine worked out or abandoned during the preceding six months as provided for in section four of this article and shall forward the map to the inspector within thirty days from the time of receiving it Provided that in lieu of the map on tracing cloth as aforesaid the operator or the superintendent shall have the privilege of furnishing every six months a blue print showing the complete workings of the mine to date When more than one seam of coal is being worked in any mine the inspector shall be provided with a separate copy of the original map on tracing cloth or a blue print of the complete workings of each seam as provided for in this article The copies of the maps of the several mines as hereinbefore required to be furnished to the inspector shall remain in the care of the inspector of the district in which said mines are situated as official records pertaining strictly to the office of said inspector to be transferred by him to his successor in office and in no case shall any copy thereof be made or any information therefrom be given to any person without the consent of the operator except as provided for in section two of this article

Section 6 Whenever a mine is worked out or abandoned the operator or the superintendent shall within sixty days thereafter extend the inspector's map to show clearly all the worked-out or abandoned territory with all property and boundary lines and elevations as required in section one of this article

The owner or the operator of the abandoned mine shall also within sixty days after its abandonment send to the Department of Mines a tracing of said complete original map which shall be kept in the Department as a public document The mining engineer or surveyor shall certify that said tracing is a true and correct copy of the original map of said mine and that the original map is a true complete and correct map and survey of all the excavations made in said abandoned mine

Section 7 If the inspector shall have reason to believe that any map of any mine furnished to him in pursuance of the provisions of this article is inaccurate or imperfect he is hereby authorized to have made a survey and a new map of said mine The cost of said survey and map shall be recoverable from the operator as other debts are recoverable by law Provided however that if the map claimed by the inspector to be inaccurate or imperfect shall be found sufficiently accurate to serve the purpose for which it is intended then the Commonwealth shall be liable for the expense incurred in making said survey and map which expense shall be paid by the State Treasurer upon warrant of the Auditor General issued upon the presentation of voucher approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines

Duties of Mine Superintendent Mine Supplies

Section 1 It shall be the duty of every superintendent on behalf and at the expense of the operator to keep on hand at each mine at all times a sufficient quantity of all materials and supplies required to preserve the health and safety of the employes as ordered by the mine foreman and required by this act If for any reason the superintendent cannot procure the necessary materials or supplies as aforesaid he shall at once notify the mine foreman whose duty it shall be to withdraw the men from the mine or portion of mine until such materials or supplies are received

The superintendent shall at least once every week read examine carefully and countersign all reports entered in the mine record book by the mine foreman and if he finds on such examination that the law is being violated in any particular he shall order the mine foreman to stop said violation forthwith and shall see that his order is complied with

Section 2 The superintendent shall not obstruct the mine foreman or other officials in the fulfillment of any of their duties as required by this act but he shall direct that the mine foreman and all the other employes under him comply with the law in all its provisions especially when his attention is called by the inspector to any violation of the law. At any mine where a superintendent is not employed the duties that are herein prescribed for the superintendent shall devolve upon the mine foreman in addition to his regular duties

Section 3 The superintendent of every mine shall provide a sufficient number of danger signals upon request of the mine foreman which the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall distribute in the mine at places convenient for the use of the fire bosses in the fulfillment of their duties Danger signals in all mines shall be uniform and of a design approved by the Chief of the Department of Mines All danger signals shall be kept in good condition and no defective signal shall be allowed to remain in any mine

Section 4 The superintendent shall keep on hand at the mine a supply of the printed rules and notices and record books required by this act which shall be furnished through the inspector of the district on request of the superintendent in writing The superintendent shall see that said rules and notices and record books are delivered to the proper persons at the mine and that they are properly cared for and he shall also see that the rules and notices are posted in conspicuous places at or near the entrance to the mine and kept in such condition that they will always be legible

Section 5 The superintendent shall not permit the mining of coal within fifty feet of any abandoned mine containing a dangerous accumulation of water until said danger has been removed by driving a passageway to tap and drain off said water as provided for in this act Provided that the thickness of the barrier pillars shall be greater and shall be in proportion of one foot of pillar thickness to each one and one-quarter feet of water-head if in the judgment of the engineer of the property and that of the district inspector it is necessary for the safety of the persons working in the mine

Section 6 The superintendent shall provide a safety catch or other safety device to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of full trips that are being hoisted up slopes and he shall also provide suitable signals to be placed on the rear end of the rear car of all trips hauled in the mines by locomotives of any kind

Section 7 If the mine foreman the assistant mine foreman or the fire boss neglects his duties or incapacitates himself by drunkenness or is incapacitated by any other cause for the proper performance of his duties and information thereof shall be brought to the knowledge of the superintendent it shall be the duty of the superintendent to make a thorough investigation of the case and if he finds evidence to sustain the charge he shall inform the inspector who shall inform the court of common pleas of the county or a judge thereof by petition and said court or judge when the court is not in session shall issue a citation in the name of the Commonwealth to the said mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss to appear at not less than five days' notice upon a day fixed before said court or a judge thereof at which time the court shall proceed to inquire into and investigate the allegations If the court finds the allegations to be true it shall notify the Department of Mines of such finding and instruct said Department to withdraw the certificate of said delinquent Provided however that he shall have the right to appear before the Examining Board and be re-examined and if he can satisfy the Board that he has reformed and passes a satisfactory examination he shall be given another certificate of qualification When the court orders the certificate of a mine foreman an assistant mine foreman or a fire boss to be withdrawn the inspector shall notify the operators of the district of the fact

Section 8 The operator or the superintendent of every mine shall within thirty days thereafter send to the inspector notices of the following occurrences

First When a mine has been abandoned or the working thereof discontinued

Second When any work has commenced for the purpose of opening a new mine

Third When the working of a mine is resumed after an abandonment or a discontinuance for a period exceeding two months

Fourth When any change occurs in the name of a mine or in the name of the operator of a mine under the provisions of this act

Mine Foreman and His Duties

Section 1 In order to secure efficient management and proper ventilation of the mines to promote the health and safety of the persons employed therein and to protect and preserve the property connected therewith the operator or the superintendent shall employ a competent and practical mine foreman for every mine where ten or more persons are employed The mine foreman shall have full charge of all the inside workings and of the persons employed therein in order that all the provisions of this act so far as they relate to his duties shall be complied with and the regulations prescribed for each class of workmen under his charge carried out in the strictest manner possible If the mine is generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman must possess a first grade foreman's certificate If the mine is non-gaseous the mine foreman must possess either a first grade foreman's certificate or a second grade mine foreman's certificate

When the mine workings become so extensive that the mine foreman is unable personally to carry out the requirements of this act pertaining to his duties he shall have the right to employ a sufficient number of competent persons to act as his assistants who shall act under his instructions in carrying out the provisions of this act If the mine is generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an aprpoved safety lamp the mine foreman's assistants must possess first grade assistant mine foreman's certificates

In case of the necessary temporary absence of the mine foreman he may deputize his work for the time being to his assistant who shall perform all the duties of the mine foreman

Section 2 The mine foreman shall devote the whole of his time to his duties in the mine when the mine is in operation and shall keep a careful watch over the ventilating apparatus the ventilation airways traveling ways timbering and drainage and shall see that all stoppings along airways are properly built as provided for in section five of article nine of this act

He shall also see that proper cut-throughs are made in the pillars of all rooms and of all entries in accordance with section three of article nine of this act and that they are closed when necessary so that the ventilating current can be conducted in sufficient quantity through the last cut-through to the face of each room and entry by means of check doors He shall not permit any room or entry to be turned in advance of the ventilating current or in advance of the last cut-through in the entry excepting room necks which may with the consent of the inspector be turned by entrymen driving entries

Section 3 The mine foreman or his assistant shall at least once every week measure the air current at or near the main inlet and outlet airway and also in the last cut-through in the last room and in the entry beyond the last room turned in each entry and make a record of said measurements as provided for in section eighteen of this article Said measurements shall be taken on days when the men are at work and for making said measurements an anemometer shall be provided and kept in good condition by the superintendent of the mine

Section 4 In case of accident to a ventilating fan or its machinery whereby the ventilation of the mine would be seriously interrupted the mine foreman shall order the men to withdraw immediately from the mine and he shall not allow them to return to their work until the ventilation has been restored and the mine has been thoroughly examined by him or by an assistant mine foreman or fire boss and reported safe

Section 5 The mine foreman shall notiy the superintendent in writing whenever in his opinion the mine is becoming dangerous through the lack of ample ventilation at the face of entries rooms and other portions of the mine caused by the undue length of entries and airways or from any other cause resulting in the accumulation of gas or coal dust or both in various portions of the mine The superintendent shall then notify the inspector of the report of the mine foreman requesting him to come and make a personal examination and if he finds it is becoming dangerous he shall at once direct the superintendent to proceed to have it put in safe condition and if necessary have an additional opening of ample dimensions sunk from the surface to the interior which opening can be used as an outlet or inlet for the air and also as an escapeway in case of necessity

In all mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall see that when the permanent station of the fire boss is located a mile or more from the entrance to the mine all abandoned finished or unfinished workings in the intervening distance between the permanent station and the entrance to the mine are completly shut off from the main intake or manway headings of the mine by stoppings of masonry concrete or some other incombustible material of sufficient thickness to keep the explosive or noxious gases from coming in contact with the intake air or with the persons employed therein

Section 6 The mine foreman shall direct and see that every working place is properly secured by props or timbers and shall see that no person is directed or permitted to work in an unsafe place unless it be for the purpose of making it safe He shall also see that the workmen are provided with sufficient props cap pieces and timbers of suitable size which shall be delivered at the working faces or as near thereto as they can be conveyed in mine cars when requested by the workmen in accordance with section seven of this article. He shall also see that props are cut square at both ends and as near as practicable to the proper length required or designated for the places where they are to be used

Section 7 Every workman in need of props cap pieces and timbers shall notify the mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman (or any other person delegated by the mine foreman) of the fact at least one day in advance giving the number size and length of props cap pieces and timbers required In case of emergency the timber may be ordered immediately upon the discovery of danger If for any reason the necessary timbers cannot be supplied when required the mine foreman or assistant mine foreman shall instruct the workmen to vacate the place until the timber needed is supplied

The place and manner of leaving the orders for props cap pieces and timbers shall be designated and specified in the rules of the mine

Section 8 The mine foreman shall see that on all animal and mechanical hauling roads holes for shelter shall be cut into the strata not less than two and one-half feet deep and four feet wide and level with the road at least every thirty yards and kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are driven at regular intervals not exceeding ninety feet provided that the entrance to each room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet On all main hauling roads on which hauling is done by machinery shelter holes shall be cut into the strata not less than two and one-half feet deep and at least four feet wide and level with the road and not more than fifteen yards apart and said shelter holes shall be kept whitewashed and clear of obstruction except in entries from which rooms are opened at regular intervals not exceeding forty-five feet Provided That the entrance to such room be kept clear of obstruction for a distance of three feet All shelter holes shall be made on the same side of the entry All entries driven after the passage of this act shall have a clear space of two and one-half feet from the side of the car to the rib which shall be made and continued throughout on one side of the entry if in the judgment of the inspector the condition of the roof will permit and shall be kept clear of obstruction

No person except officials or repairmen shall be permitted to travel on slopes gravity or incline planes while the cars thereon are in motion

Section 9 The mine foreman shall direct that the coal is properly mined before it is blasted "Properly mined" shall mean that the coal shall be undercut center-cut top-cut or sheared by pick or machine and in any case the undercutting shall be as deep as the holes are laid In mines generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp when the coal seam is five feet six inches or more in thickness "properly mined shall mean that in all entries less than ten feet wide wherein the coal is undercut it shall also be sheared on one side as deep as the undercutting before any holes are charged and fired or the coal shall be blasted in sections by placing the first hole near the center of the coal seam He shall also direct that the miner set sprags as often as necessary at a distance not exceeding seven feet apart under the breast of undermined or center-mined coal for safety. The mine foreman shall direct at what hours blasting shall be done in the mine and a notice of the time shall be posted at a conspicuous place at the mine and a copy of the notice shall be kept on file at the mine office Provided however that in districts in which it has been the common practice to blast coal from the solid said practice or method may be continued notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein contained

In such portions of a dry and dusty mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp the mine foreman shall direct and see that the rooms and entries are moistened by water or other efficient means as often as necessary to keep the dust in damp condition and he shall direct and see that the dust is loaded and taken out of the mine as often as necessary

The mine foreman shall direct and see that as the miners advance in their excavation all dangerous and doubtful pieces of coal slate and rock overhead are taken down or at once carefully secured against falling on the workmen Any workman who neglects to carry out or disobeys the instructions of the mine foreman or his assistant in regard to securing his working place shall be suspended or discharged by the mine foreman and if such negligence or disobedience results in serious injury or loss of life to any person the mine foreman shall give the name of said workman to the inspector for prosecution in accordance with section two article twenty-six of this act

Section 10 The mine foreman shall give prompt attention to the removal of all dangers reportd to him by his ossistants the fire boss or by any other person working in the mine and in case it is impracticable to remove the danger at once he shall notify every person whose safety is menaced thereby to remain away from the portion where the dangerous conditions exist He or his assistant shall once each week travel and examine all the air courses and roads and all the openings that give access to old workings or falls and make a record of the condition of all places where danger has been found with ink in the book provided for that purpose

In all mines the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of assistants to insure a visit to each working place either by himself or by his assistants once each day while the employes are at work and in addition thereto shall give special care oversight and attention to the men drawing pillars particularly when falls are thereby being made. The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman under intructions from the mine foreman shall dire ctthat the holes for blasting be properly placed and shall designate the angle and depth of holes which shall not be deeper than the undercutting center-cutting top-cutting or shearing and the maximum quantity of explosives required for each hole and the method of charging and tamping instructions shall be given the men by the mine foreman assistant mine foreman or fire boss or other authorized person as to when where and how timber shall be placed so as to avoid accidents from falls and also in a general way how to mine coal with safety to themselves and others

At the end of each shift each assistant mine foreman shall make a report in a book provided for that purpose giving the general condition as to safety of the working places visited by him and shall make a note of any unusual occurrence observed by him during the day The mine foreman shall read carefully the daily report of each assistant mine foreman and shall sign the reports with ink not later than the day following

Section 11 The mine foreman shall see that every mine generating explosive gas is kept free of standing gas in all working places and roadways Any accumulating of explosive gas or noxious gases in the worked-outor abandoned portioins of any mine shall be removed as soon as possible after its discovery if it is practicable to remove it No person who may be endangered by the presence of said explosive gas or noxious gases shall be allowed in that portion of the mine until said gases have been removed The mine foreman shall direct and see that all dangerous places and the entrance or entrances to workd-out and abandoned places in all mines are properly fenced off across the openings so that no person can enter and that danger signals are posted upon said fencing to warn persons of the existing danger

Section 12 In any mine where it has been found impracticable to remove explosive gas from the inaccessible top of a fall it shall be the duty of the mine foreman to make this fact known at once in writing to the superintendent who shall immediately report the same to the inspector requesting him to make a prompt personal investigation If the superintendent and the inspector are unable to devise means to have said explosive gas removed within a reasonable time the inspector shall direct that a bore hole or bore holes not less than six inches in diameter be drilled from the surface to a high point on said fall in order to give the gas an opening to escape to the surface

Section 13 In every mine generating explosive gas in quantities sufficient to be detected by an approved safety lamp where coal dust is being carried in the air currents in quantities indicating danger the mine foreman shall see that no person is employed to work in the mine until he has given satisfactory proof that he can do the work allotted to him without endangering the lives of his co-employes unless said person is put to work with an experienced miner whose duty it shall be to instruct such inexperienced person how to safely and properly perform his work

Section 14 In such portions of a mine where explosive gas is being generated in quantities sufficient to be detected by an improved safety lamp and in which locked safety lamps are used the mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of competent persons who are able to speak the English language to act as shot firers whose duty shall be to charge tamp and fire all holes properly placed by the miners and to refuse to charge any holes not properly placed No holes shall be fired by any person other than a shot firer They shall use none but incombustible material for tamping which the mine foreman shall see is provided for them at convenient places inside the mine. Under no condition shall the shot firer use coal dust or any other combustible material for tamping All such holes shall be fired by an electric apparatus and no person other than the shot firer shall connect the wires of or operate said Apparatus Each shot firer shall keep a record of and report to the mine foreman every hole that he has refused to charge every blown out shot and every hole that has misfired It shall be the duty of shot firers and miners who are permitted by this act to fire their own shots to visit and examine the places where the shots have been fired before leaving the mine to see that there is no fire or any other danger existing

In all mines in which coal is blasted from the solid all holes shall be fired when all the workmen are out of the mine except the shot firers and other persons delegated by the mine foreman to safeguard property

No shot firer or any other person shall fire a shot in any working place and in any mine if his safety lamp can detect explosive gas at the roof In gaseous dusty mines in which locked safety lamps are used he shall fire no holes unless the entries and rooms which are dry and dusty are so thoroughly wetted as to prevent the existence of any dry dust for a distance of not less than eighty feet from the hole to be fired Provided however That in all mines wherein the coal is being blasted from the solid the mine foreman shall direct and see that the provisions of this section are fully complied with

Section 15 When operations are temporarily suspended in a mine the superintendent and the mine foreman shall see that danger signals are placed across the mine entrances which signals shall be sufficient warning for persons not to enter the mine If the circulation of air through the mine be stopped each entrance to said mine shall be fenced off in such a manner as will ordinarily prevent persons from entering said mine and a danger signal shall be displayed upon said fence at each entrance The mine foreman shall see that all danger signals used in the mine are in good condition and if any become defective he shall notify the superintendent

Section 16 The mine foreman shall see that the water is drained out of the working places before the men enter and that the working places are kept as free from water as practicable during working hours

Section 17 In any working place that is being driven within supposedly dangerous proximity to an abandoned mine or portion of an abondoned mine suspected of containing explosive gas or that may contain a dangerous accumulation of water the mine foreman shall see that at least two bore holes shall be maintained not less than twelve feet in advance of the face and on each side of such working place bore holes of the same depth shall be drilled diagonally not more than eight feet apart and any place driven to tap water or gas shall not be more than eight feet wide No water or gas from an abandoned mine or portions of an abandoned mine and no bore hole from the surface shall be tapped until the employes except those engaged at such work are out of the mine and such work shall be done under the immediate instruction and direction of the mine foreman with the use of locked safety lamps

Section 18 The mine foreman shall each day enter plainly and sign with ink in a book provided for that purpose a report of the condition of the mine which report shall clearly state any danger that may have come under his observation during the day or any danger reported to him by his assistants or the fire bosses The report shall also state whether or not there is a proper supply of material on hand for the safe working of the mine and whether or not the requirements of the law are complied with He shall also once each week enter plainly with ink in said book a true report of all air measurements required by this act designating the place the area of each cut-through and entry separately the velocity of the air in each cut-through and entry and the number of men employed in each separate split of air with the date when measurements were taken Said book shall at all times be kept in the mine office at the mine for examination by the inspector and by any person working in the mine in the presence of the mine foreman

The mine foreman shall also each day read carefully and countersign with ink all reports entered in the record book of the fire bosses

Section 19. The mine foreman shall once each week on blank forms provided for that purpose report to the inspector all fatal and serious accidents that have occurred in or about the mines giving the age nationality and occupation of the injured persons together with facts as to the families or dependents affected

Section 20 The mine foreman shall employ a sufficient number of fire bosses in order that each mine can be examined in accordance with the provisions of sections one two or three of article five of this act The mine foreman or the assistant mine foreman shall see as often as practicable that the fire boss has left his mark in places examined or reported as examined

Section 21 The mine foreman shall direct and see that safety blocks or some other device are constructed for the purpose of preventing cars from falling into the shaft or slope or running away on slopes and inclines planes and safety switches drop logs or other devices shall be used on all slopes and incline planes and the mine foreman shall see that said safety blocks safety switches or other devices are maintained in good working order

Section 22 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to see that locked safety lamps are used when and where required by this act

The transportation of tools in and out of the mine shall be under the direction of the mine foreman or his assistant

Section 23 It shall be the duty of the mine foreman to report immediately all violations of this act to the inspector

Section 24 When assistant mine foremen are employed their duty shall be to assist the mine foreman in complying with the provisions of this act and in the absence of the mine foreman they shall perform the duties of the mine foreman and shall be liable to the same penalties as the mine foreman for any violation of this act
